

INTERESTING FACT.—Some time about the year 1780, a Wesleyan Methodist minister, in pursuance of his duties as an itinerant preacher, visited one of the wildest and most neglected districts in Ireland. He there found a youth, wild and unpolished as the surrounding scenery, just opening his eyes to the perception of spiritual things, and eagerly enquiring after the way of life. The minister took him by the hand, sympathised with him, instructed him, and led his footsteps into paths of righteousness and peace.

The man of God went his way to other scenes of labor and usefulness; the youth gave himself to prayer, and devoted all his leisure to study. Forty-three years passed away; and in one of the largest churches in the metropolis of England, a vast crowd were assembled around the bier of one who had by patient study attained an eminence of fame and honor that mankind only pays to literary greatness—it was the bier of the once uncultivated, unpolished youth. He had grown old in the Lord's house; his name had been given to fame, and her clarion had sounded it to the four winds, and they had carried it to the distant places of the earth. Nobles and mitred heads had sought his company, and found pleasure and profit in his conversation. The power of his words was acknowledged in remote regions of the globe, and his opinions appealed to for the settlement of controversies. But now he was gone. Suddenly, in robust health, and in the midst of his labours, the implements of his toil fell from his hands, and he was summoned from the field of labour to the home of his rest. Multitudes wept over his fall, and gathered around, anxious at least to bear a part in the rites of sepulture.

An aged man was in the pulpit. Furrows, long and deep, that time had made, were on his face; gray hairs, thin and scattered, were on his head. His venerable brow was clothed with quietness and peace; yet tears were in his eyes, and on his cheeks. He looked on the bier, sighed and was sad.

It was he, the man of God, who, half a century since, had found the silent occupant of the bier, a mourner in Zion, and led him on—a pilgrim to Emmanuel's land. The son of his young ministry was gone before him to the land of promise and of rest. His work was earlier finished; his reward sooner gained. Strange mystery of providence! But he had no complainings in his heart; and none on his lips! His thoughts were of the great white throne, and of him who sat upon it: the confounded earth, and the vanishing heaven. Visions of glorious reunion and eternal recompense were in his mind and his full heart was swelling with transporting hope. He exulted that God had so honored the ministry of his earlier years; he mourned that such a demand was made upon his ministry's later labors.

The living minister of that sad occasion, venerable for his years and his usefulness, the Rev. Henry More, still lives, a blessing to the Church of Christ; he who filled the crowded bier was the Rev. Adam Clarke, whose pious life, useful ministry and learned labors, have given to his name a deathless immortality.

There is a useful moral to be derived from the pulpit and the bier, to which all would do well to give heed.

A voice cries out from the pulpit: 'In the morning sow thy seed, and in the evening withhold not thy hand; for thou knowest not whether shall prosper, either this or that, or whether they both shall be alike good.'—So, Church Chronicle.

The Evangelical Clergy of the Established Church who have lately made Prophecy their study have formed themselves into a Society, and hold their meetings at the house of the Honorable and Reverend—Villiers (son of the Earl of Jersey), Bloomsbury, London.—The number of members is at present limited to fifty, consisting of a certain number of lay members and a certain number of clergymen. Of the former are Lord Mandeville, Sir George Rose, &c. &c., and of the latter the Hon. and Rev. Mr. Villiers, the Rev. Messrs. Bickersteth, Pym, Brookes, Macneil, Girdlestone, Grimshawe, the Rev. the Ordinary of Newgate, &c. &c.

THE REV. SYDNEY SMITH ON PUSEYISM.—'What is Puseyism, Mr. Smith?' 'Puseyism, Sir, is a system of posture and imposture—of circumflection and genuflection—of bowing to the East, and courtesying to the West—with a variety of other fooleries.'

THE AMERICAN FAMILY MEDICINE. THAT Mr. MOFFAT'S Life Pills and Phoenix Bitters have long since obtained the high and enviable distinction of a host of competitors, and that they acquired it solely by their inviolable and almost unlimited efficacy, without the usual aid of false puffery and pretensions, are well known to the public, and cannot be denied.—While very little has been said concerning these astonishing Life Medicines by the proprietor himself, and not more than was necessary to call the attention of the afflicted to a sure and speedy means of relief, their renown has rapidly flown from one individual to another, and from family to family, until they have long since become known in almost every town and village in the Union, as a wonderful and inestimable blessing. Voluntary and unsolicited testimonials of their absolutely astonishing efficacy, in diseases of the most dreadful and obstinate character, as well as in others of prevalent and ordinary occurrence, have been received by the proprietor from the persons they have cured from every section of the country, and still continue to be received in increasing numbers. It is with pride and pleasure that the proprietor refers the public to his 'MEDICAL MANUAL,' where a widely various selection of these testimonials is published, with the names and residence of the writers, because he has no hesitation in saying that the annals of Medical Science do not contain a greater number or variety of cures effected by any medicine known to the profession, or cures of a more frightful kind or of longer standing, coming as these testimonials do from the cured persons themselves, who certainly know best, from their own happy experience, whether they are cured or not. The evidence they afford of the pre-emptive and unprecedented efficacy of these grand remedies is perfectly irresistible, and commands rather than solicits the respect of the public. In addition to those already published, the proprietor is in possession of a vast accumulation of these personal certificates, demonstrating that his Life Pills and Phoenix Bitters are promptly and uniformly efficacious in Scrofula in all its hydra headed forms. Dyspepsia whether chronic or occasional, Rheumatism both acute and chronic, Jaundice and bilious and liver complaints, however distressing or complicated, Fever and Ague in all their varieties, and when quinine and all other specifics fail; Ague in all their varieties, (especially when the Life Pills are used as dinner pills, immediately before or after that meal) Piles even in cases of thirty years standing, Dropsy, Gout and settled pains in the breast, back, or organs, disease of the bladder and kidneys, bilis, tumours, and ulcers, Erysipelas, and all other eruptive diseases; Pleurisy, Asthma, Bronchitis, and other affections of the chest, lungs and mucous membrane; pimples, stains of the skin, and the foul unhealthy appearance of the complexion, arising from whatever cause, nervous or general debility, headaches, and giddiness, together with a vast variety of other maladies, in proof of the speedy and effectual cure of which by these medicines alone, the proprietor has hundreds, nay thousands of certified testimonials. Both the Pills and Bitters are mild and delightful in their operation, producing none of even the temporary prostrations and nausea occasioned by nearly all other medicines; and they can be administered with safety to young children, and females in the most delicate health. Prepared and sold by Dr. Wm. B. Moffat, 375 Broadway, New York. For sale also by the agents.—NEW YORK, MAY 20.

THE FAMILY LIFE MEDICINES. THE celebrated Life Pills and Phoenix Bitters, prepared and sold by Dr. Wm. B. Moffat, 375, Broadway, New York, may now be said to be the most respectfully established and extensively adopted family medicines in the United States. They have not only won the sanction and recommendation of all the candid and philanthropic portion of the medical profession, who have observed their inviolable efficacy in general derangements of the stomach and bowels, and their astonishing long effects in many varieties of acute and chronic disease, but who far better, these medicines have recommended themselves, and fully and fairly achieved the distinguished and now certainly pre-eminent position which they now occupy in public and domestic estimation. They are proved by their works, and make no appeals to vulgar credulity. If the proprietor were disposed to make an invidious comparison between these self-established medicines and any others, he might confidently assert and challenge contradiction that there is no medicine known to the medical profession, or named in their books, concerning which so many clear, unquestionable and conclusive evidences of usefulness and remarkable cures are recorded as those which he can adduce concerning the Life Pills and Phoenix Bitters. If it be admitted that sufferers are the best judges as to whether a remedy has relieved them and restored them to health and strength, then is the evidence in behalf of these medicines decisive and irresistible. Dr. Moffat is in possession of an immense accumulation of voluntary testimonials from respectable persons and families in all parts of the Union, far and near, who give their names and residence to the unsolicited statement that they have been completely and speedily cured of the following diseases, and of many others not here enumerated, by these Life Medicines alone, when other medicines had been long employed in vain, viz: Scrofula, in its most dreadfully advanced and destructive stages, when large portions of the flesh and bones of the face had been destroyed; Piles of five, ten, twenty, thirty and even thirty-five years standing; Rheumatism, both acute and chronic, of the most hopeless character; Turgescence of the Liver, and various other liver complaints; Bilious Cholera, and every conceivable variety of bilious affections; Marasmus Tabes, or Decline, and Marasmus Phthisic, or Consumption, in more advanced stages than any on record; Dyspepsia, in all its chronic and acute varieties, with its frightful train of distressing symptoms; Worms of all kinds, both in children and grown persons. Diarrhea, both serious and bilious; Costiveness, both habitual and occasional; Fever and Ague, in its three principal varieties, and intermittent and remittent fevers, of all kinds; Hypochondriac and other extremely complicated nervous affections, with nervous debility in general; Salt Rheum; Raining Scald; and eruptive diseases generally, including Eczema, Erysipelas or St. Anthony's fire, and scall, unhealthy complexion; Palpitation of the heart, and Determination of blood to the head, settled pains in the organs, limbs, back, head and side; affections of the bladder, kidneys, spleen, throat, and pleura; jaundice, dropsy and gout; together with those general affections of the system which arise from complicated causes.

The certificates of these cures are in the proprietor's possession, and will readily be shown to all who desire to see them. A small selection from them have been published in Moffat's Medical Manual, of which a new and enlarged edition is preparing for the press. The reason why these medicines, which in ordinary family use operate merely as mild and effectual laxatives, cure so great a variety of formidable diseases, that while as cathartics, cleansing the alimentary canal, and relieving the liver and the absorbent vessels of all impurities, they lay the foundation for the cure of all specific diseases, they are compounded of unique and unprecedented variety of choice and exquisite ingredients, some of which are almost unknown to the profession, which exert a specific action upon many complaints, without in the slightest degree affecting the general system, otherwise than as simple purifiers, when those complaints are not present. Both the Pills and the Bitters are mild and agreeable in their operations, causing neither prostrations nor nausea, and requiring neither confinement nor peculiar diet. Their effects are uniformly to produce an immediate sense of renovated health, and new life and vigour to both body and mind. They cannot be taken without benefit, and they should be procured both by individuals and heads of families, and constantly kept on hand not only as remedies but as preventatives of disease. They are prepared and sold wholesale and retail, by Dr. William B. Moffat, 375 Broadway, N. Y., and also by the AGENTS—NEW YORK MAY 30. COOPER & BREMNER, Agents for Prince Edward Island.

These valuable Medicines may also be had on application to Mr. George Farley, Seafortown, Bedeque; Mr. George Wigginton, Craupaud; and Mr. Edward Henry, Lot 13. Charlottetown, August 12, 1842.
