Winter Sleep Has Its Naps

TORONTO (CP) — University of Toronto researchers have exploded the generally accepted theory that hibernating animals snooze soundly all winter.

Experiments by the University's zoology department show that at least some wake up at regular intervals for a stroll and a snack before resuming their winter's sleep.

The scientists believe some of their findings on the lowering of body temperatures during hibernation may have an important application in hypothermia—or "deep freeze" operations on humans.

CHECK MOVEMENTS

By controls—as simple in some cases as sprinkling sawdust on squirrels' tails to show when they move—the zoologists have found that some types of squirrel wake up every 17 days, others every eight or nine days.

After stirring, the animals move about, sometimes eat or drink a little, before settling down again. Their body temperatures, sometimes down almost to freezing point, return to normal during these periods.

While asleep the tightly-curling animals can be handled for up to an hour before they awaken.

UPSET SEASONAL CLOCK

The scientists have been able—by manipulating the temperature to upset the "internal seasonal clock" that regulates each animal's hibernating impulses. This has enabled the experiments to go on throughout the year instead of in winter only.

In relating their experiments to hypothermia, which reduces the oxygen required by the brain, scientists are investigating a theory that a special chemical is induced in the blood to enable hibernators to survive the cooling.

Another theory is that the animals are anesthetized by an increase of carbon monoxide and a decrease of oxygen in the blood.

Episcopal Anglican Church Backs Birth Control Practice

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The national council of the Episcopal (Anglican) Church Tuesday overwhelmingly endorsed birth control measures as a means of "relieving problems of population growth."

The statement adopted by the council affirmed its support of birth control resolutions adopted by the 1958 Lambeth conference of the world Anglican communion in London.

Rt. Rev. Stephen F. Bayne, bishop of Olympia, Wash., criticized the Roman Catholic Church's opposition to birth control.

"It (the Catholic teaching on birth control) was devised by bachelors on a faulty moral theology which glorifies the single state," Bishop Bayne said. "It is not particularly observed within the Roman Catholic Church or outside of it."

CITE CHURCH CANONS

The statement cited canons of the Episcopal Church which say "We hold marriage to be a lifelong union of husband and wife... We believe it is for the purpose of mutual fellowship, encouragement and understanding, for the procreation (if it may be) of children and their physical and spiritual nurture, for the safeguarding and benefit of society."

The statement also referred to one of the Lambeth resolutions that said "Marriage is a vocation to holiness, through which men and women may share in the love and creative purpose of God. The aims of self-indulgence and sensuality, born of selfishness and a refusal to accept marriage as a divine vocation, destroy its true nature and depth."

The other Lambeth resolution said: "We believe that the responsibility for deciding upon the number and frequency of children has been laid by God upon the consciences of parents everywhere..."

The resolutions continued that family planning in such ways "mutually acceptable to husband and wife in Christian conscience, is a right and important factor in Christian family life and should be the result of positive choice before God."

'Santa Claus Lane' In S'side Awaiting Tree Decorations

SUMMERSIDE — The Christmas trees that make up Summerside's Santa Claus Lane have been put in place by town workmen. Each tree is atop a stand secured to a parking meter and now are awaiting decorations.

Owners of the various business houses now have the pleasant task of transforming these ordinary fir trees into things of beauty by means of lights and perhaps some trimming.

The 170 trees used in Santa Claus Lane were cut by members of the Summerside Y's Men's Club and sold to the town.

The club initiated a new project this year which they hope will result in their selling 700 Christmas trees to residents and any others who may wish to purchase a really good tree.

The trees will be located opposite the Green Street "Y" Centre starting in a day or so.

S'side Building Permits Hit Record High In Ten Months

SUMMERSIDE — Total value of building permits issued in Summerside during the first ten months of this year totalled a whopping $1,773,000, a record high.

There were 129 residential permits issued, including the 100 units comprising the Hillcrest Park, and these had a total assessed value of $1,165,000.

Six commercial permits were granted with a total value of $608,000.

The building boom which hit Summerside during the past year or more is continuing and so far has showed no signs of tapering off, as a great assist has been received from the warm weather.

President Of Network Charges 'Forced Out'

NEW YORK (AP)—Louis G. Cowan angrily quit Tuesday as president of Columbia Broadcasting System's television network. He charged he was forced out because of an innocent association with the rigged quiz show, $64,000 Question.

Cowan, 49, in a letter of resignation to CBS president Frank Stanton, claimed he was banished into a network limbo, forbidden even to communicate with his office.

Stanton said in reply: "It shocks me that you should attribute to me motives that have no basis in fact whatsoever."

Stanton said Cowan's health and the latter's lengthy absences from his post were among the motives behind CBS pressure to resign. He added that Cowan had talked of resigning anyway before next June and also that administration was not his forte.

Cowan, who suffered a leg ailment recently, said his health "is now excellent." He added in a letter to Stanton: "You made it impossible for me to continue... Accordingly, I resign."

Cowan, who drew $111,825 from CBS last year, was replaced as president of the TV network by James T. Aubrey Jr., executive vice-president under him.

Cowan was an independent television producer before he came to CBS as an executive producer and vice-president. He became president of the TV network March 12, 1958.

Cowan originated the $64,000 Question, biggest and most popular of the CBS quiz shows, and was connected with its production for its first seven weeks in 1955. He insisted that during that period there was no rigging of the show.

Kin Christmas Tree Project Inaugurated

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

Appealing to Summerside citizens to remember the immortal words of Jesus Christ "It is more blessed to give than to receive", His Worship W. A. Currie, Mayor of Summerside, officially opened the Summerside Kinsmen Club's annual Christmas tree project last night.

The official opening took place at the conclusion of a banquet meeting held in the Legion Home on Water Street and attended by both Kinsmen and Kinettes.

Kinsmen president, Grant Mollison, solicited the support of the citizens and asked that they "help the kinsmen to help the less fortunate children in Summerside."

The Kinette Club president, Mrs. Wanda Hunter, also appealed to the citizens to "give something" and concluded by presenting Mr. Mollison with a $50 cheque to inaugurate the campaign and wished it every success.

Mr. Mollison stated that Christmas trees have been placed in three business places in the town, Co-op Super Market, R. T. Holmans and Gaudet's Save-Easy Store, and donations could be placed under those trees. All gifts, he said, would be distributed to the needy families on Christmas Eve.

Seated at the head table were Dr. J. A. Doiron, chairman, Mr. Mollison, Mrs. Hunter, Mayor Currie, Mrs. Doiron, Mrs. Mollison and Dr. B. E. Hunter.

During the banquet a toast to the ladies was made by Neil MacLeod and responded to by Mrs. Marge Gaudet. Mr. MacLeod also read the minutes of the last meeting. The toast to the Queen was proposed by Dr. Doiron.

CAUSEWAY CLOSED

Cardigan Residents Make Long Detour To Reach City

MONTAGUE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

The recent rainy weather has been causing difficulty to residents of the Cardigan area, who due to the muddy condition of the partially completed causeway which divides the town, have been forced to detour some distance.

Under ordinary December weather conditions this causeway would be frozen solid and become a reasonably passable road, but the unseasonably warm weather accompanied by rain has played havoc with this section as well as other sections of clay roads which Kings County residents are forced to use as a result of the closing of the Hillsboro bridge.

The causeway at Cardigan has again been closed to vehicular traffic and rock and fill have been used and the roadway scraped in anticipation of an early freeze-up.

Due to the closing of this causeway residents desiring to motor to Charlottetown are forced to travel by Baldwin's Road via Mt. Stewart on which clay sections are near impassable or through to Dingwell's Mills from Poole's Corner, which is also clay or gravel road to the Seven Mile Road, paved from the corner where the Cardigan road joins this road.

Several motorists desiring to get to or from Charlottetown have used this long hike during the past couple of days.
