"DAVID AND BATHSHEBA" OPENS TODAY AT CAPITOL, SUMMERSIDE

The greatest love story in the world from the greatest book of all time - the Bible - has been gloriously translated to the screen by Darryl F. Zanuck in "David and Bathsheba," which opens today at the Capitol Theatre.

Compellingly produced in Technicolor splendor, "David and Bathsheba" presents two of the screen's finest players - Gregory Peck and Susan Hayward - in the epic roles of their long and distinguished acting careers.

David, King of all Israel, is secretly disturbed by his low upbringing and antecedents. Mocked by his first wife, Michal, daughter of King Saul, his benefactor, David is torn by domestic difficulties and the struggles against the nations besetting his country.

When he sees Bathsheba, the wife of Uriah, bathing on her rooftop, a new and passionate interest enters his life. From their unsanctified love affair comes moments of rare beauty and understanding, but the people of Israel silently fear the wrath of God which must visit them.

When David sends Uriah to his death in order to marry Bathsheba, the sin is complete. Famine and pestilence are visited on the Israelites while David, losing all care for his people, broods on his fate. When Bathsheba's first-born dies, in desperation David goes to the holy Ark of the Covenant to pray to God for redemption.
