Born at Tyne Valley in 1875, the son of the late James and Dameras MacAusland, he lived all his life on the old homestead. In 1912 he married Annie (Sullivan) Forbes, widow of the late John Forbes. He was a man who, while quiet and unassuming, possessed many fine qualities of character which won for him a host of friends. The remains rested at the home of Mrs. Allan Yeo until Sunday thence to the Presbyterian Church in Tyne Valley where a large congregation of friends and relatives gathered to pay their last respects to a kind friend and good neighbour.

Rev. A. W. Williamson conducted the service both in the church and at the grave. Hymns sung were favorites of the deceased, "The Lord's My Shepherd" and "Shall We Gather At the River". The beautiful solo, "Alone", was sung by Mr. Roy Phillips. He was laid to rest in the family plot in the Presbyterian Church cemetery.

Fire Damages Barn At The S'side Raceway

—At 8.15 o'clock last evening fire was discovered in one of the barns at the Summerside Raceway. While a long line of hose was connected to the nearest hydrant, the chemical pumper went into action and before very long the firemen had the blaze under control.

It was a difficult blaze to combat as there was considerable hay and straw stored inside but luckily only one horse was stabled in the building and it was removed without suffering any burns or injuries.

Officials could offer no cause for the origin of the blaze nor the estimated amount of the damage. It is believed, however, that the building can be repaired as the firemen were able to confine the blaze mostly to the interior.—S.

Delightsome Isle

There's an odor of fields full of mown hay
And the sky is a sapphire dome of glory
Over in the meadow a heifer is lowing
And the cock serenades by his crowing, crowing
In this place of gentle living
That's what I say
'Tis a gentle way of living!

The River of Mountrose of childhood hours
Is more silvery it seems as it wends its way
Wish you were here, Beloved, to see and listen,
This is a Jewel that God has hidden
This Isle so far away
That's what I say
After many a day
A Jewel I say.

Over the bridge I passed as in days agone
I could hear the murmur of distant days
There's a mist on the hills and the valley yonder
And for all this beauty I reach and wonder
And an echo comes back to say
You are here today
After many and many a day
I'm glad to say!

I saw the old farm house on the hill so lone
With rafters rotting and doors decayed
But a halo of memory was over head
And my heart nigh broke with words unsaid
But such things must pass away
It's hard to say
After many a day
They will pass away!

I saw the playground of the school house old
My heart heard the church bell toll a lay
There's stardust here, sound of angel's wings
'Tis a chalis of beauty for innocent things
And a dream I found today
After many and many a day
I found a dream I say.

It was from a golden cup I sipped today,
Such a loving welcome from lovely things
In my thoughts and prayers will ever live
The beauty and joy that a place can give,
With no other hearts to say
We're glad today
After many a day
You're here today.

First Cabinet Shake-up In Red China

HONG KONG, (Reuters) — Communist China has removed its finance minister and the secretary general of the central government administrative council in the first major reshuffle since the Communists took over in 1949.

The changes, announced by China's Peiping radio Saturday, involve 15 ministerial and other administrative posts.

Reliable observers here believe the shakeup is designed to strengthen leadership, overhaul the finance ministry and bolster planning the government's first five-year plan.

The changes spotlight weakness in the Communist administration which have been becoming increasingly evident even in Communist press releases reaching here. One recent official announcement said a new campaign to cut administrative costs would be vigorously waged in the remainder of this year.

Those who were removed from their posts include Po I-po, finance minister, and Li Wei-han, administrative council head.

Po has been replaced by Teng Hsaio Ping, who will also be vice-chairman of the finance economics affairs committee. Li has been succeeded by Hsi Chung-hsun, former vice-chairman of the educational and cultural committee.

Loan Cupboard At Alberton Moved

—The Red Cross loan cupboard at Alberton has been moved to a new location and is now in the custody of Mrs. A. C. Green. The loan cupboard contains a number of articles for use when there is illness in the home and they may be borrowed without charge. This is one of the many services provided by the Canadian Red Cross in this Province, and through the local Women's Institute it was first secured for Alberton and vicinity in 1949.

It is the wish of the Red Cross and of the Women's Institute that greater use be made of this home nursing equipment which includes crutches, backrest and air cushion, as well as many other articles which can increase the comfort of one who is ill and faciliate the care that can be given by the home nurse. It is recommended that when there is illness in the home the custodian of the loan cupboard be consulted. She will be glad to assist in selecting articles that will be of use. In addition to the regular loan cupboard, a hospital bed is now kept in Alberton. It has been in use almost continually since being here in April. Wheelchairs may be secured from Charlottetown by making a request to Mrs. Green.
