Progress Slow In Cuban Crisis

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

UNITED NATIONS (CP)— The United States emphasized its wish for a "speedy" solution of the Cuban crisis but progress appeared slow and basic U.S. and Soviet positions unchanged.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson conferred with Acting Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations for one hour and 45 minutes, after which a UN spokesman said the general feeling was that some progress is being made.

Stevenson told reporters somewhat cryptically: "I am hopeful that we can solve the problem, but this would be a triumph of hope over experience."

A strained silence still was being maintained officially over Cuban-Soviet proposals a UN spokesman said were presented to Thant Tuesday by Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov of Russia and Ambassador Carlos Lechuga of Cuba.

Stevenson said he had not yet received the proposals although he had a lengthy meeting with Kuznetsov Tuesday after the Russian saw Thant with Lechuga.

SOURCES SILENT

Neither U.S. nor UN sources would discuss the proposals which were unofficially understood to be based on Premier Castro's five - point demands, including U.S. withdrawal from the Guantanamo naval base.

NOT FOR BURNING

Insecticide containers should not be burned indoors because fumes they release could be dangerous.
