Fluoridation Disallowed In Metropolitan Toronto

OTTAWA (CP) — Metropolitan Toronto may not add fluoride to the water it supplies its 13 constituent municipalities, the Supreme Court of Canada ruled today.

The court upheld 5 to 2 a years-long contention by the hold-out fashionable suburb of Forest Hill that Metro may not fluoridate the public water supply without general approval.

Fluoridation is the addition of one or two parts of sodium fluoride to 1,000,000 of water as a medicinal step to reduce the incidence of tooth decay.

Lawyer Harold Manning of Toronto, who argued Metro's case in the Supreme Court, said legislation establishing Metropolitan Toronto empowered Metro to do anything it likes to its water provided that the end product is pure and wholesome.

CALLS IT MEDICINE

But lawyer J. J. Robinette, arguing on a brief prepared jointly with J. Ragnar Johnson, solicitor for Forest Hill, said Metro's powers do not include the right to administer medicine on a mass scale.

Such reasoning, he said, could lead the city, on grounds that orange juice is good for babies, to put orange juice in the water and hold itself justified since that would not render the water impure.

Forest Hill's first attempt to have the bylaw declared invalid was denied by Mr. Justice F. G. MacKay, sitting as trial judge.

His finding was reversed by Chief Justice J. W. Pickup, on appeal by Forest Hill.

Mr. Manning's argument was that Metro was empowered to provide "pure and wholesome water."

Pure water, however, did not occur in nature. Many Ontario municipalities, whose water was considered "pure and wholesome," drew it from natural sources containing fluoride in amounts ranging from .08 of a particle in 1,000,000 to 2.8 in 1,000,000.

Buys Soviet Car — For Contrast

CHICAGO (CP) — An Iowa industrialist who feels a sense of dedication to the North American free - enterprise system has invested -2,400 in a Russian car which he drives around as aconversation piece to illustrate "how much better off we are instead of behind the Iron Curtain."

Vern H.Schield, who heads an earth-moving equipment firm, got his Russian curiosity last March in Helsinki, Finland, through a distributor. The four - cylinder 40 horsepower M-20 Pobeda is the first Russian automobile to be displayed in the United States.

Schield drove the Pobeda cross-country from New York to Iowa and says he averaged road speeds of around 50 miles an hour and received 30 miles to a gallon of regular gasoline.

A professional engineering consultant, Edward Osbert, says the car shows that industry in Russia is 20 to 30 years behind the U.S. The car has a jeep-like engine, rear-end similar to a model A Ford, and a transmission like a modified copy of a 1932 Model B Ford.

Schield paid $1,890 originally, by the time he picked up the 3,125-pound car in New York it cost $2,400.

The Pobeda, however, is not the best of the Russian cars. They sell a medium - priced car which is a blend of designs which looks like a 1940 combination of Plymouth, Ford, Chevrolet and Nash. Its gear ration is designed for hills, and dirt roads.
