JUNE 25, 1896.

SIR LEONARD TILLEY.

As we go to press, the news comes to hand that Sir Leonard Tilley died at 3.05 o'clock this morning, aged seventy-eight years.

THE KINDERGARTEN.

The Trustees of our Wesleyan School Fund exhibited good judgment when they decided to establish a Kindergarten.

The Kindergarten is the most important as well as the most interesting in the world-garden. They have their place in the present; and the future belongs to them.

THE SITUATION IN EUROPE.

INTEREST will always attach to anything that Lord Dufferin may say. Speaking a short time ago, his words with regard to the present state of Europe are as follows:

"What do we see around us? The whole of Europe is little better than a standing camp, numbering millions of armed men, with a double row of fortifications and opposing fortresses bristling along every frontier.

THE VANISHED MYSTERIOUSLY.

A man elated over the fact that he is cutting a tooth at the age of 92 years. One at his age should know better than to get into the raising of such troublesome things as teeth. Children may be excused if they don't know any better. But perhaps this monogerman is in his second childhood.—Boston Transcript.

A despatch from Madrid to the London Central News says that the Spanish government declares that the claims for damages made by the Americans in Cuba are almost untenable and some of them ridiculous. For instance, one man demands $25,000 because he suffered with nephritis while in prison in Cuba and another asks for pecuniary damages because he was afflicted with smallpox.

Mayor C. M. Bowie, of White Castle, La., has written to Dr. Dolph, of Fort St. Vrain, Colorado, to have a cure for leprosy, asking him to demonstrate his cure at the leprosy hospital, six miles from White Castle, and the doctor will leave Tuesday for that place. There are 2,000 slowly dying of this disease in the hospital. Mayor Bowie says, and the doctor has assured him, that he can cure them.

An officer of the Bavarian Reserve, a Catholic, refused to answer a challenge to a duel, on the ground that his religious principles were opposed to the practice. A tribunal of honor, before which appeared the royal prosecuting attorney, condemned him to fight the duel. If he should comply it is to be expected in a few weeks he will be judicially condemned for having violated the law of the empire against duelling!

The steamship Alki, four days out from Juneau, Alaska, arrived at Seattle on the 22nd. She brought Capt. It is generally believed in Alaska that the Royal with all on board has been lost.

Queen Victoria has sent a donation of £100 (500) to the National Press Fund, a beneficial organization in England, which gives aid and encouragement to editors, reporters and others who have been reduced to straitened circumstances by illness, or loss of employment, and makes provision for the families of press men who have been left without means of support. The annual disbursements of the fund are about $25,000 yearly. The periodical appeals for subscriptions have been so liberally responded to that the fund has now nearly $200,000 invested in bonds.

A Belgrade despatch says the Royal Commission which went to Posarevac to investigate the cruelties in the prison there report that the prison keepers are guilty of many revolting crimes. Many political prisoners were found in dungeons with their hands withered, their feet roasted, hung up by the hands for weeks at a time. The tongues of others had been cut out, and twenty were without ears and noses. One woman had been held before her fire and slowly roasted for withholding information. The king was enraged when he heard the report that it was with difficulty that Ministers prevented him from going to Posarevac and personally punishing the prison officials.

WEDDING BELLS.

The morning glories of Thursday were not more joyous and charming than the happy couple that passed the church at Tignish on this delightful day. The participants were Mr. McKee, the bridegroom, and Rosetta Conroy, the bride.

Mr. John Hackett and Miss Fannie Conroy were the witnesses, and they, with Dr. Conroy, of Charlottetown, and Miss Mary Conroy, and George and Mrs. Conroy, of Tignish, formed the wedding party.

Rev. Douglas McDonald, pastor of Tignish, came all the way from his dining table to the bedside to tie the nuptial knot. Mr. James Gallan brought forth the sweetest music from the grand organ during the nuptial mass. The couple, after thanksgiving, prepared to leave the church, while the organ rang out the lively air of "Vive la Canadienne."

Rev. Father Boyd sang some appropriate selections during the service. Long life and happiness supreme to the happy couple.

The marriage of Prof. H. H. Shaw, of Prince of Wales College, to Miss Mary Clarke, daughter of Henry Clarke, Esq., Kensington, took place this morning at the residence of the bride's father, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Charles McKay. The wedding was very quiet, no invitations having been issued, and the only guests were relatives and a few personal friends were present.

The bride was tastefully dressed in a travelling suit of dark green broadcloth, with trimmings of cream cloth and buttons. She carried a large bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Amy Clarke, sister of the bride, wore a beautiful blue and cream organza dress with lace and silk trimmings, and held a bouquet of pink carnations.

Prof. Robertson, the late colleague of Mr. Shaw in Prince of Wales College, acted as best man.

After partaking of breakfast, the happy couple took the train for Summerside and embarked on their honeymoon trip, which, we understand, includes the Hudson, Niagara and Montreal.

Mr. Shaw is regarded as the best wishes of his many friends, and he and his beautiful bride shall be gladly welcomed back when they come to make their home among our citizens.

Two popular young people—Miss Minnie Blake and Mr. Lauchlin McDonald—were united in marriage last evening by Rev. G. M. Campbell. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's father, Hillsborough street. Miss Janie Blake, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and the groom was supported by Mr. Geo. Ross. The popularity of the young couple was attested by the many handsome presents received. The EXAMINER wishes Mr. and Mrs. McDonald a long and a happy wedded life.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE EXAMINER.

THE PREMIER AT OTTAWA.

Cabinet Council to be Held.

OTTAWA, June 25.

The Premier is bearing his defeat with philosophical resignation. He spent a busy day at his office in the Eastern Hotel, receiving and answering telegrams and letters; as well as giving audience to intimate friends.

The EXAMINER correspondent had an interview with him during the course of the afternoon, and asked him what his intentions were in view of Tuesday's result. He replied that he had telegraphed for his colleagues to return to Ottawa at once. When the cabinet re-assembles, it will then be decided whether or not to meet the House of Commons or else to resign forthwith.
