CAR BADLY DAMAGED - A 1930 model A Ford car was badly damaged about 12:30 yesterday afternoon when it left the road near Unionville School about one mile from O'Leary and landed in the ditch with the four wheels in the air. The five occupants of the car, a man, his wife and three children were uninjured except for minor cuts and bruises. The driver of the car was placed under arrest.

MISSIONARY MEETING - On Sunday afternoon in Montrose United Church, children, young people and their leaders from the pastoral charges of Alberton and Elmsdale met with Miss Olive D. Sparling, secretary for younger groups of the Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada. In the opening worship Miss Sparling directed thought to what God can mean to individuals of any nationality. In a brief address she pointed out how, through the church, people can come to know God through Jesus Christ. The church bears witness to Him and through it lives are changed. It is the task of Christian people to build the Church in areas where it has not been established, especially in the areas that are growing up around large cities. At the close Miss Sparling used the flannelgraph for illustrating a story she told of the children about a mining town and how the people in it got their church. Rev. J. M. Sheen pronounced the benediction.

New Season Opens On Broadway

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 - (AP) - A new Broadway season of high dramatic and financial hopes, in which some hundred shows will try for gold and glory, was launched this week with a pair of hopeful young actresses winning the early applause.

"Lace On Her Petticoat" by the English playwright Aimee Stuart was the lone opening-week entry at the Booth Theatre. It was a well-meaning effort, with a tendency to get melodramatically out of hand at the finish—concerned with the prejudices of social caste in the Scotland of 1890. But it brought out for a hearty welcome two sub-teen girls, Perilla Nelson and Patsy Bruder, who could teach many older performers some fine points of acting ability.

For the three-act comedy, the pair of young blondes share scene-stealing honors as Perilla takes the role of the rich toad from the castle who finds friendship with Patsy, the daughter of the working classes.

There's also a romantic side-plot involving Nava Patterson, the young widow mother, and Jeff Morrow, the free-swinging man of the masses. The third main adult role is taken by Muriel Aked, Miss Aked and the Nelson youngster both performed in the earlier London production of "Lace On Her Petticoat."

A couple of more entries reach Broadway during the coming week. Mae West will be back Sept. 11 at the Broadway with another revival of "Diamond Lil" and the next night "Bagels and Yox" will bow in at the Holiday. "Bagels" is tabbed as a Yiddish vaudeville revue played in English.

It should be a pleasant evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs.

Double Wedding At Summerside

An outstanding social event last week was the double wedding in Trinity United Church, Summerside. On Saturday afternoon at four o'clock Miss Ruth Anne MacDonald and her sister, Miss Lois Marion MacDonald, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Russell MacDonald of Summerside, were united in marriage to Mr. Leighton Ralph Warren, son of Mrs. Leigh Warren of Charlottetown, and Mr. Garth William Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Heath Clark of North Bedouque.

Attractive arrangements of white and yellow gladioli blended with the olive green and Indiana rust costumes worn by the bridal attendants formed a harmony of rich autumn tones.

Rev. K. G. Sullivan, M.A., B.D. performed the ceremony. Miss Mary Geldart, organist, was in charge of the wedding music and during the signing of the register, accompanied Mrs. L. M. Callbeck, as she sang "Still As The Night."

Mr. MacDonald gave his daughters in marriage. Miss Ruth, entering the church on the arm of her father, wore a dress of ivory satin brocade in an Elizabethan mode, featuring a fitted bodice, full skirt, bolero and petal point sleeves. Her finger tip veil of tulle illusion was held in place with a wedding band headress. She carried a cascade bouquet of Queen Elizabeth roses.

Miss Lois, entering the church on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Frank MacDonald, wore a gown of white slipper satin with slight train, fitted bodice, small covered buttons to the waist, lily point sleeves and Peter Pan collar. Chantilly lace formed a delicate yoke and was repeated in an inset in front panel of skirt as well as the edging of her finger tip veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of Starlite roses.

Miss Miriam MacDonald attended her sister Ruth. She wore a gown of olive green taffeta with matching headress and carried a cascade bouquet of Litra Hibberd roses.

Miss Lois was attended by her groom's sister, Miss Beverly Clark, who was attired in a gown of Indiana rust taffeta with matching headress. Her cascade bouquet was of Pernet roses.

Mr. Miller MacDonald of Charlottetown was groomsmen for Mr. Warren and Mr. Robert MacMurdo of Bedouque for Mr. Clark. The ushers were Messrs James Harris and David Bell.

Mrs. MacDonald chose for her daughters' wedding a street length dress of navy tulle and lace with matching velvet hat and accessories.
