

Moral Gems.

A PROFANE SWABER CURED.—A gentleman once heard a man swearing dreadfully, in the presence of a number of his companions. The gentleman told him that it was both a wicked and a cowardly thing to swear so; especially in company with others, when he dared not do it by himself. The man boastfully replied that he was not afraid to swear at any time, or in any place.

"I'll give you a sovereign," said the gentleman, "if you will go into the village graveyard, at twelve o'clock to-night, and swear the same oaths there, when you are there alone with God, as you have just uttered here."

"Agreed," said the man; it's an easy way of earning a sovereign."

"Well; you come to me to-morrow, and say you've done it; and the money is yours."

The time passed on; the hour of midnight came. The man went to the graveyard. It was a dark night. As he entered the graveyard, not a sound was heard. All was as still as death. Then the gentleman's words "Alone with God," came over him with wonderful power. The thought of the wickedness of what he had been doing, and what he had come there to do, darted across his mind like the lightning's flash.

He trembled at his folly. Afraid to take another step, he fell upon his knees; and, instead of the dreadful oaths he came to utter, the earnest cry went up, "God be merciful to me a sinner."

The next day he went to the gentleman, and thanked him for what he had done; and said he had resolved by God's help, never to swear another oath as long as he lived.

Satire aimed at the character and feelings of another, however polished, is at the bottom only ribaldry and Billingsgate. Every one knows that by its honor and peace of individuals, families, and communities have over and over again been destroyed. The Romans punished it by death. Under the Emperor Valentinian it was a capital offense not only to write or retail a libel, but even not to burn or tear it up when it came into any one's hands by chance.

Death certain; time uncertain. Temperance is the best medicine. Better spare at the brim than at the bottom. Every one's fault are not written on his forehead. Insensibility is the companion of drunkenness. Society, like faded silk, must be viewed in all situations. Relatives take the greatest liberties, and give the least assistance. He who receives a good turn, should never forget it; he who does one should never remember it. Idleness is hard work for those who are not used to it, and dull work for those who are. Modesty in women is like colour on her cheek—decidedly becoming if not put on. A good name will not wear out, a nick name may be turned; but a bad name lasts forever. "The love of money is the root of all evil;" and the root, like those of the cancer, is generally ineradicable. Everything that looks to the future elevates human nature, for never is life so slow or so little as when occupied with the present. What madness is it for a man to starve himself to enrich his heir, and so turn a friend into an enemy; for his joy at your death will be in proportion to what you leave him. To mourn for the dead is to mourn for the lost casket when you still retain the jewel it held. The memories of the dead one's virtues are the jewel, and the cold clay but the casket. When a gentleman who had been accustomed to give money by thousands of dollars, was asked by his presumptive heir, where his property was to be found, he replied, "In the pockets of the indigent and laid up in heaven."

It is related of Beza, one of the reformers, that when he was old, and could not recollect the names of persons and things he had heard but a few minutes before, he could remember and repeat the epistles of St. Paul, which he had committed to memory when he was young. There is only one thing worse than ignorance, and that is conceit. Of all intractable fools an over-wise man is the worst. You may cause idiots to philosophize, you may coax donkeys to forego thistles, but don't ever think of driving common sense into the head of a conceited person. If thou art a vessel of gold, and thy brother but of wood, be not high minded; it is God that maketh thee to differ; the more bounty God shows the more humility he requires; those minds that are richest and deepest; those stars that highest seem smallest; the goodliest buildings have the lowest foundation; the more God honoreth men, the more they should humble themselves; the more fruit, the lower the branch on which it grows; pride is ever the companion of emptiness. Oh how low was the apostle, yet how low was language of himself—least of all saints, least of all apostles, chief of sinners; no sufficiency to think, no abilities to do, all that he is, he is by divine grace. An exchange: "We were compelled to refuse an offer of job printing the other day by a man way back, who innocently called to get some postage stamps printed. He was quite disappointed because we could not do the work; he 'wanted 'em real bad to put on a letter he write to a gal, and it cost too much to buy 'em of the post-office feller."

A Western editor relates a man who bought a lot of hogs in Illinois and drove them slowly to Chicago. He was compelled to sell at a loss of $400. Returning home he was asked by his neighbors what were the profits of the operation. "Well," said he, "I reckon didn't make much money out of the trip, but I had the company of the hogs down."

Mrs. S. A. Allen's PREPARATIONS FOR THE HAIR

Mrs. S. A. Allen's World's Hair Restorer is suited to both young and old. It strengthens the Hair, prevents its falling or turning grey, and imparts to it a beautiful glossy appearance. It never fails to RESTORE GREY HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL YOUTHFUL COLOR.

It is NOT A DYE, but acts directly upon the roots of the Hair, giving them the natural nourishment required, producing the same vitality and luxuriant quantity as in youth. It will restore it on bald places, requires no previous preparation of the hair, and is easily applied by one's self. One bottle will usually last for a year, as after the hair is once restored, occasional applications once in three months will insure against grey hairs to the most advanced age.

The Restorer Reproduces and the Hair Dressing Cultivates and Beautifies, Principal Sales Office, 198 Greenwich Street, New York City. August 1, 1867.

or ZYLOBALSAMUM. It is essential to use with the Restorer, but the Hair Dressing alone often restores, and never fails to invigorate, beautify and refresh the Hair, rendering it soft, silky and glossy, and disposing it to remain in any desired position.

FOR LADIES AND CHILDREN, whose hair requires frequent dressing, it has no equal. No lady's toilet is complete without it. The rich glossy appearance imparted is truly wonderful. It cleanses the Hair, removes all dandruff, and imparts to it a most delightful fragrance. It will prevent the Hair from falling out, and is the most economical and valuable Hair Dressing known. Millions of bottles sold every year.

A Valuable Freehold Property FOR SALE! ONE TO TWO PILLS are enough at any time for any man to take if the pills are made of pure, unadulterated drugs. MAGGIE'S PILLS and SALVE are superseding all the stereotyped physics of the day, because they are made of the finest materials in the laboratory, and never fail.

HEAR WHAT IS SAID: "Dr. Maggill, your pill has rid me of all biliousness." "No more noxious doses for me in five or ten pills taken at a time. One of your pills cured me." "T. Knox Doctor, My headache has left me. Send a other box to keep in the house." "After suffering torture from Bilious Cholice, two of your pills cured me, and I have no return of the malady." "Our doctors treated me for Chronic Constipation, as they called it, and at last said I was incurable. Maggill's pills cured me." "I had no appetite; Maggill's Pills gave me a hearty one."

FOR DISEASES OF THE Kidneys, Retention of the Urine, &c., Maggill's Pills are a perfect cure. One dose will satisfy any one.

FOR FEMALE DISEASES, Nervous Prostration, Weakness, General Lassitude, Want of Appetite, Maggill's Pills will be found an effectual remedy.

MAGGIE'S PILLS AND SALVE are almost universal in their effects, and a cure can be almost always guaranteed. Each box contains twelve Pills, one Pill in a dose.

All orders for the United States must be addressed to J. Haydock, No. 11 Pine street, New York.

Patients can write freely about their complaints, and a reply will be returned by the following mail. Write for Maggill's Treatment of Diseases. COUNTERFEITS! COUNTERFEITS!—All readers of this paper are warned not to purchase Maggill's Pills or Salve, unless the name of J. Haydock, Proprietor, in addition to the name of Dr. Maggill is on the engraved slip surrounding each box or pot.

"Your box of Maggill's Pills cured me of noises in the head. I rubbed some salve behind my ears and the noise left." "Send me two boxes; I want one for a poor family." "I enclose a dollar, your price is twenty-five cents, but the medicine to me is worth a dollar." "Send me five boxes of your Pills." "Your pills are marvellous." "I send for another box, and keep them in the house." "Dr. Maggill has cured my headache that was chronic." "I gave half of one of your pills to my babe for cholera morbus. The dear little thing got well in a day." "My nausea of a morning is now cured." "Let me have three boxes of your Salve and Pills by the return mail." "Sold by all respectable dealers in medicine throughout the United States and Canada, at 25 cents a Box or Pot. AVERY, BROWN & Co., Halifax, N. S., May 29, 1868. Sole Agents W. R. Startling, but True! THE dark ages of medication now draw to a close. Dr. Maggill's two grand specifics—PILLS and SALVE—have a ruck at the root of the cruel idea that makes it necessary for a man to pour masses of dead and effete drugs down his throat to aid the cure of his disease.
