CURRENT NOTES.

Winnipeg has had a $35,000 fire.
The German Ambassador at Washington has been recalled.
About $1,000,000 worth of canned salmon will be put up in British Columbia this season.
The Paris Journal des Debates says there is danger of a rupture between France and England over the Egyptian troubles.
England has remonstrated with the Dutch Government for its course with the Atchinese, in regard to the crew of the Nisero.
During the present session at Washington, the House has passed bills providing for the forfeiture of nearly 70,000,000 acres of land granted to railroads.
It is said that Mr. Blaine, the Republican candidate for the Presidency, is a Presbyterian, following the faith of his father in that particular. His mother was a Catholic.
Owing to the combined opposition of the Irish National members and the landlord interest—a very strange union—the English Government has decided to drop the Irish Land Bill.
The United States agricultural department returns show the spring wheat crop to be in good condition, with a largely increased acreage; winter wheat, oats, barley and rye are also in good condition.
Mr. Tilden's positive declination greatly increases the chances of Gov. Cleveland becoming the nominee of the Democratic party. Two years ago Gov. Cleveland carried New York by nearly 200,000 majority, receiving a very large support from independent Republicans at that time.

An English vicar has complained to the Department of Education that children of five years are compelled in the schools to learn all about the properties of rhomboids, trapezoids, pentagons, octagons, and parallelograms of every kind. He says they cannot even pronounce the names.
Archbishop Tache is proceeding with great vigor about a scheme for the repatriation of French-Canadians. He has procured from the Dominion Government a large tract of land in the Qu'Appelle Valley. The Regina Leader says that "arrangements have been made with the Canadian Pacific Railway for them to lend the heads of fifty families each $500, to be returned in ten years' time. Each family will be given a homestead of 160 acres, which will have to be cultivated in accordance with the Dominion land regulations."

The following is a copy of a circular received by a number of Halifax liquor dealers. It explains itself:
HALIFAX, June 9, 1884.
DEAR SIR,—The prosecutions against the members of the licensed victuallers association of Halifax are being vigorously pushed by the inspector and his attorney, and we have used every available defense at the trials, and have completed some five or six appeals to the supreme court, and are daily preparing the other appeals as the cases are concluded in the court. The costs in the supreme court will be somewhat heavy, and the labor is becoming extensive. From the expressed opinion of the judge before whom we argue the appeals on law points, we confidently anticipate a favorable result. Although five appeals have now been taken, and some six or seven are now before the court for trial, we have as yet received nothing, and must now ask that the subscriptions be completed and a payment made as soon as possible.
(Signed) WEEKS, PEARSON & FORBES.

Certain Russian naturalists claim to have made a discovery in reference to the epilobium plant which may revolutionize the cotton trade of Europe. The epilobium which is more properly known as the "willow herb," from the shape of its leaves, has hitherto been cultivated solely for its flower, which grows from the top of the pod. The Russian savants now claim that this pod can be made to yield a fibre possessing many of the valuable qualities of cotton fibre. In the experiments already made the fibre has been ginned, spun and woven successfully on a small scale. An economic society in St. Petersburg has now petitioned the czar to set aside some state lands for the scientific cultivation of epilobium and the continuation of the experiments for improving the fibre. It is claimed by some enthusiasts that the results of this discovery will be in time to avert the necessity for the importation of cotton into Russia.

The will of Samuel W. Swett has been filed in the probate court. The public bequests are as follows:
Massachusetts institute of technology $10,000
Old men's home 5,000
Massachusetts general hospital 50,000
Boston north end mission 20,000
City missionary society 5,000
Boston young men's christian association 5,000
American board of foreign missions 10,000
Benevolent fraternity of churches 5,000
Boston provident association 10,000
Boston marine society 10,000
Sailors' snug harbor, Quincy 10,000
Temporary home for the destitute 5,000
Harvard college for medical department 20,000
Baldwin place home for little wanderers 20,000
Boston children's aid society 5,000
Children's hospital 10,000
Hospital for women and children 10,000
Children's mission to the children 10,000
After numerous private bequests the residue of the estate, which is estimated at about $500,000, is to be divided equally between the American board of commissioners of foreign missions and the Massachusetts home missionary society. Mr. Swett was a resident of Boston for many years. He was for thirteen years a director and eight years president of the Suffolk national bank. He resigned the latter position in 1874, since which time he has lived in retirement at Jamaica Plain. He was a Unitarian, but his bequests are made without regard to sect.

CURRENT NOTES.

Sudiekin's assassin is said to have been arrested in Berlin.
All the English sergeants in the Egyptian army have resigned.
Bradlaugh denies that he wrote a letter to the Prince of Wales.
Fifteen thousand five hundred and eleven immigrants settled in Canada during May.
The infant daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh is called Beatrice Leopoldine Victoria.
The Anglican Synod, of Toronto, passed a resolution of condolence with the Queen on the death of Prince Leopold.
The last survivor of the soldiers who guarded Napoleon on the island of St. Helena, William Palmer, died lately in Battle Creek, Michigan.
A herd of 6,000 head of cattle, which had been without water for five days, stampeded at the sight of the Naucos river, and the rush was so great that hundreds were killed and maimed.
A Winnipeg correspondent reports that building operations there now in progress involve an expenditure of over $500,000. The same buildings two years ago would have cost a million.
Requests for his father's autograph are answered by Julian Hawthorne on a type-writer; Mark Twain does the same for his own autograph beggars, as he says it is so much easier to read print.

Farmer Russell, a negro, burned his wheat stubble at Fredericksburg, a few days ago, and barely escaped with his life when eleven old bombshells, which had been lain there for twenty years, exploded.
Mrs. Brothers, wife of the Track Superintendent, and Mr. J. A. Dickey, Government Railway Inspector, were allotted the pleasure of driving the last spike of Canada Pacific Railway, in the N. W. Territory and the first in British Columbia.

The large diamond found recently in the Kimberley fields, South Africa, weighs 301 1/2 carats, and is said to be the largest ever found in that region, though it is not the most valuable. In form it is a perfect stone, but its color is slightly yellow. The market value of it has been estimated at $15,000. It has been named the "Victoria."
A biographical and critical paper will appear in the July Manhattan on the Earl of Dufferin, written by J. L. Whittle, the Earl's intimate friend, and one of the staff of the Lord Chancellor of England. The Earl became so well and favorably known while he was Governor-General of Canada, that an article about him ought to interest a large number of persons.

A Paris despatch says that the Irish-American dynamiters in Paris have decided to act independently of James Stephens, ex-Fenian Head Centre; and that they will hold a secret congress next week to discuss the fusion of the extreme sections of the party. It is believed that the next attempt of the dynamiters in London will be made upon the bridges and wharves.

The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British grain trade, says: "Welcome and timely rains have ended the drought. The condition of all the Spring-sown grain is materially improved. The breadstuffs market is languid, though the demand is good. Native oats are scarce and higher. Maize is steady. The sales of English wheat during the past week were 44,662 quarters at 37s., against 55,189 quarter at 43s. 4d. during the corresponding week last year."
The novelists are busy with the fame of Shakespeare. William Black is adding the closing chapters to his striking romance of Judith Shakespeare—a story which deals in a pleasant way with the loves of the immortal bard—and now we find it announced that James Payn has a new tale in readiness which is to treat of another epoch in the life of the poet of Avon. The latter is entitled "The Talk of the Town," and is founded upon the events attending the production and ultimate detection and exposure of Ireland's Shakespearean forgeries. The theme is an interesting one. Our readers will remember the Ireland fraud. William Henry Ireland was a miscellaneous writer of good average abilities, who flourished a little less than a century ago. He published many poems, novels and dramas, which in their day attracted some attention, but no one reads them now. He will be remembered only as a literary forger. He produced a legal deed, "A Confession of Faith," several letters to Lord Southampton, and finally a complete tragedy entitled Vortigern, which he said he had discovered and were in the handwriting of Shakespeare. These papers created a great noise in England, and such literary experts as Chalmers, Parr and Pinkerton were promptly deceived. Malone was the only Shakespearean scholar of the time, who refused to be imposed upon. He always averred that the manuscripts were forgeries, but he was alone in his view for a long time. Even the actors were deceived, and "Voligern" was acted on the stage on the 2nd of April, 1796, with the famous John Kemble as the hero, and the charming Mrs. Jordan as "Rowena." Ireland kept up the deception as long as he could, but eventually he was compelled to proclaim the cheat, first in a book called "The Authentic Account of the Shakespearean Manuscripts (1796), and afterwards in his "Confession" (1805). In 1798, his father, too was compelled to write a Vindication of himself from complicity in his son's forgeries. Mr. Payn's story, as our readers will see, promises to be highly entertaining. Among the characters to be introduced will be many of the great actors and actresses of the time of Richard Brinsley Sheridan. The scene, of course, will be laid at Stratford-on-Avon.
