

Discusses Dairy Production In P.E.I. This Season

Prince Edward Island is producing about 91,000 pounds of butter per week, more than is needed in the domestic market, Mr. W. R. Shaw, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, stated yesterday.

Mr. Shaw said, however, that some island creameries might be short and advised that in such cases they should get together and order on a carload basis.

Referring to cheese, Mr. Shaw said that there was no cheese of any kind, cheddar, cream or processed, that had any greater value than P. E. Island cheddar cheese.

Mr. Shaw added that this product was "pretty well sold to date."

The Canadian position of cheese, Mr. Shaw said, "indicates we have 45,000,000 pounds of cheese in stock as compared to 39,650,000 pounds in stock last year."

A decrease of 23.01% in the production of cheese from January to the end of October this year as compared to the same period last year in this Province was noted by Mr. Shaw.

The present wholesale price of butter is 63 cents as compared to 61-1/2 cents last year, while the average wholesale price of cheese this year was 30-1/2 cents as compared to 28 cents last year.

Mr. Shaw said he believed that the fluid milk trade would take up large quantities of whole milk or powdered milk. He warned against being too optimistic over such developments, however, adding that if they took place it meant large investments, new techniques and a tightening up on milk quality, which in turn would mean more equipment on the farms.

Herbert Williams, a member of a Shareholders' Protective Association, asked how $215,000 could be paid in commissions on contracts with the United States Government without the knowledge of the directors.

Harry Miller, chairman of the meeting, replied that he did not know of the payments until after they were made. Some $45,000 of the commissions had been recovered and "steps have since been taken to renegotiate a new contract to overcome the exorbitant commissions."

Price of Lead Down NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP) — The price of lead today was reduced 1-4 of a cent a pound to 14-1/4 cents, New York, by all major sellers.

THE CENTRAL GUARDIAN

This column is reserved for news of local interest, but advertising of a newsy nature may be inserted at five cents a word, strictly payable in advance.

COOK'S for Perfect Pictures. CORNWALL CONCERT tonight. HOWARD MacINNIS FOOTWEAR at 175 Queen Street.

CRASWELL for Better Photographs. CALENDARS with hand-colored island photographs.

NORTH TRYON Presbyterian Church service Sunday, November 23, 7:30 p.m.; Church School 2 p.m. Miss Mary A. MacKenzie, deaconess.

TRADE that neglected Piano in on a new radio-phonograph combination. Exceptional value, reg. $150 to $200.

HAVE YOU A PIANO in your home not in regular use? Why not trade it in on a new radio-phonograph combination? Miller Brothers Ltd.

50 DOZEN NECKTIES — English Foulards, Hand Woven Wools, in Stripes, Scotch Tartans, Solids, etc., 89c at Jack Cameron's.

BIBLE LECTURES on "Types in the Old Testament." Sons of England Hall, Richmond St., near Great George, Sunday evenings at 7:30. Rev. H. F. MacEwen, B.A., B.D.

COVEHEAD CHARGE. United Church services for Sunday, November 23 are: Stanhope 11 a.m.; Covehead 3 p.m.; Union Road 7:30 p.m. Rev. Thomas A. Wilson, minister.

ISLANDER DIES IN U.S. — Friends will regret to learn of the death of Angus (Lail) McInnis at Goshen, Indiana, in his 46th year of a heart attack.

CAR DAMAGED — A city car parked at the curb on Grafton St. near Weymouth St. was struck by an out of town car passing in the same direction shortly before noon yesterday.

RETURNS FROM HALIFAX — Rev. J. T. Irwin returned last evening from Halifax where he attended a two-day session conducted by Major Barrett, Command Chaplain, dealing with the work of the Reserve Force Chaplains.

POLICE COURT — Joseph Anthony Comeau, Brookfield, was charged in the city police court yesterday morning before Magistrate K. M. Martin with operating a motor vehicle without a licence and with faulty brakes.

CONTINUES SERIES — Evangelist E. P. Benoit, continuing his preaching series at Central Christian Church, spoke on the "Church of Christ" as his sermon topic.

HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION — Plans were made at the regular monthly meeting of the West Kent Home and School Association Wednesday evening to have a representative attend the meeting on Nov. 27 to organize a Provincial Home and School Association.

LUND — At Mt. Herbert, Nov. 19, 1952, Mrs. Frank Lund in her 57th year. Remains resting at her late residence. Funeral from Mt. Herbert United Church Friday afternoon, service starting at 2 o'clock. Interment in the church cemetery.

LUTEZ — Suddenly at the P. E. Island Hospital Nov. 20, 1952, Sterling Reginald Lutez in his 20th year. The remains were transferred yesterday evening to the Cutcliffe Funeral Home to the home of his sister, Mrs. Harold Arbing, 24 Alley St., where a short service will be held Saturday at 1 o'clock followed by service in Bay Fortune United Church at 3 o'clock. Interment in the church cemetery.

N.D. MacLean UNDERTAKER EMBALMER Charlottetown and North Wiltshire PHONE 149

Dr. MacKinnon Declares Quality And Not Quantity Counts In Education

Speaking of education, Dr. MacKinnon said, quality not quantity counts. "We should not be too enamoured by degrees and diplomas but rather by what kind of degree or diploma."

"Failures in school and in life are really caused by lack of ability and knowledge; rather they are the result of lack of training and the use of ability and knowledge," he said.

In speaking of the teacher, Dr. MacKinnon said: "No one can teach who doesn't know his subject; nor can one teach well if he knows only one subject and nothing else. He must be able to impart knowledge reasonably well and have character and common sense. Real teaching is training pupils to do for themselves. He must keep on teaching himself if he is to expect others to learn from him."

Continuing on the same theme, Dr. MacKinnon said, "the man who plays records on the radio is not a musician and the person who solves out text book information is not a teacher."

Referring to the school, he said, that it was an institution not a building. "It is a place where young people are helped by one another and by older people who know something of life," Dr. MacKinnon said.

Mr. Roy Smallman presided and introduced Dr. MacKinnon and the expression of thanks was tendered by co-chairman Mr. Frank Johnston. The piano tone of O. K. Presby and Frank Johnson provided music for the evening.

THE young people of today, are, on the whole, just as good as their fathers and mothers were in the good old days," Dr. Frank MacKinnon, Principal of Prince of Wales College, told members of the Alpha Y's Men's Club at their weekly meeting held at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

"Like older people," Dr. MacKinnon said the younger people "are attracted and influenced by many forces, and school education is only one among many. Sometimes, both parents and teachers expect too much of them, and, just as important, we, sometimes don't expect enough of them. It is just as bad to under-use their capacities as to overwork them; in any kind of education the extremes should be avoided."

The mental, moral and mechanical equipment of the young people should be developed. They want to learn to think and to do, not to be stuck with facts and ideas, Dr. MacKinnon said. They want direct and practical information and emotion. "These two are the most powerful forces in any human being or group, from the start along with the right direction."

"They want to develop these things by themselves," Dr. MacKinnon said. "There is no fun or stimulus for young people to have things handed to them."

"The same personal equipment, common sense, ability to think, learn and do, and imagination are required by young people either going to employment directly or to University."

The regular meeting of the Charlottetown Kinsmen Club was held last night at the Charlottetown Hotel. Wally Higgins was chairman with Reg Howard co-chairman. The speaker for the evening was Mr. Stanley McInnis of the National Film Board who spoke on the formation of a proposed Film Council for Charlottetown.

Mr. McInnis stressed the need of an interested group to correlate the film activities in the city. At the present time no body exists to provide the type of service that could be provided by a Film Council. Plans are for Mr. McInnis to meet with all interested organizations to inform them of the proposed Council and if enough interest is forthcoming a general meeting will be called to organize the Charlottetown Film Council.

Reg McLean was welcomed back to the club and two new members were introduced Clive Cudmore and Robert Jorgeson. Guests were Dr. Frank Burge, Harry Sear Jr. and Ed Martin.

Builder Of Diesel-Electric Locomotive Dies

MONTREAL, Nov. 20 (CP) — Dr. George Vladimir Lomonosoff, 76, Russian-born scientist credited with building the world's first diesel-electric locomotive, died here early today in hospital.

He had been living quietly in Montreal for the last two years and was in good health until he suffered a heart attack Monday.

Born in Gjatsek, Western Russia, Dr. Lomonosoff was an officer of the Imperial Guard and a graduate of the First Moscow Military School.

Water was a major problem when he was superintendent of motive power for the Tashkent Railway in 1909. He and professor Alphonse Lipetz designed a diesel locomotive as the answer to scarcity of water and oil.

They designed a 900-horsepower locomotive but Dr. Lomonosoff was transferred before the engine was built.

In 1923, Dr. Lomonosoff, working with a Russo-German development board, completed his diesel locomotive. The second locomotive was not built until 1925 at Dusseldorf.

Dr. Lomonosoff retired in 1927 to live in Britain, he came out of retirement to act as consultant to the British War Ministry on the shipment of lend-lease supplies to Russia during the Second World War.

be sure Perfection ICE CREAM is on your shopping list today!

CHARLOTTETOWN FUNERAL HOME

PHONE 508 Complete Funeral and Ambulance Service —Directors— R. E. Bradley J. W. McKenna

HOLMAN STORE NEWS

SHOP EARLY... This infallible rule for Christmas Shopping is, unfortunately, almost futile to make; but the reasons are obvious. Both shoppers and salespeople are fresher, have more time, more interest, more energy and more imagination. The tiring element of crowds is avoided; there is a wider selection of gifts; there is time to have gifts personalized. Packages to go out of town and out of the country suffer less damage in the mails and arrive on time when mailed early.

SHOP FROM A LIST... You need not have a list specifying what gifts to whom; but you should have a list of persons for whom gifts must be purchased. Be sure all names and addresses of sendees are correct.

Dr. MacKinnon Declares Quality And Not Quantity Counts In Education

Speaking of education, Dr. MacKinnon said, quality not quantity counts. "We should not be too enamoured by degrees and diplomas but rather by what kind of degree or diploma."

"Failures in school and in life are really caused by lack of ability and knowledge; rather they are the result of lack of training and the use of ability and knowledge," he said.

In speaking of the teacher, Dr. MacKinnon said: "No one can teach who doesn't know his subject; nor can one teach well if he knows only one subject and nothing else. He must be able to impart knowledge reasonably well and have character and common sense. Real teaching is training pupils to do for themselves. He must keep on teaching himself if he is to expect others to learn from him."

Continuing on the same theme, Dr. MacKinnon said, "the man who plays records on the radio is not a musician and the person who solves out text book information is not a teacher."

Referring to the school, he said, that it was an institution not a building. "It is a place where young people are helped by one another and by older people who know something of life," Dr. MacKinnon said.

Mr. Roy Smallman presided and introduced Dr. MacKinnon and the expression of thanks was tendered by co-chairman Mr. Frank Johnston. The piano tone of O. K. Presby and Frank Johnson provided music for the evening.

THE young people of today, are, on the whole, just as good as their fathers and mothers were in the good old days," Dr. Frank MacKinnon, Principal of Prince of Wales College, told members of the Alpha Y's Men's Club at their weekly meeting held at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

"Like older people," Dr. MacKinnon said the younger people "are attracted and influenced by many forces, and school education is only one among many. Sometimes, both parents and teachers expect too much of them, and, just as important, we, sometimes don't expect enough of them. It is just as bad to under-use their capacities as to overwork them; in any kind of education the extremes should be avoided."

The mental, moral and mechanical equipment of the young people should be developed. They want to learn to think and to do, not to be stuck with facts and ideas, Dr. MacKinnon said. They want direct and practical information and emotion. "These two are the most powerful forces in any human being or group, from the start along with the right direction."

"They want to develop these things by themselves," Dr. MacKinnon said. "There is no fun or stimulus for young people to have things handed to them."

"The same personal equipment, common sense, ability to think, learn and do, and imagination are required by young people either going to employment directly or to University."

The regular meeting of the Charlottetown Kinsmen Club was held last night at the Charlottetown Hotel. Wally Higgins was chairman with Reg Howard co-chairman. The speaker for the evening was Mr. Stanley McInnis of the National Film Board who spoke on the formation of a proposed Film Council for Charlottetown.

Mr. McInnis stressed the need of an interested group to correlate the film activities in the city. At the present time no body exists to provide the type of service that could be provided by a Film Council. Plans are for Mr. McInnis to meet with all interested organizations to inform them of the proposed Council and if enough interest is forthcoming a general meeting will be called to organize the Charlottetown Film Council.

Reg McLean was welcomed back to the club and two new members were introduced Clive Cudmore and Robert Jorgeson. Guests were Dr. Frank Burge, Harry Sear Jr. and Ed Martin.

CONTINUES SERIES — Evangelist E. P. Benoit, continuing his preaching series at Central Christian Church, spoke on the "Church of Christ" as his sermon topic.

HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION — Plans were made at the regular monthly meeting of the West Kent Home and School Association Wednesday evening to have a representative attend the meeting on Nov. 27 to organize a Provincial Home and School Association.

LUND — At Mt. Herbert, Nov. 19, 1952, Mrs. Frank Lund in her 57th year. Remains resting at her late residence. Funeral from Mt. Herbert United Church Friday afternoon, service starting at 2 o'clock. Interment in the church cemetery.

LUTEZ — Suddenly at the P. E. Island Hospital Nov. 20, 1952, Sterling Reginald Lutez in his 20th year. The remains were transferred yesterday evening to the Cutcliffe Funeral Home to the home of his sister, Mrs. Harold Arbing, 24 Alley St., where a short service will be held Saturday at 1 o'clock followed by service in Bay Fortune United Church at 3 o'clock. Interment in the church cemetery.

N.D. MacLean UNDERTAKER EMBALMER Charlottetown and North Wiltshire PHONE 149

be sure Perfection ICE CREAM is on your shopping list today!

CHARLOTTETOWN FUNERAL HOME

PHONE 508 Complete Funeral and Ambulance Service —Directors— R. E. Bradley J. W. McKenna

HOLMAN STORE NEWS

SHOP EARLY... This infallible rule for Christmas Shopping is, unfortunately, almost futile to make; but the reasons are obvious. Both shoppers and salespeople are fresher, have more time, more interest, more energy and more imagination. The tiring element of crowds is avoided; there is a wider selection of gifts; there is time to have gifts personalized. Packages to go out of town and out of the country suffer less damage in the mails and arrive on time when mailed early.

SHOP FROM A LIST... You need not have a list specifying what gifts to whom; but you should have a list of persons for whom gifts must be purchased. Be sure all names and addresses of sendees are correct.

DON'T SPEND MORE THAN YOU CAN AFFORD... The overly expensive gift hastily chosen can never replace the thought and care and time spent for the gift which costs less in dollars but more in affection.

Prince Street Home, School Ass'n Meets

The Prince Street Home and School Association met last night in the school auditorium. The guest speaker, Miss Gill, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on "Young Canada's Book Week."

The evening's program emphasized the fact that this is "Book Week."

The guest speaker, Miss Gill, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on "Young Canada's Book Week."

Delicious refreshments were served by the catering committee. The group is planning another interesting program for the next meeting which will take place in January.

EASTBOURNE, England — (CP) A club formed by Sussex business men for charitable purposes placed 15 barrels in the main shopping centre with the label "please spare a lump of coal for the old folk." Proceeds will go to elderly folk of limited means.

ship of the D.D.F. was a "recognition by industry of the place actors have in the development of our country."

One of the most important steps taken at Saint John, Mr. MacDonald said, was the formation of a committee to receive ideas and suggestions for future operations.

Envisaging a day when professional theatre will return to Canada, and when drama will become a worthwhile profession, he told the audience, "You can bring it about by supporting shows which come to this city."

Mr. MacDonald was introduced by Judge H.L. Palmer, who also spoke briefly about the Little Theatre and its future aims. It is hoped that there will be the necessary three entries to hold a regional drama festival here in January.

"Eros at Breakfast" was directed by Sterling Walker and George Anderson. Costumes were handled by Margaret Abbie, the script by Ethel Brown, and the hand properties by Iphigenie Arsenault. Others in the crew were Betty Holl, Miriam Matthey and J.A. Lawson, in charge of make-up. Fred Jones, sound effects and music, Basil Cloney, whose excellent handling of the imaginative stage decor received special praise from the adjudicator, and Peter Shama and George Kaye, in charge of lighting.

Reviews Festival History Mr. MacDonald reviewed briefly the past history of the Dominion Drama Festival, and speaking of the Festival held last winter at Saint John, he said that history had been made on that occasion, as it was the first time that a D.D.F. president had been appointed from outside Ontario. He also mentioned the much disputed move of approaching a national industry for financial support and said that to him Calvert Distilleries' sponsorship by Florine Evans.

In a brief adjudication of the performance, Mr. MacDonald complimented all the members of the cast upon their excellent performances. He praised the way in which the cast caught the spirit of effervescence in the play, and commended the directors upon the capability which was obvious in the production. He also commented upon the excellence of the lighting and sound effects, and make-up, and he had a special word of praise for the fine enunciation of the actors.

The reactions of these characters, following the announcement of Aristophanes, Mr. Davies' symbol of the type of intellectual snob frequently occurring in positions in the average university of today, that Mr. P.S. has fallen in love, provide an opportunity for the playwright to express many pungent and often amusing observations upon life today.

Crito, assistant to the head of the department of the solar plexus, was played by Eric MacGregor, and the department chief by William Greer. Aristophanes was ably portrayed by Tony Lawson, Parmeno, representing the heart, by Elmer Power, and Hepatica, from the liver.

Reviews Festival History Mr. MacDonald reviewed briefly the past history of the Dominion Drama Festival, and speaking of the Festival held last winter at Saint John, he said that history had been made on that occasion, as it was the first time that a D.D.F. president had been appointed from outside Ontario. He also mentioned the much disputed move of approaching a national industry for financial support and said that to him Calvert Distilleries' sponsorship by Florine Evans.

In a brief adjudication of the performance, Mr. MacDonald complimented all the members of the cast upon their excellent performances. He praised the way in which the cast caught the spirit of effervescence in the play, and commended the directors upon the capability which was obvious in the production. He also commented upon the excellence of the lighting and sound effects, and make-up, and he had a special word of praise for the fine enunciation of the actors.

The reactions of these characters, following the announcement of Aristophanes, Mr. Davies' symbol of the type of intellectual snob frequently occurring in positions in the average university of today, that Mr. P.S. has fallen in love, provide an opportunity for the playwright to express many pungent and often amusing observations upon life today.

Crito, assistant to the head of the department of the solar plexus, was played by Eric MacGregor, and the department chief by William Greer. Aristophanes was ably portrayed by Tony Lawson, Parmeno, representing the heart, by Elmer Power, and Hepatica, from the liver.

Reviews Festival History Mr. MacDonald reviewed briefly the past history of the Dominion Drama Festival, and speaking of the Festival held last winter at Saint John, he said that history had been made on that occasion, as it was the first time that a D.D.F. president had been appointed from outside Ontario. He also mentioned the much disputed move of approaching a national industry for financial support and said that to him Calvert Distilleries' sponsorship by Florine Evans.

In a brief adjudication of the performance, Mr. MacDonald complimented all the members of the cast upon their excellent performances. He praised the way in which the cast caught the spirit of effervescence in the play, and commended the directors upon the capability which was obvious in the production. He also commented upon the excellence of the lighting and sound effects, and make-up, and he had a special word of praise for the fine enunciation of the actors.

The reactions of these characters, following the announcement of Aristophanes, Mr. Davies' symbol of the type of intellectual snob frequently occurring in positions in the average university of today, that Mr. P.S. has fallen in love, provide an opportunity for the playwright to express many pungent and often amusing observations upon life today.

Crito, assistant to the head of the department of the solar plexus, was played by Eric MacGregor, and the department chief by William Greer. Aristophanes was ably portrayed by Tony Lawson, Parmeno, representing the heart, by Elmer Power, and Hepatica, from the liver.

Reviews Festival History Mr. MacDonald reviewed briefly the past history of the Dominion Drama Festival, and speaking of the Festival held last winter at Saint John, he said that history had been made on that occasion, as it was the first time that a D.D.F. president had been appointed from outside Ontario. He also mentioned the much disputed move of approaching a national industry for financial support and said that to him Calvert Distilleries' sponsorship by Florine Evans.

In a brief adjudication of the performance, Mr. MacDonald complimented all the members of the cast upon their excellent performances. He praised the way in which the cast caught the spirit of effervescence in the play, and commended the directors upon the capability which was obvious in the production. He also commented upon the excellence of the lighting and sound effects, and make-up, and he had a special word of praise for the fine enunciation of the actors.

The reactions of these characters, following the announcement of Aristophanes, Mr. Davies' symbol of the type of intellectual snob frequently occurring in positions in the average university of today, that Mr. P.S. has fallen in love, provide an opportunity for the playwright to express many pungent and often amusing observations upon life today.

Crito, assistant to the head of the department of the solar plexus, was played by Eric MacGregor, and the department chief by William Greer. Aristophanes was ably portrayed by Tony Lawson, Parmeno, representing the heart, by Elmer Power, and Hepatica, from the liver.

Reviews Festival History Mr. MacDonald reviewed briefly the past history of the Dominion Drama Festival, and speaking of the Festival held last winter at Saint John, he said that history had been made on that occasion, as it was the first time that a D.D.F. president had been appointed from outside Ontario. He also mentioned the much disputed move of approaching a national industry for financial support and said that to him Calvert Distilleries' sponsorship by Florine Evans.

Prince Street Home, School Ass'n Meets

The Prince Street Home and School Association met last night in the school auditorium. The guest speaker, Miss Gill, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on "Young Canada's Book Week."

The evening's program emphasized the fact that this is "Book Week."

The guest speaker, Miss Gill, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on "Young Canada's Book Week."

Delicious refreshments were served by the catering committee. The group is planning another interesting program for the next meeting which will take place in January.

EASTBOURNE, England — (CP) A club formed by Sussex business men for charitable purposes placed 15 barrels in the main shopping centre with the label "please spare a lump of coal for the old folk." Proceeds will go to elderly folk of limited means.

ship of the D.D.F. was a "recognition by industry of the place actors have in the development of our country."

One of the most important steps taken at Saint John, Mr. MacDonald said, was the formation of a committee to receive ideas and suggestions for future operations.

Envisaging a day when professional theatre will return to Canada, and when drama will become a worthwhile profession, he told the audience, "You can bring it about by supporting shows which come to this city."

Mr. MacDonald was introduced by Judge H.L. Palmer, who also spoke briefly about the Little Theatre and its future aims. It is hoped that there will be the necessary three entries to hold a regional drama festival here in January.

"Eros at Breakfast" was directed by Sterling Walker and George Anderson. Costumes were handled by Margaret Abbie, the script by Ethel Brown, and the hand properties by Iphigenie Arsenault. Others in the crew were Betty Holl, Miriam Matthey and J.A. Lawson, in charge of make-up. Fred Jones, sound effects and music, Basil Cloney, whose excellent handling of the imaginative stage decor received special praise from the adjudicator, and Peter Shama and George Kaye, in charge of lighting.

Reviews Festival History Mr. MacDonald reviewed briefly the past history of the Dominion Drama Festival, and speaking of the Festival held last winter at Saint John, he said that history had been made on that occasion, as it was the first time that a D.D.F. president had been appointed from outside Ontario. He also mentioned the much disputed move of approaching a national industry for financial support and said that to him Calvert Distilleries' sponsorship by Florine Evans.

In a brief adjudication of the performance, Mr. MacDonald complimented all the members of the cast upon their excellent performances. He praised the way in which the cast caught the spirit of effervescence in the play, and commended the directors upon the capability which was obvious in the production. He also commented upon the excellence of the lighting and sound effects, and make-up, and he had a special word of praise for the fine enunciation of the actors.

The reactions of these characters, following the announcement of Aristophanes, Mr. Davies' symbol of the type of intellectual snob frequently occurring in positions in the average university of today, that Mr. P.S. has fallen in love, provide an opportunity for the playwright to express many pungent and often amusing observations upon life today.

Crito, assistant to the head of the department of the solar plexus, was played by Eric MacGregor, and the department chief by William Greer. Aristophanes was ably portrayed by Tony Lawson, Parmeno, representing the heart, by Elmer Power, and Hepatica, from the liver.

Reviews Festival History Mr. MacDonald reviewed briefly the past history of the Dominion Drama Festival, and speaking of the Festival held last winter at Saint John, he said that history had been made on that occasion, as it was the first time that a D.D.F. president had been appointed from outside Ontario. He also mentioned the much disputed move of approaching a national industry for financial support and said that to him Calvert Distilleries' sponsorship by Florine Evans.

In a brief adjudication of the performance, Mr. MacDonald complimented all the members of the cast upon their excellent performances. He praised the way in which the cast caught the spirit of effervescence in the play, and commended the directors upon the capability which was obvious in the production. He also commented upon the excellence of the lighting and sound effects, and make-up, and he had a special word of praise for the fine enunciation of the actors.

The reactions of these characters, following the announcement of Aristophanes, Mr. Davies' symbol of the type of intellectual snob frequently occurring in positions in the average university of today, that Mr. P.S. has fallen in love, provide an opportunity for the playwright to express many pungent and often amusing observations upon life today.

Crito, assistant to the head of the department of the solar plexus, was played by Eric MacGregor, and the department chief by William Greer. Aristophanes was ably portrayed by Tony Lawson, Parmeno, representing the heart, by Elmer Power, and Hepatica, from the liver.

Reviews Festival History Mr. MacDonald reviewed briefly the past history of the Dominion Drama Festival, and speaking of the Festival held last winter at Saint John, he said that history had been made on that occasion, as it was the first time that a D.D.F. president had been appointed from outside Ontario. He also mentioned the much disputed move of approaching a national industry for financial support and said that to him Calvert Distilleries' sponsorship by Florine Evans.

In a brief adjudication of the performance, Mr. MacDonald complimented all the members of the cast upon their excellent performances. He praised the way in which the cast caught the spirit of effervescence in the play, and commended the directors upon the capability which was obvious in the production. He also commented upon the excellence of the lighting and sound effects, and make-up, and he had a special word of praise for the fine enunciation of the actors.

The reactions of these characters, following the announcement of Aristophanes, Mr. Davies' symbol of the type of intellectual snob frequently occurring in positions in the average university of today, that Mr. P.S. has fallen in love, provide an opportunity for the playwright to express many pungent and often amusing observations upon life today.

Crito, assistant to the head of the department of the solar plexus, was played by Eric MacGregor, and the department chief by William Greer. Aristophanes was ably portrayed by Tony Lawson, Parmeno, representing the heart, by Elmer Power, and Hepatica, from the liver.

Reviews Festival History Mr. MacDonald reviewed briefly the past history of the Dominion Drama Festival, and speaking of the Festival held last winter at Saint John, he said that history had been made on that occasion, as it was the first time that a D.D.F. president had been appointed from outside Ontario. He also mentioned the much disputed move of approaching a national industry for financial support and said that to him Calvert Distilleries' sponsorship by Florine Evans.

In a brief adjudication of the performance, Mr. MacDonald complimented all the members of the cast upon their excellent performances. He praised the way in which the cast caught the spirit of effervescence in the play, and commended the directors upon the capability which was obvious in the production. He also commented upon the excellence of the lighting and sound effects, and make-up, and he had a special word of praise for the fine enunciation of the actors.

The reactions of these characters, following the announcement of Aristophanes, Mr. Davies' symbol of the type of intellectual snob frequently occurring in positions in the average university of today, that Mr. P.S. has fallen in love, provide an opportunity for the playwright to express many pungent and often amusing observations upon life today.

Crito, assistant to the head of the department of the solar plexus, was played by Eric MacGregor, and the department chief by William Greer. Aristophanes was ably portrayed by Tony Lawson, Parmeno, representing the heart, by Elmer Power, and Hepatica, from the liver.

Reviews Festival History Mr. MacDonald reviewed briefly the past history of the Dominion Drama Festival, and speaking of the Festival held last winter at Saint John, he said that history had been made on that occasion, as it was the first time that a D.D.F. president had been appointed from outside Ontario. He also mentioned the much disputed move of approaching a national industry for financial support and said that to him Calvert Distilleries' sponsorship by Florine Evans.

Hungry Times Ahead, Says Island Missionary In China

The many relatives and friends of Rev. Cornelius Pineau,