Report Bolero Leading In Race

HAMILTON, Bermuda, June 22 (AP)—Bolero, 73-foot yawl owned by John Nicholas Brown of Providence, R. I., was reported leading a fleet of 58 ocean yachts today some 24 hours after the start of the 675-mile Newport, R. I., to Bermuda race.

The report came from the U.S.S. Blackwood, an escort destroyer riding herd on the yachts. The Blackwood reported to the U. S. naval operating base here, and said the sea was running rough with overcast skies. The fleet left Newport at noon yesterday.

The Bolero, owned by the former United States Secretary of the Navy for Air, set the course record two years ago in 75 hours, 33 minutes and 32 seconds.

The report did not include information on the Wanderer IX, a 64-foot topsail schooner skippered by a crew of 10. The Wanderer arrived at Newport with a fractured rudder and strained canvas after a rugged run from Halifax. But that was corrected and she eased over the starting line smartly to start the long race.

The committee of the Royal Bermuda Yacht Club does not expect any of the yachts to reach here before Wednesday unless excellent time is made.
