THE RESPONSIBLE DESPOT.

By J. B.

The King of Shunghi was an absolute prince, a despot; but he was much beloved by his subjects, whose welfare he at all times studied to promote. His was a Responsible Government of the purest kind. The good King acknowledged and felt his responsibility to the King of kings. It so happened, after many years of happy reign, that he found it necessary to increase the revenue for the public service; and, being averse to direct taxation, he was somewhat perplexed as to which would be the best plan! On conversing with one of his ministers on the subject—who had travelled in other countries—he told him that he thought a tax on spirituous liquors was considered a very popular plan for raising a revenue in the countries through which he had travelled. After a little consideration he resolved to try it. Up to this time there had been no intoxicating liquors in the Island, and in order to obtain a supply, he considered it better to commence distilling, than to send money out of the Island to procure spirits. Accordingly, he caused a Royal Distillery to be erected forthwith; a heavy duty was imposed on all the liquors that were sold with the profits arising out of the business, was duly deposited in the King's Treasury; and now his majesty had money in abundance for Roads Bridges &c. Business went on briskly for sometime, but before twelvemonths had elapsed, Drunkenness was found, to his sorrow and alarm, that drunkenness and other crimes prevailed as the consequences of the business. He therefore determined that efforts should be made to check the progress of the evil: that lectures should be given on the evils of drunkenness, and the necessity of temperance. Finding, this had not the desired effect he then made drunkeness a crime punishable by law with fine and imprisonment as the case might require; but it was soon found that all this was of little avail, for ever and anon reports came to his Majesty of fatal accidents by drowning, by intoxication, &c. The good King became very uneasy, and knowing that he would, if he continued the business, be accountable for all the murders and other crimes committed by the business, resolved to give it up altogether. He sent for the minister who had recommended the measure —sharply reprimanded him for giving but a one-sided view of the business, and said, that a revenue should never be raised in his dominions at the price of the blood of his subjects. He then ordered him to go instantly to the distillery, to discharge all the workmen, and throw all the poison into the sea, which was done without delay, and the Island had rest.

After he had witnessed the prosperity of his people for many happy years, this much beloved Ruler died, and his son assumed the reins of Government. About this time a company, consisting of one hundred, was formed, for the purpose of resuming the trade in Distillation, if they could obtain from the King a "charter" conferring upon them the exclusive privileges, which, on application to his Majesty, they succeded in getting, by paying a large sum into the public chest. These gentlemen were quite aware of the evils which had arisen out of the business in former years; but as they hoped that as the people were now better informed, such calamitous circumstances would not again occur; and, moreover, if evil to some extent did follow, the responsibility, as they judged, would not —as in the former case—attach to any one individual, but would be equally shared by the whole Company, so that it would be but trifling. So they purchased the "Royal Distillery" which was still standing, and went to work. As they were respectable persons, of course they would not retail, but supplied all that wished for that purpose and thus did an extensive business. After some time, reports came in, of various disasters through intoxication which for a time the company were willing to believe false. But it so happened that several of them were called upon to attend a "Coroner's Inquest," at which it was clearly proved that the poor victem had come to his death by drinking their distilled poison! The feelings of these gentlemen on the occasion, we may easily conceive not to be envied—the matter was much talked of among the company who, generally speaking, were kind-hearted men, not past feeling: as, with a few exceptions, although they sold intoxicating liquors, they drank comparatively little themselves. At length, a meeting of the whole company was convened. After ascertaining, as correctly as they were able, how many families had had their peace destroyed, and how many lives had been snatched by their business, they entered into a long and serious discussion as to what was best to be done. At length one of the company arose, and said, "Mr. Chairman, after the strict and impartial investigation of the matter which we have had, it must appear to every gentleman here that one per cent" of the responsibility connected with this traffic is too much for any one man to take upon himself. I therefore beg leave to move the following Resolution, viz.—that this company be increased to the number of one hundred." Some desultory conversation followed, when the Chairman addressed the company as follows: "Gentlemen,—our reasoning upon this question from the first has been fallacious and unsound! If this company were increased to the "square" and the "square" to the "cube" each one would still be responsible—not for a part only—but for all the evils arising out of the traffic!" There was a solemn pause and the resolution was withdrawn. The chairman then inquired if there was any Resolution to be brought forward whereupon a gentleman long gentleman arose and said, Mr. Chairman,—I have long had painful misgivings concerning the propriety of continuing in this business, and have at length come to the deliberate determination not to hinder away my peace of mind nor jeopardize my salvation, for all the money to be got by it. I beg leave to move the following Resolution" "That from irresistible evidence of the enormous evils, arising out of the Liquor traffic, we now renounce it altogether." The motion was carried almost unanimously their being only three exceptions—three men, whose cadaverous appearance sufficiently accounted for their conduct. Another Resolution was then moved and carried by the same majority "that the King should pass an edict prohibiting the Liquor traffic, in every form, in future," which I am happy to say his Majesty complied with.

Tax question "why printers did not succeed as well as brewers?" was thus answered. Because printers work for the head, and brewers for the stomach, and where twenty men have stomachs, but one has brains.

Milk.—A Syphon for dairymen is now in use in Scotland, by means of which the milk is drawn away from the cream, instead of skimming the cream off the milk.

Ma," said a young lady to her mother, the other day," what is emigrating?" "Emigrating, dear, is a young lady going to Australia." "What is colonizing, ma?"—"Colonizing, dear, is marrying there and having a family." "Ma, I should like to go to Australia."

"Oh, what a sad reflection," as the looking glass said to the drunkard.

To the Electors of Charlottetown and Royalty.

GENTLEMEN,—

I SOLICIT the honor of representing you in the new House of Assembly about to be chosen.

Should you again invest me with that office—one which different circumstances now render of more importance to you than at any former period of the many years I have been entrusted with it—I shall endeavour to discharge its duties with that zeal, intrepidity and self-disinterestedness which should ever distinguish a Representative of the people.

I am, Gentlemen, your humble servant,

EDWARD PALMER.

Charlottetown, June 13th, 1853. 1&A

To the Electors of the First District of Queen's County.

GENTLEMEN:

SINCE accepting your invitation to come forward as a Candidate for your suffrages, I have visited a considerable part of the District, and I feel thankful for the kind manner in which I have been received and for the very general promises of support tendered me. At the time I commenced my canvass, I knew not what New London intended doing, whether they would nominate a Candidate or not; but that end of the District or not, so that I had to canvass for myself alone. They have now a man in the field—Mr. John McLeod—the New London people having engaged to support me, with the understanding that my friends would support Mr. McLeod. I am aware that a few of my friends have promised to vote for Mr. Coles, as well as myself; but I would, and I keep you, promises, and vote as you have engaged; but believing, as I do, that a large number of my supporters at this end of the District, who have promised their second vote, but have expressed their determination not to support Mr. Coles, I now solicit them to give it to the New London Candidate, and on no account to give me a plumper, but divide with Mr. McLeod. Our prospects are good; and as no one blames Mr. Coles for trying to get Mr. Laird supported, let us not blame him for doing what I can for Mr. McLeod. It is nothing but right that the other end of the District should have its Representative. We pledge ourselves to take no public Office, and to keep the Assembly as free from Office-holders as possible, and so purify Responsible Government. If eight or ten members of the Assembly are Officers, it will be in a manner impossible to call them to account as that of which we have lately got clear of. Let us stand by each other, and the victory is ours.

Your Obedt. Servt.

GEORGE BEER, jnr.

Charlottetown, June 25, 1853.

To the Electors of the Second Electoral District of Prince County.

GENTLEMEN;

I AM induced, from the repeated solicitations of many of the most respectable influential Electors amongst you, to offer myself as a Candidate for your Suffrages at the approaching Election.

My object in thus coming forward, is to make my intentions public through this medium is, because I have hitherto declined, when requested by many of you, to offer myself.

I may be permitted to say, that I believe I am individually acquainted with you all, and am satisfied that you are aware that it is not from any selfish or pecuniary motive that induces me to come forward.

As a native of the Colony, and one whose interests are inseparably connected with your own, it would be a highest state of ingratitude to my country and prosperity. And, be assured Gentlemen, should you honor me with your confidence, nothing I trust on my part shall be wanting to advance the true interests of the Colony, and this my district particularly.

I am, Gentlemen, truly yours,

JAMES CAMPBELL.

Saint Eleanors, May 23, 1853.

To the Electors of Georgetown and Royalty,

GENTLEMEN,—

ENCOURAGED by the cordial promise of support which I have received from many of you, I now offer myself as a Candidate for your suffrages at the approaching General Election.

Although I hold the office of Attorney General, I am unable to perceive why that should render me incompetent to represent you faithfully and independently; on the contrary, if returned by you, it is my determination to do so on all occasions; and whilst I shall be prepared to advocate all sound liberal measures, calculated to benefit the whole community, I shall feel it to be an especial duty to use any legitimate influence which my position may afford me, to advance the local interests of Georgetown and Royalty.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,

Your Obedient Servant,

JOSEPH HENSLEY.

June 16th, 1853.

To the Electors of Georgetown and Royalty.

GENTLEMEN,—

I AM induced to offer myself as a Candidate for your suffrages at the approaching General Election, in consequence of the many generous offers of support which I received from my friends during my recent visit amongst you. I am no Office-holder, and therefore I consider you farlessly and independently, without being shackled in my votes by the undue influence of the Government. The true interests of the whole country will never be studied or cared for, so long as the popular branch of the Legislature is compose of greedy Officials, who are bound hand and foot to the Government, and who, on every measure, without consulting the views of their Constituents upon the subject. Under such a despotic system, a Member of the House of Assembly is not the People's servant but the Government's willing slave. Should I obtain, for the third time, the distinguished honor of being returned as one of your Representatives in the Colonial Parliament, rest assured I will be second to none in attempting to carry out all measures that may have the slightest tendency to advance the prosperity and local improvement of Georgetown and Royalty.

I remain, Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

June 10, 1853. T. HEATH HAVILAND.

To the Electors of the Second District of Queen's County.

GENTLEMEN,

AT the late call I am induced to come forward to solicit the honor of representing you in the new House of Assembly. Were I to consult my own personal feelings and wishes, I would forbear to do so, but the pressing solicitations which I have received from my old friends and supporters from every quarter of the District, prompt me to obey the call of duty.

I come before you resting upon my own individual character as a free man unconnected with all party influences, and desirous of promoting the interests of my native country. I feel satisfied that the system of Government, as at present in force in this Colony, has not,but your expectations, and am clearly of opinion that to prevent its working mischief, and to render it more acceptable to the public at large, the principle established in Canada, by which all officers connected with the Revenue and Collection of the Public Moneys are excluded from the Legislature, should be extended to this Island. I am also in favour of Reciprocal Free Trade with the United States, as I feel persuaded, that no measure is so well calculated to benefit our Farmers and open up the resources of the country. These are only a few of the objects which should receive the earnest attention of the Legislature; and upon the character of that House, in my opinion, will depend the future prosperity of the country, or otherwise.

If you should deem me worthy of your choice as a Representative, I trust my experience in a former House of Assembly will enable me the more efficiently to discharge my duty towards you. I remain, Gentlemen, Yours, very faithfully,

JOHN LONGWORTH.

Charlottetown, June 20, 1853.

To the Electors of the Second District of Queen's County

GENTLEMEN

AT the request of many of yourselves, whose opinions and judgment I highly value, I am induced to offer myself as a Candidate for your suffrages at the ensuing general Election.

Although born and bred amongst you, yet having hitherto moved in a private sphere, I feel it right to state freely my opinion on the present form of our Constitution. I am desirous to extend to the farthest every privilege which ought to be enjoyed by a British subject, and to protect and reward the honest industry of the people, by the extension and establishment of Free Trade with the United States, as well as with the surrounding Colonies. And while I am most anxious to support a Liberal system of Responsible Government, I am persuaded that, in carrying out the same, in its purity, most, if not all, those interested with the receipt or expenditure of the Public Revenue, ought to be excluded from the Legislature. These being the views which I have imbibed while living by my industry on my farm, I have only to add that, if honored by your support, so as to be returned one of your Representatives, I shall not fail to advocate such principles, for the improvement of your interests, to the best of my humble ability.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,

Your most obedient, servant,

ALEXANDER M'DONALD.

Glenroy, June 17th, 1853.

To the Electors of Charlottetown and Royalty.

AS a GENERAL ELECTION for Members to serve in Colonial Parliament will shortly take place, I am again induced to offer myself as a Candidate for the Representation of this my native Town. I have to rest my claims for a renewal of your suffrages on a recent trial of seven years, I enjoyed their second vote, but have expressed their determination not to support Mr. Coles, I now solicit them to give it to the New London Candidate, and on no account to give me a plumper, but divide with Mr. McLeod. Our prospects are good; and as no one blames Mr. Coles for trying to get Mr. Laird supported, let us not blame him for doing what I can for Mr. McLeod. It is nothing but right that the other end of the District should have its Representative. We pledge ourself to take no public Office, and to keep the Assembly as free from Office-holders as possible, and so purify Responsible Government. If eight or ten members of the Assembly are Officers, it will be in a manner impossible to call them to account as that of which we have lately got clear of. Let us stand by each other, and the victory is ours.

Your Obedt. Servt.

GEORGE BEER, jnr.

Charlottetown, June 25, 1853.

To the Electors of the First Electoral District of Queen's County.

HAVING been nominated, in my absence from the Island, at a numerous meeting of the respectable Constituency at the west end of the District, and strongly urged on my arrival at home, to allow myself to be put in nomination as a Candidate to represent them in General Assembly, I have, on mature consideration, deemed it my duty to respond to their call, and having, from a very extensive canvass, the most encouraging prospects of success, I beg leave most respectfully to solicit your suffrages.

If returned, my energies will be devoted to the promotion of the interests, whether of a moral or pecuniary nature, of the inhabitants of this my native Isle. The local requirements of the First Electoral District are fully understood by me, and at all times, have my best attention by aiding to exclude from the Assembly, all Officers who are appointed for receiving or collecting the Public Revenue.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,

Your Obedt. Servt.
