Junior Vics In 6-3 Victory Over Knights To Threaten For Lead

Behind the four-hit pitching of Frankie Currie, the Junior Vics last night moved within a game of the league-leading Knights of Columbus when they defeated the latter 6-3 at the Memorial Field diamond before a large crowd of fans.

The winners opened the scoring with a tally in the top half of the first inning but the Knights came back in their half of the same frame when they scored two runs. The game was tied up a half inning after when the Vics scored another singleton. The Knights took a 3-2 lead in the last half of the fourth but the Vics came back to tie up the game at three-all in their half of the fifth inning. In the last inning, the sixth, the winners scored their margin of victory when they counted three times on three hits.

Currie, besides allowing four hits, walked one but hit three and whiffed six K. C. batters. Jackie Burke was touched for six hits by the Vics while walking four and sending eight back to the dugout via the strikeout route.

Longest hits of the game went to Willis Hennessey, Gus Flynn and Eddie Lund of the winners. Each had a triple to his credit.

IN THIS CORNER

Heading the main feature of a five-bout boxing card at the Summerside Curran and Briggs baseball diamond tonight, Harry Poulton, Island welterweight boxing champion, will face one of the toughest battles of his career when he tangles with Roger Whynot, former Canadian middleweight champion, in a ten-round, non-title contest.

The event will be the first open air boxing card to be held in the Province for a good many years and is expected to draw a large crowd of fight fans from all points. Supported by four good preliminary matches, the main go should be one that will pack plenty of action for a smart evening of boxing entertainment.

Credited as being probably the smartest boxer that the Island has produced in the past few years, Poulton has been making a name for himself in fist circles both here and other points of the Maritimes during the past three years or more, and this year alone has added a long list of victories to his credit. In fact Harry has been successful in cleaning up in his own division, that he is running out of good opponents in the welter bracket, and that is one of the reasons why he will be stepping out of his class tonight to meet the experienced and hard hitting Whynot.

Although many fans here feel that Harry will prove too smart for the Mahone Bay middleweight yesterday in the Knights of Columbus tennis tournament, Theresa Arsenault and Shirley McNally Cobey McCusker, here at the Forum on July 7th, others have the view that Whynot might be a little too rugged for the lighter Poulton. Those who saw Whynot perform here on July 7th don't need to be reminded of the fact that he can hit hard and is capable of absorbing all the punishment the other fellow has to offer, and still come back for more.

But like McCusker in that performance, Poulton will be a hard target to find, and it doesn't matter how much artillery an opponent can bring, he can't connect with the target. This is a big factor in Poulton's favor. He is shifty and hard to hit, and at the same time packs plenty of power with either hand and is capable of putting them in fast and often.

Both fighters are aggressive in their mode of doing battle, but are slightly different in their techniques. Whynot likes to get in close and rough it up with short, hard punching, while Poulton, although no slouch at infighting, prefers to do his gunning at long range and keep continually on the move. Which style will prove successful will depend on two main features as this writer's score card is concerned. If Poulton can keep Whynot at long range most of the time and not let him crowd him out, much he will likely outpoint the former middleweight titlist. But on the other hand, if the Mahone Bay boy gets in often enough at close range, then watch out for fireworks that is liable to end up in a knockout.

It is not yet mid-August, but hockey talk is in the air already. In fact it has been that way ever since early summer when local officials started talking about Charlottetown's re-entry into M. S. H. L. competition. Now that it is a concrete fact, with veteran Murph Chamberlain in charge of managing and coaching duties, there is much speculation concerning the set-up of the local squad, and what their chances are of holding their own in senior company.

We don't profess to know all the details yet, but things look promising from reports inside the official circle. To start with, Chamberlain is really hepped on the idea of running the gauntlet as best he knows how in putting the local Club into a winning bracket right from the start, and seems reasonably sure that he can obtain the type of player who can do the job.

Rumor has it at the moment, although there is no verification of

Horse Races Today At Montague And Kinkora

Island horse racing fans will have the opportunity of witnessing plenty of action and entertainment in the "sport of kings" when matinee meets will be held at both Montague and Kinkora tracks today.

With the scene of the Provincial harness horse racing circuit shifting to the Montague Raceway where a promising looking four event classified program will get underway at two o'clock, eastern fans will be no doubt flocking to that centre, while turning westward to Kinkora, another four-race program will commence there at the same hour for enthusiasts in that area.

Both programs are packed full of classy trotting and pacing entries and will be run off on the three-hour heat plan which is expected to come up with top-notch racing entertainment.

Florence Chadwick Sets Women's Record For English Channel Swim

DOVER, England, Aug. 8—(AP)—"Pretty Florence Chadwick, a 'desert mermaid' from San Diego, Calif., swam the English Channel today an hour faster than any other woman in history.

Shirley May France, a more-publicized entry from Somerset, Mass., failed for the second time in two years to complete the punishing grind—19 miles as the crow flies; 22 or more as the swimmer breathes the tide.

Florence splashed through the seaweed under Dover's chalk cliffs just 13 hours and 28 minutes after plunging into the water at Cap Gris Nez, France.

K. Of C. Tennis Tourney Results

In the only two matches held yesterday in the Knights of Columbus tennis tournament, Theresa Arsenault and Shirley McNally Cobey McCusker, here at the Forum on July 7th, others have the view that Whynot might be a little too rugged for the lighter Poulton. Those who saw Whynot perform here on July 7th don't need to be reminded of the fact that he can hit hard and is capable of absorbing all the punishment the other fellow has to offer, and still come back for more.

Senior Men's Singles—6 P.M.—
Hughes vs. W. Ledwell; R. MacAlear vs. H. Power.
Ladies Singles—7 P.M.—Beverly Fitzgerald vs. Claire Griffith; S. Fitzclair vs. M. McGuigan.

In talks here with officials last Friday, Chamberlain didn't overlook his zest for junior and minor player development. He informed local officials that in connection with his duties here, he would do everything possible to lend assistance in coaching of high school and other teams, some of which he would do himself, and would make other club players available to the minor league groups who wish assistance and advice. That in itself is something worth looking forward to.

Falcons-Airmen Clash Tonight In Game Here

In the only game to take place in Island Physical Fitness Baseball League competition today, the Falcons and Summerside R.C.A.F. will clash over Memorial Field at 5:30 in the second last meeting between the two squads in the regular schedule.

The scheduled meeting between Abbies and Curran and Briggs teams, slated for Summerside today, has been postponed due to the boxing card to be staged this evening at the Curran and Briggs diamond, in which Harry Poulton and Roger Whynot will meet in the feature attraction.

With the regular schedule fast drawing to a close, the Falcons-R.C.A.F. meeting here tonight should be a wide-open battle as both teams come out at full strength to garner a victory that will bolster their present second and third place standings and consolidate their playoff positions.

Grand Circuit

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 8—(AP)—Tar Heel, a slick black colt owned by W. N. Reynolds, of Winston-Salem, N. C., won the third and final heat of the $14,480 Geers Stake for two-year-old pacers today, circling Bill Cane's triangular track in 2:03. It was the fastest time recorded this year by a juvenile of either sex.

Solicitor, also owned by Reynolds, won the first elimination heat, while Tar Heel took the second. Solicitor, a black colt driven by Del Miller, was second in the deciding heat.

Danny Direct, owned by Delphis Caron and Sons of Quebec City, won the $3,000 16-class pace by taking both heats in 2:02 and 2:02 1-2.

Another Canadian-owned horse Brewer's Gallon, from the stables of B. C. Cruickshank of Halifax, won the $3,000 18-class trot. Driven by Joe O'Brien of New Glasgow, N. S., Brewer's Gallon won both heats in 2:05 4-5 and 2:03 4-5.

John Paul To Compete At Sydney

John Paul of Rocky Point, the thirty-nine year old Indian distance runner, who has been coping off Maritime laurels in everything from six mile events to 26-mile marathons during his 18 years of competitive running, will leave here on Thursday for Sydney, Cape Breton, where he will compete in the annual 12-mile event there on Saturday.

Paul, who took the event in 1948 and again in 1949, will be trying for his third straight win that will give him permanent possession of the trophy award for the event. He also won a 26-mile race there in 1935.

From his home at Rocky Point, Paul has been working out daily since last spring over a twelve mile route along the South Shore Road, and is in tip-top shape for Saturday's race.

On his return to the Province, Paul will continue his training for the Maritime Championships to be held here on Labor Day as a member of the Abegweit track and field squad. He set a new record for Memorial Field last year in the six mile run at the Invitation Meet and won that event again this year on Dominion Day.

For Speed and Efficiency in the Water Fundamental Movements Must Be Mastered

The Red Cross Instructress, Miss Joan Wood, is performing a recovery with the right arm. The forearm is hanging as relaxed as a wet towel from the elbow. The hand should follow the elbow in this until the arm has passed the shoulder. Meanwhile the left arm is pulled, with bent elbow supporting the body while the recovery is made with the right. The body is held in a planing position by arching the back and cutting the water at the eyebrows. The legs are in a position of passing each other. Here the relaxed ankles will wobble sufficiently to pass each other. It is impossible to clash with your feet while your ankles and knees are relaxed. Once again note that the legs are pivoting at the hips.

The Combined Stroke
The most important feature of the combined stroke is relaxation. Every muscle that is not used is perfectly relaxed. Eliminate all unnecessary movements. The position of your body for this stroke should be straight, with the back slightly arched. Try to keep your hips from wiggling or your speed will be checked. Keep your shoulders as square as possible and even with each other. As you drive your hand down and back, have the power come from your shoulders muscles, not from the knees or hips. In the kick the down drive gains its power from the back muscles, the up beat from the stomach muscles. Keep your ankles relaxed and swing your legs from the hips. A rhythmic kick is essential. Concerning the breathing, when you turn to breathe do not turn your whole body, but merely your head sideways.
