INTERESTING TO THE LADIES.

Washable Street Gowns—New Wool Dresses—White Dresses—Lace in Profusion—New Hats.

While new wool gowns for street wear show at times the utmost eccentricity in garniture, styles out door wash dresses are models of severe simplicity. Suits of linen, denim duck, canvas cloth or pique presents simple outlines and a close precision that is a contrast not only to fancifully trimmed cheviot, cloths and kindred truck fabrics, but to thin materials both washable and otherwise, that are often finished in most elaborate style. When summer heats and dusty streets shall come, cool suits that may easily be freshened, will prove most attractive and they are now being rapidly purchased by provident buyers. Short jackets cut in conventional shapes, are a foregone conclusion; and a blouse vest or trim waistcoat with narrow skirts hemmed complete the outfit. Pretty contrasts are usually given by the vest or waistcoat; most of these suits are in ecru although some show effective bars or dotting and a quota in blue, are extremely attractive. Although wool gowns, for street wear, are generally cut in severe outlines, and have no trimming other than strapped seams or occasional modest beading, yet others, setting at defiance all previous ideas and modes, appear trimmed by delicate lace and with combinations of white or colored satin. An example in ecru wool has rows of thin white insertion laid on the corsage, which is gathered to a belt; jacket fronts and shoulder frills are finished by lace to match, while a tucked white satin guimpe gives completion, and it may be added that, in general, corsages of the heaviest materials may show gathers. Great fancifulness arises from the placing together of the three leading colors, red, green and purple. A dark purple wool sheet gown has a short, fancifully cut jacket of red satin, and a deep red wool dress has a fancy jacket of green velvet. Velveta also is much used for jackets and other combinations, because its soft surface is so velvet like.

White dresses are reckoned extremely stylish and some ornate and expensive examples have the entire skirts consisting of successive rows of lace insertion alternating with narrow strips of the material, while finish is given by lace ruffles around the bottom. The corsages show quite as much lace as fabric and many other gowns not so richly combined as those just quoted show lace in profusion. In view moreover of lace being now so much used, its proper washing becomes quite a consideration, the more so as inquiries have been made on the subject. A lather of Ivory soap and luke-warm water should be made. Avoid rubbing and rinse in cold water. To dry, place it smoothly in a clean, dry cloth, rather than to iron. The same rules apply to art embroideries.

In millinery, birds and plumes are used to an unusual extent. Crowns are sometimes completely encircled by narrow, darting wings as they form a chosen complexion to full garnitures of flowers; single quill feathers rise saucily as ever; birds' breasts are used to some extent; entire birds embedded in flowers are placed on turbans or may form the sole trimming, a typical turban in rough, red straw, having a red bird with partly outstretched wings, seated on the indented crown. A unique yellow straw has two long white ostrich plumes laid underneath the brim; ostrich tips nod everywhere and fancifully shaped straws often have ostrich tips on the sole trimming. Sometimes also wide brimmed hats have a number of rich, nodding plumes as the only garniture.

BEER BROS. for Dress Goods.

Be sure and hear the great political song and chorus in St. Patrick's Hall on the 19th. Now don't forget the date.

GOSPEL MEETING.—Remember the Gospel Meeting in the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock conducted by the railway men. Strangers always welcome. Lesson—Luke 19:12: The Parable of the Pounds.

JAMES CODY DEAD.—A St. John despatch says: James Cody, who was so terribly injured by the explosion, at Greenhead lime quarry, died this morning. He never lost consciousness, though terribly mangled. It appeared at the inquest that the explosion was caused by using an iron rammer instead of the proper wooden one in wadding down the charge. Long practice of over twenty years without accident rendered the men careless.

THE HALIFAX.—The popular str. Halifax, of the Plant Line, which sailed yesterday on her first trip this season, has, during the past winter, undergone extensive repairs. The new furnaces placed in her are said to materially increase her speed, and many improvements have been made in her internal arrangements. The Halifax is now one of the most commodious and comfortable passenger ships on the Atlantic Coast. The popularity of her officers must also prove a drawing card to the company.

MISSIONARY MATTERS.—The seventieth Annual Report of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Church in Canada, announces that $242,740.32 was contributed in 1895-96 for Missions. The General Board, in order to meet the growing needs of the work, and to push steadily into the "religious beyond," appeals to our people for "a quarter of a million for Missions this year." The First Methodist Church gave to the Society last year as follows:—the Congregation $434.61, and the Sunday School $365.39, making a total of $800.00 a small advance over the preceding year. Our Anniversary will be held on Sabbath, May the 16th. Rev. Ralph Brecken, D. D., of Mount Allison University, will preach the sermons. By increased liberality let us hasten the "conversion of the gentiles," and give great joy to all who labor and pray for the spread of Christ's Kingdom.

DIED ABROAD.—Word was received by Mrs. Henry Hooper of this city, on Thursday, of the death of her father, Mr. George R. McCoubrey, of Newton, Mass. Mr. McCoubrey was the eldest son of the late Patrick McCoubrey, of the Winslow Road, and brother to Mrs. Canty and Mr. McCoubrey of this city. Mr. McCoubrey has brothers also living in New Glasgow, P. E. I., and is a brother also of Mrs. George McLeod, of Hunter River. Mr. McCoubrey's mother is still living with her daughter Mrs. Canty at the age of 78 years. The deceased was a member of the M. E. Church and died trusting in the merits of the Redeemer, aged 57 years. He leaves a widow, a sister of Mrs. John Ferguson, of St. Peter's Road, and four sons and two daughters to mourn his decease. He was able to move around until about three weeks before his death, from which time he gradually sunk until May 4th, when he peacefully passed to his final reward with the words on his lips—"I am going to Jesus." The family with the exception of Mrs. Henry Hooper are living in Massachusetts.
