

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JULY 10, 1894.

GENERAL HERBERT'S FAILURE.

That the militia of Canada is not by any means perfect; that it may be improved in many directions with advantage to those who belong to it and the country at large, is freely admitted. We have no doubt, either, that General Herbert has conscientiously endeavored to institute the reforms which seemed to him essential to the efficiency of the force. Yet he has been able to carry out only a very few of the measures which he inaugurated. His career in Canada has been marked by injudicious beginnings and inglorious endings. He may possess some ability as a soldier. But he has striven to adapt circumstances to himself, not himself to circumstances. The militiamen of Canada and the Government of Canada are situated differently to the militiamen and Government of Great Britain. General Herbert has, apparently, never seen the difference. His acts have all along been unsuitable to Canada, as witness his treatment of the Militia District of this Province and his treatment of Colonel Powell, one of the most enthusiastic and influential of our militia men. Consequently, his usefulness is gone. Both the Government and the people of Canada seem to be anxiously awaiting his resignation and wondering why it has not, under all the circumstances, been handed in.

SITUATION IN THE STATES.

BY YESTERDAY the Great Republic was the admiration and envy of the world. Now there are some who begin to doubt that there is in every way superior to every other form of Government. Legislative deadlock, commercial disaster, capital paralyzed, labor hindered, log-rolling and corruption in Congress, strikes, burnings, manslaughter, anarchy all along the line,—these are what we read of in the despatches in the papers. Of course, the reports of the American papers are not always true. But the fact that soldiers, Federal as well as State, are actually engaged in quelling the disturbances, goes to prove that the picture is not greatly overdrawn. Why the change? The main body of the people of the United States are, as they have ever been, law-abiding, self-restrained in the presence of excitement and danger, industrious, anxiously striving to be rich. The gifts of Providence are as abundant as they ever were. Plenty of food and clothing, every necessary of life, can easily be obtained at every point. There is no want on the part of those who have work—or money; and those who have neither are, for the most part, those who refuse to labor and have not been careful of their cash. Why this misgovernment, lawlessness, anarchy, destruction of life and property, following upon a period of peace and great national prosperity? The recent change of administration cannot possibly have produced a condition of things in free America such as would reflect disgracefully upon Russia. We greatly fear that too many persons in the States have lost sight of duty and obedience, without which discipline is difficult of enforcement and order cannot easily be maintained. The false and pernicious idea that all men are equal is being worked out to the confusion of the States. One of the alleged main causes of the disturbances is that the Pullman car company will not give brakemen the use of palace cars, and that while "passes" are given the higher officials of the company, "passes" are refused the ordinary run of railway men. Because the equality of brakemen and other workmen and high officials is not recognized by the companies their property is being destroyed, mails and passengers are stopped, men and women are killed and terrorized. The most cheering feature in the situation is the fact that President Cleveland has—in spite of many influential protestations—sent troops to restore order. That is precisely what the autocrat of all the Russias would do under similar circumstances. Men must be taught to respect the rights of property, and to do their duty in the state of life to which they are placed God to call them." The prosperity and the civilization of the nation are dependent upon the enforcement of discipline and the preservation of order. It is to be regretted that President Cleveland has been compelled to teach this lesson at the point of the bayonet and by means of deadly bullets.

—Montreal Star:—The Ottawa Intercolonial Conference is right in asking that the Empire be made free to establish any trade regulations it pleases within its own borders. It would be no more absurd for the State of Ohio to be forbidden to admit goods from the State of California on terms that it did not extend to Canada, than for Canada to be hindered from admitting Australian products on any terms it pleases. We must teach ourselves and we must teach the world that the Empire is a solid entity. It is perfectly legitimate for us to favor our fellow-countrymen more than aliens and foreigners, and our fellow-countrymen are Britons wherever they live. If the Conference can so write this fact upon the surface of the world which our flag already encircles that none may ever forget it for a moment again, it will have accomplished a task worthy of itself, no matter what else it may do.

A SUCCESS.—The Second Methodist Church Picnic yesterday at Elliotts was a grand success. Good weather, good music and beautiful grounds for the picnic made the affair most enjoyable.

SUPREME COURT.

MONDAY, July 9. The Queen vs. Wm. Larter—Indictment for procuring drugs, &c. The jury after about 4 hours deliberation brought in a verdict of guilty. Immediately after the verdict had been recorded and the jury discharged, Mr. Davies, Q. C., one of the prisoner's counsel, moved to arrest the judgment and for the discharge of the prisoner upon the ground that the indictment did not disclose any offence. If it was intended to charge an offence under the criminal code, the indictment should have followed the words of the statute and alleged that the ergot was procured "with intent" to procure the abortion. All the forms in the various books set out these words, and in every case which the learned counsel or his associate, Mr. Stewart, had examined, the words were inserted. Mr. Davies cited a number of cases in support of his motion.

The Attorney-General replied, after which the Chief Justice announced that he would give his decision this morning, and if there was anything in Mr. Davies' objection he would reserve the case for the opinion of the full court. Later was then remanded to jail.

TUESDAY, July 10. Later was brought up at 10 o'clock this morning. Mr. Justice Gwynne presiding. The Chief Justice came on the bench and stated that he had decided to reserve the objections for the Court of Crown cases reserved, and that that court would meet on Saturday next to hear the argument. The Court for Crown cases reserved comprises the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Hodgson and Mr. Justice Fitzgerald.

Later has been remanded to jail till Saturday.

The political prophets who believed that the new United States tariff bill would be passed by July have been sadly mistaken. July has come, but Congress has not yet concluded its tariff deliberations.

U. S. papers appear to take the defeat of the Vigilant by the Britannia quite seriously to heart. They are learning, but they cannot yet just take a licking and grin as if they liked it. That is an error in which an Englishman has no compeers.

Because the Chicago newspapers have criticized his course, Mr. Debs advises that they be boycotted, and that all mercantile firms who advertise in them be boycotted also. The man who dared to differ from Debs, if Debs had the power, would have a short and uneasy life of it.

Lord Rosebery in his reply to the letter sent him by the anti-gambling league protesting against horse racing, says: "My position is simply this: Like Cromwell, whose official position was higher than mine, and the strictness of whose principles cannot be questioned, I possess a few race horses, and I am glad when one of these happens to be a good one."

The Paris Temps thinks the prospect opened by the intercolonial conference at Ottawa dazzling for the Anglo-Saxon race but disastrous, perhaps for the United Kingdom. The Temps evidently thinks the time may come when the colonies will be greater and stronger than England; but it makes a mistake in thinking this will mean disaster to England with all her daughter lands about her will only be great England.

The torture of dyspepsia and sick headache, the agonizing itching and pain of salt rheum, are removed by Hood's Sarsaparilla.
