

NEWS of the WORLD in PICTURES

Queen Juliana of the Netherlands poses with her four daughters and her consort, Prince Bernhard, in a recent family portrait made at the Dutch royal palace in the Province of Utrecht. The four princesses are: Maryke, left, Beatrix, Margaret and Irene.

SO YOU THINK YOU HAVE A HOUSING PROBLEM? — There's no day nursery in war-blasted Wonsan, Korea, to park junior while mamma gets on with her task of rebuilding their wrecked home. So this Korean baby, strapped to its mother's back, gets a rough ride as she helps her companion saw up part of the house frame for rebuilding.

NEW BRITISH BEHEMOTH — Britain's latest model Centurion tank is put through its paces on road by the Royal Ordnance factory at Barnbow, England. The 50-ton monster is powered by a Meteor engine (an adaptation of the famous Rolls Royce Merlin) and develops 635 brake-horsepower. The British government has announced a 50 per cent increase in production of the Centurions within the past few months.

Members of the Tibetan delegation to Peking, capital of Red China, are shown at the railway station in Delhi, India, just before they left for the Chinese capital to negotiate with the Communist government over disputes that exist between China and Tibet. On reaching the Indian border town of Kalimpong word was received that the Chinese had invaded Tibet, so the delegation did not proceed any further. Tsipon Shagappa, leader of the delegation, and also Tibet's finance minister, is seen at right. Meanwhile, rumors received in India indicate that the young Dalai Lama, spiritual ruler of Tibet, is still in his capital, Lhasa.

This spic-and-span little fellow, known simply as "Joe", is shown in North Korea where he's been adopted by the 15th Medical battalion of the U.S. First Cavalry division. Joe's mother and three brothers and sisters were executed by the North Korean Communists. Because he wears a cut-down Australian battle jacket and British army pants, altered considerably, the young fellow calls himself "U.N. No. 1 Boy."

The nation's multi-million dollar defence program has started to hit the labor market, reports the Hon. Mr. Milton F. Gregg, minister of labor. He said the search was on for more machinists, welders and other experienced metal tradesmen to keep Canadian industry rolling at top speed and that demand was "strong" and increasing. Typical of the type of orders now being placed and providing new jobs for Canadians was a $3,000,000 order for 5,000 steel box-cars ordered by the Canadian National Railways from three Canadian companies.

Mrs. Fred Jaworski, a bride of two weeks, who has been employed at the Mattawa, Ont., hydro camp, has been missing nearly a week. She was last heard from in Toronto on her way to Welland, Ont., to visit her parents. The 22-year-old waitress came from Mattawa to Toronto with a friend of her husband. He saw her boarding a street car for the Union station. Then she dropped out of sight.

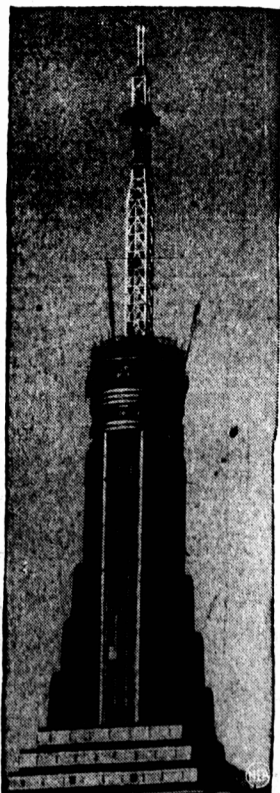

White House policemen Joseph Downs (left) and Donald Birdzell, wounded on Nov. 1 in the wild gun battle with two Puerto Ricans at Blair House are seen recuperating at the Emergency hospital in Washington. Downs was shot in chest and abdomen and Birdzell in both legs while protecting President Truman from assassination attempt by two men.

ASSASSIN'S WIDOW ARRESTED — Mrs. Carmen Torresola, 22-year-old widow of Griselio Torresola, is escorted into New York's Federal Building by Albert Whitaker, the supervising director of Secreta Service in the New York area. Her husband was slain when he tried to shoot his way into Blair House in an attempt to assassinate President Truman. She was arrested on a conspiracy charge and held in $50,000 bail.

Approximately $130,000 in counterfeit $10 bills, recovered in Toronto, is counted by Det.-Sergeant G. H. Ashby of the R.C.M.P. He is believed money was being held in readiness for distribution during the Christmas buying rush at local stores. No arrests were made following biggest haul of bogus currency in Canadian history, nor have police yet revealed location of cache.

TOWERING HIGHER — Already the world's tallest building, New York's famed Empire State building will rise to a height of 1472 feet following completion of 222-foot television and FM radio antenna pictured above. Over one million TV sets will have their reception improved by the new antenna, which was 140 feet tall when the picture was snapped.

MAIL (AND BLOOD) CALL — A wounded Marine, receiving a plasma transfusion, calmly reads a letter from home as a first aid man works over him on the Korean front. (Photo by NEA-Acme staff correspondent Stanley Tretick.)

At a Special Convocation ceremonies at McGill University in Montreal recently Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, deputy leader of the Conservative Party in the United Kingdom, was awarded an honorary degree. Photo shows Mr. Eden receiving his degree from Chancellor Associate Chief Justice O. S. Tyndale.

Orillia, Ont., lad, Percy Fenn, 18, run over by a freight train. Fenn, eight, lost both his legs after being run over by a freight train, 100 feet from his home, shown. Orillia citizens are rallying round the family in an effort to raise funds for Percy's hospitalization. Service clubs have promised a tag day to help the family meet expense in tragic accident.