PARTICULARS OF THE NAVAL BATTLE.

Heavy Loss on Both Sides.

The Central News Shanghai correspondent telegraphs additional details from Chinese sources of the naval engagement at the mouth of the Yalu river between the Chinese northern squadron and the Japanese fleet. The battle lasted six hours. During the fight the Chinese warships Yang Wei and Chao Yang caught fire and were burned and run ashore and the Chih Yuen and King Yuen were sunk. Four of the Japanese vessels were sunk and the remainder of the fleet retreated. The Chinese then succeeded in landing the troops they had on board. Admiral Ting, who was in command of the Chinese squadron was severely wounded. After the battle the Chinese vessels proceeded for Wei Hai Wa, which place they reached in safety. It is supposed the troop ships which were being conveyed by the squadron were sunk.

The despatch states that Admiral Ting's fleet left port on Friday evening to convey seven steam transports conveying a large force of troops, and a number of European and Chinese admiralty accompanied the fleet, which were to be landed near Wip, from which point they were to go on to the front. These troops comprised some artillery, but were mostly composed of infantry. Nothing was seen of the enemy until the Chinese fleet reached the mouth of the Yalu river, when a fleet of Japanese warships was sighted. Thereupon the transports were hurried forward and the warships cleared for action. The efforts of the transports to land the troops were successful and most of them were gotten ashore before the battle began. The Yang Wei was the first vessel to open fire, and was soon engaged with two Japanese warships of the same size, one of which was supposed to be the cruiser Oyodo. Soon all the vessels of both fleets were engaged. The Chinese cruisers Chih Yuen and King Yuen were sunk, and 600 officers and men on board drowned. Only a few of the men straggling in the water were picked up. The Chao Yang and Yang Wei in manoeuvring for more advantageous positions got into shallow water and ran ashore. The stranded vessels were helpless under the fire of the big guns of the Japanese ships, and were finally set on fire by the enemies' shells and became wrecks. It is feared some of the transport ships were sunk, including one whose troops were not landed. The Chinese loss is estimated at 1,500 killed and wounded; the Japanese loss is supposed to be 1,000. None of the Chinese officers giving account of the battle know the name or the size of the four vessels of the enemy alleged to have been destroyed. Taking the Chinese best view of the battle, it is plain that the encounter resulted in serious crippling the naval strength of China.

Great consternation prevails in the palace at Peking. The emperor is determined to take the management of affairs into his own hands, but this step is resisted upon with favor by government officials, who consider such a course beneath the dignity of his majesty.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

BETTER THINGS EXPECTED.

Sir,—It will be pleasing to temperance workers to learn that the Rev. Mr. Sutherland has returned from his visit to Scotland. The electors of Charlottetown who were induced to favorably consider the re-organizing of the Scott Act through the earnestness and zeal of the rev. gentleman, and the promises of due enforcement of the law, will, doubtless, expect him to infuse new life and action amongst the temperance people. It may not be known to Mr. Sutherland that since the law came in last July nothing whatever has been done to educate the people towards the total abstinence cause; in fact, things have gone from bad to worse. The Patriot of the 18th inst. contains the following paragraph, which will give Mr. Sutherland a fair idea of the state of affairs in this city since the Scott Act became law:

There was an unusual amount of drunkenness on Queen Street yesterday afternoon and evening. Unimpaired confusion seemed to reign.

Street fighting is becoming prevalent in the city at night. Drunken toughs are the participants. Last night one of these persons made Prince Street hideous with his yelling.

POLICE COURT.—This morning was a field day with the drunks and his honor disposed of five of them as follows:—Murphy, John Cummings and Eliza McCarron, drunk and incapable, $4 or 20 days each. Albert Allen and Henry Clinton, drunk and disorderly $5 or 30 days each.

For a paper like the Patriot which supports the Scott Act to be compelled to publish three such damaging paragraphs in the same issue in three different parts of the paper is a terrible arraignment of the responsible party.

ELLERON. The children of all the city schools will be admitted free to the Bazaar on Monday next from 3 o'clock p. m. to 5, provided they are accompanied by their teachers. If the teachers cannot go with them, each pupil must have a ticket showing the name of the school attended and the signature of the teacher.

The sincere thanks of the managing committee are offered to Messrs. Brose, the popular carriage builders, for the free use of a commodious warehouse in which all the goods donated to the Bazaar have been stored. This act of generosity is much appreciated by those interested in the Bazaar.

The Ladies' Committee also wish to thank the good people of East Point, Pisiquid, Fort Augustus and Johnston's River for generous donations of eggs, butter, etc.

Remember that the price of admission to the Bazaar and a good dinner at the same time is only 25 cents. The booths and tables are beautifully decorated. Be sure and see them.

Business College.—The well-known Principal of the Charlottetown Business College, L. E. Miller, Esq., has donated a scholarship to the Bazaar. It comprises a full course in that institution, including shorthand and typewriting, and it will be disposed of by means which have yet to be decided upon, at the Literary Table of the Bazaar. This is a grand opportunity for any young man or woman to receive a thorough business education. Mr. Miller's gift is worthy of all praise, and of the highest appreciation.

A literary table in connection with the Bazaar presents a new and interesting feature. D. J. Sallier, the well-known publisher of Montreal, has given a large box of books to the literary table. Another box of books has been sent by John E. Walsh of Montreal.

Subscription to the following popular magazines for one year, will be disposed of at the literary table: Illustrated Canadian News, The Republic of Boston, McClure's Magazine, The Ave Maria, The Electrical Review, the Poultry Monthly, Our Country Home. The manner of disposal will be determined upon hereafter, and this is a splendid chance to get a popular magazine at a low price.

They have some rare displays of weather in France, Belgium, Germany and Austria of late. A half-term which occurred a French marching regiment near Evreux, came down with such force that it pierced the brass instruments of the band, and so injured the colonel's thoroughbred horse as to put him hors d'combat. He is useless for further service. Near Breslau a violent gale of wind drove a railway carriage down a line and killed three men. At Creteil a three-story building collapsed beneath the fury of the elements and the streets were converted into canals. At Temesmar in Hungary, the heat was so excessive that ten soldiers among the troops marching to the manoeuvres were stricken with sunstroke, in a distance of 12 miles, and of these three succumbed to the attack. In Belgium, whole districts were devastated by the hail and in many cases the harvest was completely destroyed.
