Union will pay $15000

UPEI's Student Union will have $15,000 less to work with this year as the administration has called the loan on the Student Union building the Barn. Mike Clow, treasurer for the S.U., made this public at an emergency council meeting Sunday night. He explained that the administration usually collects the $40.00 union fees along with tuition and other fees and then reimburses student union. This year however they are only going to return a portion of it. The $15,000 is the interest owed on the loan taken out 4 years ago when that Student Union bought the Barn. At that time they paid $50,000 of their own and borrowed the remainder from the administration. Student Union buildings on other campuses have been given to the students for token fees.

expected to run on a deficit this year because of this and it is expected that club budgets will be cut.

Raise for Clyde

Personnel Board recommended that Clyde Bell, caretaker of the Barn be given a raise in his new contract. Mr. Bell has promised to include the Day Care Centre in his cleaning of the Barn.

It was pointed out that students had supported maintenance workers in their struggle last fall but were paying Mr. Bell a considerably lesser sum. This is Mr. Bell's first pay raise since 1974 and he has been working for council for seven years.

The Student Union is General meeting

Big Turnout Expected

As required by the constitution a General Meeting has been called by the Student council. The meeting will be held on Sunday, Nov. 7th in Duffy Amphitheatre at 6: p.m. Reports from members of the executive will be given and students will have an opportunity to voice their opinions.

There has never been a quorum (150 +) in attendance at a general meeting since the University of Prince Edward Island came into being, however councillors are optimistic that this year that will change.

should be concerned with and made it clear that members of council not fulfilling their duties could be impeached. At Sunday night's emergency council meeting Derek Key said that if council were to avoid becoming "nothing more than a glorified social committee" it would have to become more informed about events other than Pig and Whistles concerning students.

Language and Education

Professor William Walsh a foremost scholar in the field of Commonwealth literature, will speak as the University of Prince Edward Island on Thursday November 4. The title of his address is "Language and Education". The public lecture will be given in Duffy Amphitheatre beginning at 8:00p.m.

NATIONAL STUDENT DAY

On November 9th, students across Canada will celebrate National Student Day through a co-ordinated program of public meetings and seminars.

National Student Day will be a day for students to show their concern about what is happening to Canadian Education. It will focus on four issues: Tuition, Employment, Student Aid, and Education Cut-backs.

The U.P.E.I. Student Union, though not a member of the National Union of Students (NUS), has decided to recognize National Student Day, in any case.

At the last Student Council meeting, Student Union President, Derek Key, spoke on and presented the idea, of University Students going around to High Schools on the Island, to talk about fees, Student Union involvement, etc. Vice-President Paul Currie said that three High Schools have been contacted: Colonel Grey, Charlottetown Rural, and Three Oaks Senior High. They are in favor of having someone from the University, visit.

the CBC is also willing to have students on Compass, where they will be speaking about student involvement in the Community. There will also, probably be other activities, on Campus, to let the Students of U.P.E.I. know what is happening to Canadian Education.

If you have any questions regarding National Student Day, or if you wish to help in any way to organize activities for the Day, please contact the Student Union office, basement of Memorial or Doug McKay Room 115 Blanchard or Pat O'Brien Room 206 Blanchard 2-0788. Support you Student Union. Support their efforts on your behalf. Make National Student Day a Day of Involvement.
