NEW BRUNSWICK POLITICS.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]
St JOHN, N B, Sept 16.—Sir Charles Tappey left for Ottawa.
Mr. Blair is still in the province and is supposed to be in close political conference with the Provincial Ministers. The opinion is growing that Emmerson will dissolve the local house to escape inevitable trouble at the next session.

THE CAMPFIRE

"Men build fires in various places to cook their coffee by or to make themselves warm or for company's sake," said a civil war veteran, "and any fire is likely to be more or less a gathering point, but I suppose that the fire to which the name of campfire properly belongs, the campfire of song and story, is the cook's fire at the end of the company street, built on the ground, under a pole supported at the ends by crocheted sticks driven in the earth and from which the camp kettles are suspended. This was the gathering point of the company.
"Men did not always stand about the campfire. It depended upon circumstances and on the weather. They met here, of course, at mealtimes, and there were times when men would stand around the fire and smoke and talk, and then it might be that the men would keep their tents, playing cards or smoking there, or mending their clothes, or polishing up their accoutrements, so that there were times when the fire was quite deserted or when perhaps there might be seen there a solitary figure, a man who had come to light his pipe.
"But, though it might be deserted, the fire still burned. Sometimes on cold and windy nights the wind would blow it about and scatter it, and sometimes, when it was no longer attended, the rain would put it out black, but there was usually a living fire there by day and a bed of embers by night, and here was the soldier's hearthstone."—New York Sun.

HUMBLING THE CRUEL TURK.

Had to Give in to the British.

THE RINGLEADERS OF THE RIOTS ARRESTED

And are to be Tried by an International Commission.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

CANDIA, Crete, Sept. 16.—An aide-de-camp of Djonad Pasha boarded the British flagship yesterday and announced that he had an important communication for the admiral.

He said that thirty-nine houses from which the British troops had been fired on had been demolished, and that one hundred and thirteen ringleaders of the disturbance had been arrested.

He added that the embassies of the powers, in deference to the request of the Sultan, had agreed that the prisoners would be tried by an international commission.

This alleged decision of the embassies does not accord with the demands made by the British admiral, and will increase the difficulties experienced in disarming the Mussulmans, and encourages them in the belief that the Sultan of Turkey still influences the embassies of the powers at Constantinople.

It is doubtful whether Great Britain will consent to include the outrages on her flag with the questions of pillage and massacre of Christians which is a purely international question.

LATER.

Fifty three of the ring leaders who had been arrested were delivered to the British Admiral and it was considered probable that all the terms of his ultimatum would be complied with, without resistance.

PARROTS ARE NEVER ORIGINAL

I have read of a father who would not let his children tell their dreams because there is in such narrative too great temptation to wander from the truth. Parrot stories are too often like dream stories—one-half true, and they are sometimes; plainly to any who knows the true talking power of these birds—made up entirely or greatly exaggerated. While the parrot has a certain unmistakable sense of humor, and is correspondingly wise, none of the various species is or ever was capable of the original wise and witty talk familiar to us in newspaper anecdotes.

In fact, the parrot is never original in speech. It is altogether imitative, and a bird that has never heard spoken words has surely never uttered a syllable.

But, judging from parrots' clever use of what they learn to say, it is almost certain that they come to know in a measure the meaning of the phrases they learn.—Charlotte Boner in St. Nicholas.

MANY IMPORTANT QUESTIONS.

One Subject to be Discussed Will be the Abolition of the Provincial Synod.

MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—Several important questions will be considered by the Provincial Synod of the Church of England in Canada which began its triennial session here to-day including the abolition of the Provincial Synod in so far as its work can be done by the General Synod, which is representative of the two ecclesiastical provinces of Canada and Rupert's Land, and is the highest body in the Church of England in the Dominion. It is felt that the Church is so well organized throughout Canada with diocesan Synods covering the entire field that the Provincial Synod can be done without. The synod would still preserve its identity, and would be called together for such purpose as the election of bishops within the ecclesiastical province. The resolution which will be submitted to the synod by Dr. Innes, Dean of Huron, provides for an alternation of the constitution that the synod shall meet at the call of the metropolitan, or of two bishops, or of the bishop and half of each class of delegates in any diocese.

The subject of the giving of religious instruction in elementary schools is to be discussed on a notice of motion given by the Rev. H. Symonds, and mission work will be discussed very fully.

A proposition will come before the synod to merge its Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society in the eastern section of the Permanent Missions Committee of the General Synod Question.

The synod is called upon by the Diocesan Synod of Toronto to make an authoritative declaration on the question of the remarriage of divorced persons, and this is expected to give rise to animated debate.

Prompt Returns and Ac's Sales.

We've been busy—night and day, getting these ready for you—not all here yet—but there's now a substantial assortment for your choosing—Every article personally selected by our own buyer.

Mantles and Jackets Maybe there's a woman in Charlotte-town that we can't please. Don't see how there can be though. Hundreds of newest jackets, of the latest and choicest cut—German and English make—are ready for you to-day. We simply can't tell all about them on paper.

Dress Fabrics Some of the handsomest things you've ever seen. One line in particular is a choice range of shades, in all wool Welsh Cheviot—51 inches wide, a handsome thing for tailor made suits, etc.

Then they are tweeds, and serges, lustres and crepons, reps and poplins, almost without number.

Up in the Millinery Room Miss McKeiver, has just returned from her extended visit to the leading millinery houses of Montreal and Toronto; brimful of new millinery ideas, she is ready for business to-day.

Handsome new hats, in felts and velvets, newest shapes, daintiest and choicest millinery trimmings—load every table and counter.

We Haven't Told Half, the story though. THE EXAMINER can't give us room, to tell all the pretty things.
