THE PROBS.—Light variable winds; generally fair with some scattered showers on Thursday.

THE ladies of St. Joseph's Bazaar intend giving a free dinner to the five boys who are returning from South Africa this evening.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.—The first session of the Teachers' Convention was held this forenoon in the Y M C A Hall. About two hundred teachers answered to roll call. Committees were appointed. The address of Hon. Frank A Hill, Superintendent of the Massachusetts Board of Education, was the principal item of the morning's programme. His subject was, "School Discipline and Citizenship." The old discipline was allied to militarism; the new is of a milder kind and is based on the honor of the child. Teachers should cultivate self-control. To-night Hon. Mr. Hill lectures in the Hall on "Ideals for Teachers in the Light of Modern Demands."

INTEMPERANCE

Cured by the Dixon Treatment.

ST. JOSEPH'S ABBEY, ROSCREA, IRELAND.
 April 22nd, 1900.

DEAR MR. DIXON,—I got the case of medicine all right. If you have no pressing calls for it you may send me the other five cases. I have disposed of the last two you sent. So far as I can find out the result in all my patients is most satisfactory. I will write to a few of them and hear from themselves what they think of it. One who has gone through the course of treatment about two months ago says he never thinks of drink, and has gone into the places and company in which he always fell. Another gentleman here at present, who finished the medicine only a week ago, says if you placed water, ale and whiskey before him to quench his thirst, he says he would take the water and never even long for the others. He says all crave for stimulants is gone. Those are favorable accounts, but I hope to give you even better. I hope the cure will become better known and appreciated. I wish you every success, and as far as I can I will be very happy to recommend it to those who need it.

Yours sincerely,
 (Rev.) B. LEO FITZGERALD.

St. John's Convent, Ayr, April 23, 1900.

Mr. A. Hatten Dixon,—

Dear Sir,—It gives me much pleasure to be able to testify to the efficacy of your cure for intemperance. The patients who have taken your treatment here are now quite well, and assured me on the third day they experienced the good effects, morally and physically, which increased as the medicine was continued. They are now feeling quite regenerated and say they possess a power of will which they did not have for years, being free from the desire and craving for stimulants. If the treatment is given a fair and honest trial, and taken according to the directions, I feel confident of most beneficial results. I shall be pleased to give information to any person whom you may wish to refer to me on the subject. Wishing you every success,
 I am, dear sir,
 Yours sincerely in J. C.,
 SISTER ETHELBERGA.
