

Annual Dance Festival Concluded After 4 Days

The fifth annual Prince Edward Island Dance Festival ended yesterday afternoon after four full days of competitions among young dancers all over Prince Edward Island. The competitions included Scottish dancing, other folk dancing, tap, step and other various types of dancing. The four-day competitions were all held in the auditorium of the West-Kent School. Last night a banquet for the executive of the Prince Edward Island Dance Association, its volunteer workers and this year's adjudicator, Irene Waldie from Rawdon, Quebec was held at the Towers Restaurant. Miss Waldie was the guest speaker at the banquet. She was thanked by the president of the association, Tom Burke.

In her address she gave a few helpful suggestions to the association. She said that she was surprised at the standards of the dancing here and was very pleased with the festival.

Deputy Minister Makes Comment

There have never been any known cases of rabies in foxes in Prince Edward Island, S.C. Wright, deputy minister of agriculture, said last evening.

Mr. Wright was queried as the result of a New Brunswick story that says there have been five known cases of rabies located in N.B. foxes recently.

Fox farming was one of the richest phases of agricultural development in Prince Edward Island for a period of years. Distemper caused considerable concern at times, but not rabies.

There are only two registered fox ranches in the province at the present time. One is owned by Lloyd Lockerby, Hamilton. The other is in the Sherwood area, just outside of Charlottetown. There are several part-ners.

The island was dotted with fox ranches in the boom years of the silver fox, many of them large operations. The fox period dated from the early 1900's and continued on into the 1940's, before it started to slip seriously.

$10 Penalties Are Imposed

In traffic court yesterday morning, fined $10 and costs of four days by Justice of the Peace Albert Dinnis were: James Roy Frizzell, Glen Valley, failing to stop at a stop sign; Harold Douglas Gallant, Rusticville, proceeding from a stop sign when it was unsafe to do so; Charles Edward Curtis, Sherwood, permitting a person without a licence to drive; M. A. F. Griffin, Sherwood, driving without a licence; Elmer William Dunsford, City, failing to yield right of way; Elmer Frederick Dunn, City, driving for hire without a chauffeurs licence and Charles Frank MacKenzie, Milton, inefficient equipment.

CHILDREN MUST LEARN CALGARY (CP)—Proper day care for children of working mothers must be both training and educational, says Sister Anne of the Sisters of Charity. Their care centre shouldn't be "just a baby-sitting service," says the Sister Superior, who gives 50 young children 1½ hours of classes a day.

'Home' Drawings Being Readied

Health Minister Henry Wedge yesterday announced that working drawings are being readied for an ultra-modern 200-bed home for special care for the Charlottetown area to be constructed for approximately $1,800,000.

The five-storey building will be constructed on a site near the present senior citizens' home on North River Road, overlooking the river. The main floor will house reception areas, dining room and lounge. The four upper floors will each contain 24 double

PC Candidates Point To Record

"Jobs are available where there were no jobs, markets have appeared where there were no markets, and new opportunities have appeared in places where people had come to believe that growth was not possible. This is the record of the Shaw government since 1959," Industry Minister Lloyd MacPhail said last night. Mr. MacPhail and his second queens teammate, highways minister Philip Matheson spoke at Afton Hall.

"When the Shaw government came to power," Mr. MacPhail continued, "the people of this province needed opportunity. Opportunity for jobs, for education, opportunity to enjoy the benefits of other Canadians.

Further development and growth is the basic issue of this election, he said. I'm proud to have been a part of the development program, but we must not now stand back and let things take care of themselves. We must have total development, in education, public works, industry and job opportunity and this is what the Shaw government pledges.

Mr. Matheson singled out development of highways to back up Mr. MacPhail's speech. Roads are the prime requirement in a developing economy such as ours, he stated. No program of industrial development, of exploitation of basic resources can advance to any degree without a top line system of highways. Even a sound rural education system is dependant on good highways for its efficiency. With this in view, the Shaw government has undertaken to build, and will continue to build, a system of paved roads second to none in Canada.

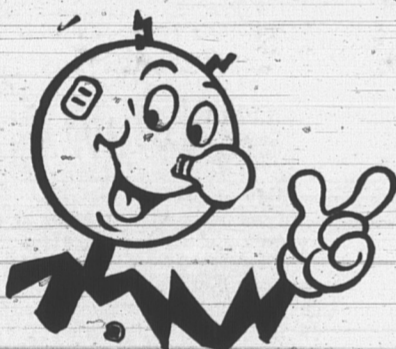

The provincial paving program has been tremendous, he said, bringing hard surface to areas where wallowing in spring mud had become a way of life. Our paved roads run to the industrial sites, and the areas of basic resource, agriculture, fishing and tourism.

Resource roads have brought a new look to our fishing centres, and this program will be pushed to completion. An all weather road to carry the goods and services of this province will be completed from Wood Islands to Borden and Summerside and from Tignish in the west to Elmira in the east, through the centres of Kensington, Hunter River and Morell, he stated.

"Growth and prosperity are not accidents, he continued, it takes planning and forethought and preparation and I am happy that I have been able to make a contribution to the growth of this island as a member of the Shaw government through the tying together of our resources, and resource areas with an ever-extending system of fine roads. Health MacQuarrie, MP for Queens, also spoke at the meeting. It is a time in the history of the island when an experienced hand is required at the helm of government, he stated. In this period of expansion there is no place for an amateur. In Walter Shaw the people of this province have a man of vision, he is a man of progress an alert man with a unique knowledge of Islanders their problems and their needs. It is a knowledge that comes from a long and close association with the people and the land and does not stem from casual and last-minute perusal.

Premier Walter Shaw and Mrs. Shaw dropped in as lunch was being served and the Premier spoke informally with the people.
