

The Irish Emigrant's Lament.

I'm sitting on the stile, Mary, Where we sat side by side On a bright May morning, long ago, When first you were my bride.

The place is little changed, Mary; The day is bright as then; The lark's song still is near my ear, The corn is green again.

'Tis but a step down yonder lane Where the little church stands near, The church where we were wed, Mary; I see the spire from here.

Yours was the good, brave heart, Mary, That still kept hoping on, When the trust of God had left my soul And my arm's young strength was gone.

I bless you for the pleasant smile When your heart was fit to break, When the fever pain was knocking there, And you hid it for my sake.

I'm bidding you a long farewell, My Mary, kind and true; But I'll not forget you, darling, In the land I'm going to.

And often in those grand old woods I'll sit and shut my eyes, And my heart will travel back again To the place where Mary lies.

How Mark Twain Gently Broke an Unpleasant Bit of News.

Rev. J. Hyatt Smith relates this: "When I was lying with my brother in Buffalo, Mark Twain occupied a cottage across the street.

"I suppose you're a little surprised to see me over here so early. Fact is, I haven't been so neighborly, perhaps, as I ought to be. We must mend that state of things.

"Well, we could stand a little." "This is a nice house you have here!" "Yes, we rather like it."

"How's your family?" "Quite well—and yours?" "O, we're all comfortable."

"There was another impressive silence, and finally Mark Twain crossed his legs, blew a puff of smoke into the air, and in his lazy drawl remarked: 'I suppose you're a little surprised to see me over here so early. Fact is, I haven't been so neighborly, perhaps, as I ought to be. We must mend that state of things. But this morning I came over because I thought you might be interested in knowing that your roof is on fire. It struck me that it would be a good idea if—'

But at the mention of fire the whole family dusted up stairs, trailing language all the way up. When we had put the fire out and had returned to the veranda Mark wasn't there.

The Highland Schottische.

The Highland Schottische, is to be the fashionable dance the coming season. Says the New York Sun:—Prof. Brooks was invited for an inspiring bar of music from the piano and then, gliding gracefully on his toe, took three steps quickly and, lifting a foot from the floor lightly, touched his heel to the calf of his leg.

"That," said the professor, proudly, "is the new Highland Schottische, which is to be the society dance of the season this year. It is imported from England and Scotland and will be introduced in all first-class academies as soon as the dancing classes open. Technically it is a combination of the Highland fling and the galop and it has raised a furore among the Scotch lads and lassies and has also found exceptional favor among the fashionables of London and Liverpool. It is a thing that no description can do justice to.

It must be seen to be fully comprehended."

The fifteen other professor unanimously resolved to teach the Highland Schottische when they went back to their classes.

New and Original Departure in Coal Cooking Stoves

COMBINING DURABILITY, HEAT AND ECONOMY.

This Cut represents my Patent Fire King Cooking Stove, with the oven, end and lining partially drawn out, as it appears while being cleaned, or when a new lining is being replaced.

THE above Stove I invented and patented in 1876, and at the present time HUNDREDS ARE IN USE, giving perfect satisfaction. A large number have been in constant use for eight years, and the repairs have been very trifling. In many instances none have been required. This valuable experience should be sufficient evidence of their durability, which is accounted for in the following:—It has, instead of a Lined Fire Box, two heavy Curved Cylinders, which obviate the expense connected with all Square Cooking Stoves of being compelled to renew Linings and Grates, at least once or twice every year. The heat being radiated from the Cylinders to the floor, where most needed, overcomes a serious objection to all kinds of ordinary Coal Cooking Stoves. The Cylinders are situated directly under the cover holes, and a fire may be made in one or both, thus adapting it for use either in winter or summer, with equal satisfaction, besides effecting a great saving in fuel. I have also attached the PATENT TELESCOPIC OVEN to all my Elevated Oven Wood Stoves, such as the Waterloo, Niagara, Star, &c., causing the thousands using them to exclaim—My Stoves are worth TEN DOLLARS MORE than the same kind made by other foundries. The trade and retail purchasers will please bear in mind the fact that although a great advantage is claimed for my own Oven above all others, they cost no more, and being the sole manufacturer and patentee, no other factory can supply. Enquire for Fawcett's Patent Telescope Oven, and it your dealer has none on hand send direct to the Sackville Stove Foundry.

I am adding several new and handsome Patterns this season, which, with my former large variety of One Hundred Different Patterns and Sizes of Cooking, Parlor, Office and Hall Stoves, also Farmers Boilers, Hollowware, Ploughs, Stove Pipes and Tinware, comprise the most complete assortment offered by any manufacturer in the Lower Provinces. Terms and prices will be found as favorable as can be obtained elsewhere.
