

Indian Act Before House

OTTAWA (CP) — The government Tuesday rejected an Opposition proposal to give Indians a blanket right of appeal to the courts against all cabinet and ministerial orders affecting their rights and interests.

Davie Fulton (PC—Kamloops), supported by all three opposition parties, made his proposal as the Commons concluded its study of a catch-all bill embodying several amendments to the Indian Act. One extends Indians' liquor rights — provided the provinces agree.

Citizenship Minister Pickersgill and Mr. Fulton disagreed on the question of whether Indians already have the right to appeal to the courts any decision affecting the property rights of Indian bands or individual Indians.

Mr. Pickersgill said they have Mr. Fulton argued they have not and moved an amendment that would have added a whole section to the bill.

APPEAL RIGHT

It would have given Indians the right to appeal any government decision affecting band funds, reserve lands, real and personal property and the enfranchisement or disfranchisement of Indians and bands.

The amendment, proposed after the Commons completed clause-by-clause study of the bill, was defeated by a vote of 41 to 27, the Liberal majority out-voting the Progressive Conservative, Social Credit and CCF parties.

The most contentious section in the bill — which now requires only third reading before being sent to the Senate — would give Indians liquor rights approximating those of the white man.

At present, subject to wishes of the provincial governments which regulate liquor laws, Indians are permitted to buy and consume liquor in public places. That is the practice in Nova Scotia, Ontario, Manitoba, British Columbia and the Yukon.

Under the extended liquor laws, the provinces could permit Indians to buy liquor in liquor stores and drink it in other places. Indian bands also would be given a local option in such provinces, provided the province agreed to bring liquor onto the reserves.

Bringing Up Father

Li'l Abner

Our Boarding House

Major Hoople

Out Our Way

By J. R. Williams

Social Security Must Not Sap Independence

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Lieutenant-Governor Sir Leonard Outerbridge told assembled teachers at the closing of their five-week summer school Tuesday that character training in the schools should not take second place to academic subjects.

He said he hoped teachers in every lesson in every subject, even if it did mean hard work on their part.

"We must exchange good ideas as we exchange friendship," Sir Leonard said. It was up to teachers to see that social security benefits did not sap the spirit of independence. The attendance of 841 regular student teachers and 15 special students set a record for the summer school held at Memorial University.

Naval Reserve Airmen Sail

HALIFAX (CP) — The carrier MALFAC leaves here today for trials off the Nova Scotia coast. The only Canadian naval air reserve squadron to operate from a carrier, the RC 829 of Toronto, will be aboard plus a number of voice a viators from nearby Shearwater air base.

The Toronto squadron made naval history last summer when they joined in carrier operations as part of their annual training program.

Minor Injuries

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Two Quebec City nurses and a Roman Catholic priest from Halifax escaped with minor injuries Tuesday when their car was involved in a head-on collision with another auto at a city intersection.

Miss Madeline Roussin, 34, who police said was driving, is in hospital with a broken collarbone.

Miss Juliette Lachance, 36, and her brother, Rev. Eugene Lachance, were treated for lacerations.

TELEVISION CKCW — Moncton

Television Programme Schedule Channel 2
THURSDAY
3:30 p.m.—F.M. Concert Hall
4:25 p.m.—News Roundup
4:30 p.m.—Coffee Chat
5:00 p.m.—Howdy Doodie
5:30 p.m.—Fun Times
6:00 p.m.—Trouble with Father
6:30 p.m.—Viewing the News
6:40 p.m.—Weather
6:45 p.m.—Sports
6:50 p.m.—CBC News
7:00 p.m.—Serenade for Strings
7:30 p.m.—The Editors Ask
8:00 p.m.—Sneak Preview
8:30 p.m.—Al and Elton
9:00 p.m.—Kraft TV Theatre
10:00 p.m.—A Fred Hitchcock Presentation
10:30 p.m.—Doctor Hudson's Secret Journal
11:00 p.m.—Television News
11:10 p.m.—Weather
11:15 p.m.—Gashouse Kids Go West
12:30 a.m.—Sign Off

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAV BECKER

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♠ J 10 5
♥ Q 9 2
♦ K 7 6 3
♣ K 8 4

♠ K 4 3
♥ A K 10 7
♦ 5 3
♣ 10 4

♠ 6 2
♥ 8 4
♦ J 9 8 2
♣ 10 9 7 6

♠ A Q 9 8 7
♥ J 6
♦ A Q 5
♣ A J 3

The bidding:
South West North East
1 ♠ 2♥ 2♠ Pass
4♠

Opening lead—king of hearts. After taking two heart tricks, West led a third heart which East ruffed and declarer over-ruffed.

South played a club to the king and led the jack of spades, losing the finesse to West's king. West returned a trump, which South won, and another trump drew the remaining one.

Three tricks had been lost and South had to bat a thousand from then on if he was not to come home lame. There were two obvious chances to make the hand—the adroit diamonds might break 3-3 to provide a parking place for declarer's losing club or the club-finesse against the missing queen might succeed. He did not know,

EDTIME STORIES

The Dragging Tail

By Thornton W. Burgess

A blessing may prove the reverse; Be useless or be even worse. —Old Mother Nature.

All his life Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel had been proud of his tail. It was a handsome tail and he knew it. No one else had such a broad, flat, lovely tail as his. He loved to sit with it held upright against his back in cold weather; it kept his back warm. But it wasn't just because it was so handsome that he was proud of that tail. He was proud of its usefulness. It was because afraid of falling when he made a long jump in the treetops. It helped of that tail that he was never ed him to keep his balance when he jumped. He knew, too, that if he failed to jump far enough, as had happened once or twice, that tail would help him to come down through the air more slowly than he otherwise would have. He used to flatten himself out by spreading his legs as far as he could, then with that broad flat tail spreading out behind him he was sure to come down to the ground easily and not be hurt.

As we do, that club queen would drop without a finesse. There was a third possibility, perhaps less obvious, which South turned to make the hand. He led his last trump, discarding a club from dummy. South now had three diamonds and the A-J of clubs left; dummy had four diamonds and a club, and so did East.

The ace, queen and another diamond disclosed that dummy's last diamond would provide no discard. All hopes hinged, therefore, on the location of the club queen. Before attempting the club finesse (which would have proved fatal), South reconstructed West's hand.

West had started with 6 hearts, (East had shown up with only two), as well as 3 spades and 2 diamonds. Therefore, West started with 2 clubs, of which he had already played one.

Also, East had started with five clubs, and he had already played four of them (to protect his diamonds). The count of the hand showed that each defender had one club left.

Accordingly, South led a club from dummy and played the ace from his hand, dropping West's queen and proving the value of elementary arithmetic. The lack of clubs provided the tenth trick.

There is an ancient gag about a peck being better than a finesse, but it seems to us that the player who counts out a hand can be just as effective, and furthermore lasts longer.

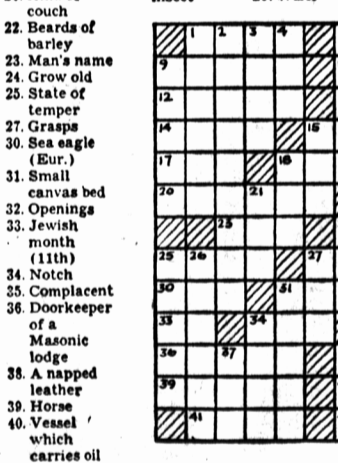

After Mrs. Quack saw some- one else came along. It was Jerry Muskrat, Jerry was as surprised as Mrs. Quack had been. "What in the world are you doing way out here?" squeaked Jerry.

DAILY CROSSWORD

- ACROSS
- Boast
  - Crowds
  - To make
  - Ordinary
  - Formed, as an electric arc
  - Shabby (slang)
  - Break-water
  - Stripe
  - Biblical city
  - Means of Cleopatra's death
  - Goddes of death (Norse)
  - Constellation
  - Kind of couch
  - Beards of barley
  - Man's name
  - Grow old
  - State of temper
  - Grasps
  - Sea eagle
  - Small canvas bed
  - Openings
  - Jewish month (11th)
  - Notch
  - Complacent
  - Doorkeeper of a Masonic lodge
  - A napped leather
  - Horse
  - Vessel which carries oil
  - Serpent-lizard

YESTERDAY'S ANSWER

- Many games depend on these
- Military vehicle
- Fit
- Sheltered side
- Distress signal; used 1st from Titanic

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

— Here's how to work it: AXYDLBAAXR is LONG FELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

CZIELLEF AZ CQH FELOC. MEL Y QUER TYBRA CZAUH-QELUPR.

Yesterday's Cryptogram: GOD'S IN HIS HEAVEN—ALL'S RIGHT WITH THE WORLD! — BROWNING.

ORILLIA, Ont. (CP) — A retired Canadian general said today Canada's army is 11 years behind in its equipment and has an airborne brigade but no aircraft to lift it.

Equipment Far Behind Claims Canadian Army

Gen. MacKlin said: "I should like to point out that the army has waited patiently and impotently for 10 solid years for its transport and supply by air, while every resource of our entire aircraft industry has been devoted to designing and building jet interceptors and nothing else."

REMAIN WIDE OPEN

Despite "billions of dollars being spent on a strategic air force system, we remain wide open to total catastrophe if the deterrent fails to deter," he said.

In Pursuing U.S. Air Strategy

Canada had permitted the U.S. Air Force to enjoy a "degree of interference in our national sovereignty greater than any Canadian government would have conceded to Great Britain, even in time of war, in the last 50 years."

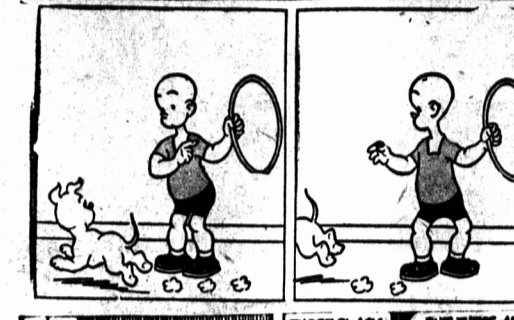

Grandma

Mickey Mouse

Henry

Muggs and Skeeter

Tilly The Toiler

Etta Keri

Joe Palooka

The Lone Ranger

Secret Agent X9

POGO

