The Exhibition at St. John.

The most noticeable exhibit at St. John was the large display of manufactures made by manufacturers in that and other cities in Canada. Full evidence of the progress being made in Canada in all branches of manufacturing was displayed in Machinery Hall (which was located in the basement of the Exhibition Building); and when the different machines were all in motion, the "hum" so often referred to in derisive terms could be heard on every side.

On entering the Exhibition Grounds one of the first things to attract attention is the patent turnstiles, made by the firm of W. F. and J. W. Myers, of St. John, N. B. These turnstiles (of which there are four at the Exhibition grounds) have a clockwork attachment, by which every person who passes through is registered, and they form a complete indicator of the number of visitors who patronize the Exhibition. Entrance for exhibitors and others who have passes is provided at a different place, and in this way the managers have no difficulty in checking the numbers who pay to visit the Exhibition.

Passing into the grounds, and up the long flight of steps that lead to the first floor of the Exhibition building, on entering you first see the exhibits from Manitoba and British Columbia. These exhibits have already been described, and are fully as comprehensive as stated. The immense size of the forest trees of British Columbia is shown by the boards 4 feet wide, and the block of spruce pine 3 feet square, that occupies a central place in this section. The grain, grasses, roots and vegetables and other productions of the Prairie Province are tastefully displayed, but are no better than those from that Province shown at Charlottetown last year.

Perhaps the most interesting exhibit on this floor is the one from Trinidad. Nearly opposite the main entrance, on a triangular space, the Trinidad exhibits occupy a considerable amount of room. Here are specimens of the native woods of that tropical island, many of them of exceeding hardness and capable of taking the finest polish. There are samples of plantain, cassava and bread fruit meal; arrow-root, ground rice and also coconuts in the shell and prepared for market. The productions of Trinidad are evidently numerous and valuable, and the exhibit made at St. John will turn the attention of our grocers to that Island. A large exhibit is made by Dr. J. G. B. Siebert of Trinidad, of his prepared bouquets; and spices, jellies, amiatto coconut oil and other tropical preparations are tastefully displayed. Samples of sugar and other canes are shown, and also some stuffed animals and birds. Altogether, the Trinidad exhibit was most interesting.

It is impossible to go on and enumerate all the other exhibits shown on this floor. Every inch of space is taken up with something, and all that can be said is that the display of many of the articles was highly creditable to the people of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

The display of fruit, however, was disappointing. For one thing it was not tastefully arranged, being simply placed on white delft plate on a flat table, and no means were taken to prevent the dust—raised by the thousands of feet constantly treading the floors of the Exhibition building—from settling upon it. The bloom of the apple was hidden under this covering of greyish dust, and the effect of the exhibit was destroyed.

Roots and vegetables were of a fairly good quality, but not numerous; and here again the manner in which they were shown detracted from, rather than added to, the effect. Potatoes shown in bushel baskets do not look nearly so well as if exhibited in neat boxes, such as provided in the Charlottetown building.

Butter was shown in tubs, crocks and glass bottles; but was no better than what is shown at Island fairs. The exhibit from P. E. Island was fairly successful, although the best prizes in the general competition did not go to that Province.

The show of flowers, ferns, coleus and ornamental and flowering plants occupied considerable space; but when seen by your correspondent had lost its pristine bloom, and appeared to have rather a faded appearance.

Turning from the productions of nature to the handwork of man, a marked difference could be seen. Here everything was in apple-pie order. Skillful attendants, with chamois leather and feather dusters, kept everything bright and shining; and nothing further was necessary to show that St. John is the centre of a manufacturing and labor-employing population. All the principal manufacturing firms in the city had exhibits from their stores and warehouses. The Portland Rolling Mills showed bar iron, mill supplies, car wheels, shafting and many other productions in iron and steel. S. R. Foster & Co. had every size of nail from a carpet tack to a large spike. The Burrell-Johnson Company, of Yarmouth, exhibited their manufactures, which are too well known to need description. F. W. and J. W. Myers had ships' pumps and steering gear for vessels, and many other samples of heavy hardware. Machines were shown by Stevens, Hamilton & Co., of Galt, Ont., John Bertram & Sons, of Dundas, and Cowan & Co., of Galt. The shingle machines of the Dunbar Company were shown by Messrs. McFarland, Thompson and Anderson, of St. John, who also had a large exhibit of other goods in their line. Some of the above were shown in the basement, where the machinery was in operation, it being all driven by a large engine situated just outside of the Exhibition building.

Among the agricultural implements in operation that attracted attention was Clokey's Patent Centre Out Steel Mowing Machine. It seemed to be an improvement on any of the former hay cutters, as it has a direct centre cutting gear driven by the outside rim of the driving wheels which are constructed differently from any formerly made. The price I understand is $80 to the farmers on time, and less for cash. None of these machines have been sent to P. E. Island yet; but will likely be introduced next year.

Straying out of the grounds where other agricultural implements were on Exhibition but not in motion, I came across the new improved potato digger of Mr. J. McLaren, of Boston, Mass., (formerly of Brudenell River, P. E. Island,) which seemed to be attracting a great deal of attention from those present. Mr. McLaren says that his machine is the only one patented that can dig, clear the tops and sort the potatoes into a box, and is to take his machine back to the Mechanics Fair in Boston as soon as the St. John Exhibition is over. Mr. Manson, of Summerside also had one of Hall's threshing machines on the grounds, and when I saw it it was humming under the active feet of half a dozen or more boys, who thought it great fun, no doubt, to be climbing up the hill in this way.

The Drill Shed was filled with a grand exhibit of carriages and sleighs, painted and in the native wood; but I did not take the names of the exhibitors. No doubt, the advertising columns of THE EXAMINER are open to all who wish to claim the patronage of the Islanders.

Returning to the Exhibition Building, near the rear door you see a model of the Chignecto Ship Railway, which shows the way in which ships will hereafter travel on land. The model is beautifully constructed, and if the Railway itself will work as successfully, St. John will soon become the chief trade centre for P. E. Island.

I omitted mentioning the large press shown by the Cranston Brothers, on which exhibition copies of the St. John Progress are printed and freely distributed; and also the broom manufactory, where all the operations of making beams for the ladies were carried on in the midst of an admiring crowd.

Address and Presentation to Rev. J. C. McLean.

On Wednesday, a committee composed of Messrs. Peter McCourt, D. O'M. Reddin, Jr., and D. J. McDonald, waited upon the Rev. J. C. McLean at the Palace, and, on behalf of the members of St. Dunstan's congregation, presented him with a purse containing $100 in gold, and the following ADDRESS:

REV. DEAR SIR.—Before taking leave of you, on the eve of your departure for the important mission of St. Margaret's and East Point, we desire, on behalf of the members of St. Dunstan's congregation, to give expression to the high esteem in which you are held by every person in this community, and to assure you of the sincere regret your appointment to those missions has occasioned to this parish.

Three and a half years ago you commenced your labors amongst us, and during this comparatively short period you have discharged the duties of your sacred office with such zeal and energy, that to-day we recognize in your departure the loss of a devoted pastor, a true friend, and an earnest and impressive preacher. By your uniform kindness and courtesy, prudence and unassuming disposition, you have endeared yourself to us all, and you can rest assured that wherever your lot may be cast we shall always cherish a loving remembrance of your pastorate in Charlottetown; and our united prayer will ever be that you may long be spared to fill the exalted position in which Providence has placed you.

Wishing you the most abundant success, and asking to be remembered in your prayers, we respectfully request you to accept the accompanying purse as a small token of our respect and esteem.

Father McLean made a short verbal reply, in which he expressed his hearty thanks to St. Dunstan's congregation, and referred feelingly to the many acts of kindness shown towards him during his pastorate in this city. He had, he said, always endeavored to do his duty, and he rejoiced to know that his efforts had been appreciated.

The rev. gentleman has also received many handsome presents from personal friends, and a valuable clock and dinner set, the gift of the ladies of St. Vincent de Paul and other societies.

Father McLean left town to-day for St. Margaret's.

ADDRESS.—Previous to his leaving Souris for the Far West, Mr. H. C. Brownell was presented with an address by Orient Lodge, A. F. & A. M., to which he made an appropriate reply.

LARGE YIELD.—The Wolfville Acadian says: Mr. Joseph Jones, of this place, picked 13 barrels of apples from one of the gravenstein trees in his garden.

Dyspeptic.—Is not a palliative, but a cure; it first relieves, then controls, and finally entirely subdues the irritation and inflammation of the stomach that causes indigestion and dyspepsia.

BURNED TO DEATH.—Last Sunday week a little four year old daughter of A. H. Hurlbert, of East River, Yarmouth, came to her death under very sad circumstances. During the temporary absence of her mother, the children got some paper and matches and were playing with the fire they were making, when the child's clothing caught fire. The father and grown-up son sprang from their beds to her assistance and got what remains of clothing there was on her off. A doctor was sent for and dressed the burned flesh, but she only lived about eight hours.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by mothers for children teething for over fifty years with perfect success; it relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain; and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. sept 18 90 July 10 wky
