Don H. Jupp

Ottawa, 1964.
I wholeheartedly commend to all road building and heavy construction firms the fullest possible co-operation in this important national campaign.

The necessity to reduce accidents in our industry and eliminate the injury and suffering of construction workers is a matter of prime concern. To this is coupled the necessity of decreasing the needless and wasteful expenditures of construction dollars thereby effecting a reduction in construction costs and in workmen's compensation rates.

The generation of co-operation between labour and management is a matter of mutual interest, bringing about the realization that safe practices are good business practices which are to the benefit of all engaged in the construction industry.

There can be only winners in such a contest as this, and I urge you to support your provincial association in an all-out endeavour to eliminate accidents for the duration of the Competition, and then for the rest of the year. Go to it, and good luck in your efforts.

DONALD H. JUPP,
President
Canadian Construction Association
Ottawa, July 23, 1964.

Lester B. Pearson

I am most pleased that the success of the 1963 National Safety Competition, sponsored by the Canadian Construction Association, was such that the competition is being repeated this year and may become an annual event.

The fact that the industry in two of our Provinces achieved accident-free records for the duration of the 1963 competition has proved the value of such a campaign.

I am pleased to commend the Canadian Construction Association and the Provincial Roadbuilders' and Heavy Construction Associations on their initiative in organizing this most effective programme for the promotion of safety regulations and practices in construction. Anything which helps to provide more effective "on the job" safety for our construction workmen is well worth the effort.

My best wishes for even greater success in this year's competition.

LESTER B. PEARSON
Prime Minister
