

FAKE SEX COUNSELLOR ASKS INTIMATE QUESTIONS

HAMILTON (CUP) - Male students at McMaster University are being told to hang onto their pants now that a woman posing as a sexual education counsellor has been calling them up asking for details about their penises.

So far three men have been phoned by a woman claiming to be conducting a survey for McMaster's Sexual Education Centre. According to Jana Roth, the centre's coordinator, the woman asked questions of an intimate sexual nature and in one instance even persuaded a man to meet her.

During the meeting, the woman measured the man's penis for both length and circumference. She then questioned him about the fantasies he masturbated to and requested and received a semen sample.

The student contacted the Sex-Ed centre after the encounter and was a little "perturbed" to find out he'd been duped, said Roth.

"We would never do anything like that," said Roth. "The centre is not conducting any surveys now and when we do...it would be with questionnaires to so as to maintain anonymity (of the respondents)."

people throughout the world. Cruelty to defenceless black children will not stop opposition to the apartheid regime.

The more I write, detailing the crimes against humanity, the more I hope to set out what the rest of our society can do to fight injustice. Another reason I write is that I am calling in print for Canadians to assist needy people.

So far, the Island community has shown good examples of helping others. First, UPEI students and staff have unanimously contributed towards the WUSC scholarship fund to enable refugee students to come and study at the Island's university.

Second, residents of Bernardine Hall have sponsored a foster child in Equador (Central America). The most recent example is the money-raising banquet held this week in the cafeteria to help fight famine in drought hit regions of Ethiopia. Indeed, tribute should be paid to those participating in these worthwhile activities.
