

RECENT WEDDING

Wedding rings and vows were exchanged recently at the Church of Our Lady of Fatima, New Zealand, P.E.I. when Joyce Marion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Fisher became the bride of George Lamont, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lamont, York Point. Rev. W. A. Keefe was officiating clergyman. The bride was attended by her cousin, Jessa Mallard, and her brother, Kenneth Fisher was best man. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, following which the couple left on their honeymoon. The newlyweds are residing in York Point, P.E.I.

MARY HAWORTH

Correspondents Take Issue With Self-Pitying Widows

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Your reply to GC, the widow writing her Master's thesis on "The Communication of the Problems of the Widowed" was a gem. As you say, the problems of the widowed shouldn't be isolated, categorically, from the generalities of human trials, as if they were cast into outer darkness, somewhat set apart from the mainstream of the human race. What makes GC think that a widow's loneliness is unique? She could get a lot of mind-strengthening material on that score from persons who are separated and or divorced through no choice of their own. As for her smug little church organization of widows and widowers who share the same creed, for whom she edits a newsletter, why don't they include divorced persons in their rarefied company. And, inasmuch as such church groups are simply the equivalent of matrimonial bureaus, why not include spinsters also? They are human too, alone to all intents and purposes, with problems not unlike those of the widowed. GC might get closer to reality by changing the title of her projected thesis to "The Communication Problems of the Left-over Female in a Man's World." Problem is: We outnumber the males! E.L.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Here is a message for GC, the widow who asks help in compiling a reading list on the "problems of the widowed" on which subject she is writing her Master's thesis.
