ELLEN'S DIARY

Success Is Never Final And Failure Never Fatal

For the one daughter of the house across the lane, this was Commencement Day. I was, as we could appreciate, all in a great day. We suspect that even when final goals have been reached, when young visions have at length become realities, those who were overjoyed, the graduates, are looking back to see how well they are doing. It is not that the graduates are looking back to see how well they are doing, but that the graduates are looking back to see how well they are doing.

MARY HAWORTH Teen's Summer Plans Worry His Step-Mother

Dear Mary Haworth: There is a difference of opinion in our family as to how you should spend your summer. I, taking a summer job as housewife and handyman, is a very good idea. He would be the youngest employee and would live on the premises.

The opening was brought to his attention by a school friend, 18, a senior, who is going back for his third summer there. But I don't feel that fact warrants my endorsement of the arrangement. Kim, however, my husband has approved it, after visiting the place and talking with the owner.

A general meeting of the Nursing Assistants of P.E.I. was held at Prince County Annex at Summerside on Tuesday. 50 members were present. Mrs. Myra Williams, president thanked Mrs. Sawler of Summerside for the invitation to hold the meeting there.

Mrs. Daniel MacKenzie, and Anna MacKenzie, Montague, leave this week for Boston, Mass., where Miss MacKenzie will take up a new position. While there, Miss MacKenzie will visit friends and relatives in Boston and Wallston. Before returning home she will attend the wedding of her nephew, Larry Acorn.

Mary Johnson of Montague, has been entertained prior to her marriage which took place Wednesday evening at the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Montague. Her nursing class mates held a shower for her at the home of Mrs. Denzil Hogg at Wilnot Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. John Glutch, Montague have returned home after spending the winter in Massachusetts. If the thought came as we rode along there might be a personal disappointment ahead for her, as there would surely be for some of the students, in that their hopes would be deferred, there could be another year. A failure would not mean world's end. After all, one of our favorite quotes in the book is "Success is never final. Failure never fails. It is courage that counts!"

Senator Elsie Inman is a guest at the home of her son Dr. G.S.A. Inman, Montague. Mrs. Blanche Macdonald was spent the winter in Boston, Mass., has returned to Montague where she will spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Vandor, of the fashion show, were guests of honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Vandor, of Montague recently. At which time the couple was presented with gifts.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy St. C. Currie, Tremont Drive, Rockingham and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ivan J. Harper of Charlottetown and the late Major Harper, Rev. E. C. Smith performed the ceremony and Mrs. Vera Trask played the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of imported pearl-de-laine made with a deep rounded neckline outlined with appliques of Guipure lace. The bodice was snugly fitted and flared to form a very full skirt.

Her shoulder length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a single organza rose, and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and stephanotis. The bride was attended by her sister, Sue Currie, as maid-of-honor and by Duona Draper, Rockingham, as bridesmaid. They were dressed alike in short, sleeveless, pearl pink nylon over taffeta dresses lined with appliques of Guipure lace. Their hairdresses were matching wedding band hats with short veils and they carried bouquets of pink carnations and white mums.

Stephen Harper, Charlottetown, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and usher, while Wallace Grant, Greenwood and Earl Bantliver, Armdale.

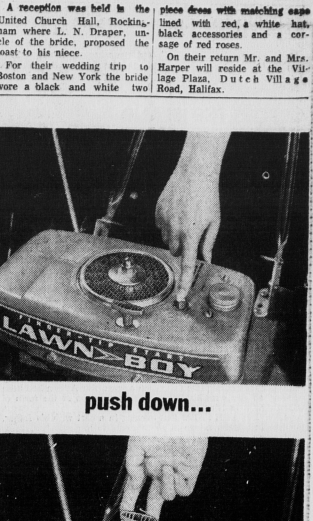

Mrs. Currie, mother of the bride, wore a light blue shantung sheath dress made with three-quarter length sleeves and floating back panel, a matching blue organza hat, pink stole, and a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother chose a French ripple knit sheath dress in foam green with matching shoes, a pearl hat and brown mink stole. A corsage of white roses completed her costume.
