

The Colombo Plan

The fact that Canada's contribution to the Colombo Plan this year may total about $100 million in grants and long term loans...

Perhaps that is an overstatement. But like the Marshall Plan, the Colombo Plan is a self-help one...

Through the Marshall Plan and the Organization for European Economic Cooperation that grew out of it...

Colombo Plan so far has had more modest results, but these are quite substantial.

Founded three years after the Marshall Plan, in 1950, the Colombo Plan was originally a British Commonwealth affair.

But aid is provided by bilateral arrangements instead of through central machinery.

The largest part of the Colombo aid has come from the United States, too, but considerable contributions have also been made by Great Britain, Australia, Canada, New Zealand, and Japan.

Needs Public Support

The Ontario Water Resources Commission has disclosed that water around the province's uranium mining district at Elliot Lake...

NEEDS PUBLIC SUPPORT

As noted in our columns yesterday, Agriculture Minister Hays grieves about the state of the Conservative party.

Two British entomologists have borrowed the entire treasury of the Insect Collection, according to the Australia News and Information Bureau.

It seems that there is no large community near the polluted water and outcrops are on the shores of the contaminated section.

House of Commons and why Prime Minister Pearson, who represents Algoma East, should have been queried directly as to the import of the commission statement.

Another reaction to the commission statement was voiced by a resort owner in the area, who is a warden of Haliburton County and who is quoted as asking, in dismay: 'Why didn't they keep it a secret and clean up the mess instead of ruining the business on the lake?'

This attitude, unfortunately, is not confined to interested parties in the Elliot Lake area, when warnings of water pollution are sounded by qualified authorities.

Ontario, in such matters, seems to be as far behind as the rest of us. According to the Ottawa paper, the defilement of the Great Lakes, especially Lake Erie and Lake Ontario, is going on unchecked...

Perhaps we can show an example in this province by insisting on getting action, without delay, on the recently released report of the water pollution advisory committee for the Charlottetown area.

Worth A Try

As every school teacher knows, first graders are hard to keep under control. They twitch and twist continuously in their straight-backed chairs and it is difficult to keep their attention focused on their work.

The Milwaukee Journal, from which we glean this interesting item, suggests that the idea may have other implications.

But surely an idea of this kind could be put to more important use. If it is a matter of getting people to stop acting like first graders, and to get on with their work instead of wearing out everybody's patience with their tantrums, why not apply the innovation where it is most needed?

In our House of Commons, we mean. What a difference it would make in the flag debate, for example, if the government had had the foresight, before tossing this hot potato into the arena, to furnish the whole chamber with comfortable and rocking chairs for their soothing influence—rocking gently back and forth—the disputants would soon come to an amicable agreement.

Even if they dozed off before completely burying the hatchet, the tension would be eased and there would be a substantial gain to the taxpayers from this investment.

EXTREMISM

Political Prescription Bifocals

NEEDED IN OTTAWA, TOO

OTTAWA REPORT BY Patrick Nicholson

Government, Not Politics, Is Needed

For seven years Ottawa has been concerned with politics rather than with government. Our political leaders in the big parties have acted as ward-level vote-buying politicians, rather than as nation-building statesmen.

Against this shameful background, which has made Canada the political laughing stock of the world, it is a welcome change at last to hear a sure voice calling for the setting of ground rules and guidelines on behalf of the whole country.

Now, however, as an experiment, an inspired Ohio teacher has installed rocking chairs for her first grade reading class.

The Milwaukee Journal, from which we glean this interesting item, suggests that the idea may have other implications.

GOOD SENATOR'S SENSE

This was the voice of Senator Wally McCallum, one of Canada's most successful industrial pioneers, who gave up large earnings to serve Canada as a politician.

PUBLIC FORUM

This column is open to the discussion by interested persons of questions of current national issues.

Taxes Up, Taxes Down

In Britain taxes are going up and in the United States taxes are going down. It looks different, and it is. But it is also all part of the same economic problem.

How do you run a modern welfare state with its high rising wages and security for the individual against the many economic hazards?

This is a terrible paradox. It is a paradox because, forced by the modern balance of payments requirements, we are being forced to compete on world markets.

It starts to differ. And it begins to lead to quick national bankruptcy.

It is to be the credit of Prince Edward Island that in one year this large and influential Association has chosen two books by local authors for special recognition.

BRITISH NUCLEAR POLICY

By Joseph MacGowan Canadian Press Staff Writer

The shape of the new British government's nuclear policy has begun to emerge in advance of a full dress defence review scheduled for the weekend.

The main feature is that British appears to be moving toward acceptance of the idea of a multilateral nuclear force, although a term far from that originally proposed by the United States.

Besides Wilson, 48, and Defence Secretary Denis Healey, the new cabinet includes ministers and a pair of admirals, generals, air marshals and top civil servants.

The Chequers meeting will discuss Wilson's December 1963 speech on the subject, which was made in Washington a day and a particularly what is to be done about the British military history.

ON U.S. SIDE Wilson, in a major speech Monday night, lined up Britain solidly beside the U.S. in overall NATO policy while at the same time his foreign minister, Patrick Gordon Walker, was in Bonn explaining the new Labour government's eagerness to contribute to NATO.

Reports indicate the foreign minister spoke of an ANF containing 10 Polaris missile-armed mixed-manned surface ships, rather than the 25 proposed by the U.S. plus six Polaris submarines.

Canada Packers Limited is requesting consumers to immediately return KLIK Luncheon Meat with any of the following codes indented in the tops of the tins:

Table with 4 columns: EST 7, EST 7, EST 7, EST 7. Rows contain codes like 09144, 09164, 09214, 09234, 09284, 10054, 09174, 09254, 10224.

NO TINS WITH ANY OTHER NUMBERS ARE AFFECTED

Consumers in Ontario, Quebec and the Atlantic Provinces who have purchased KLIK since September 14th and who are in possession of any tins bearing these codes, are asked to immediately return them to their retailer for replacement or refund.

Tins embossed with EST 7A, EST 7B, or EST 7D are not involved as they were produced at other plants and are in no way affected.

The recall of these tins is a precautionary measure which has been taken because spice units, supplied to the Company for use in the production of KLIK Luncheon Meat at one plant, contained less than the normal quantities of one of the curing ingredients.

The best scientific opinion indicates that the risk of impaired keeping qualities is small, but may exist. Therefore, there is a small chance that the product could deteriorate and might then cause serious illness if eaten.

All KLIK presently on retailers' shelves has been carefully checked by Company employees to ensure that it is not from the lots in question.

RETAILERS—Your cooperation in accepting return of this product is requested. A Company representative will be contacting you.

IT'S HERE THE NEW "McClulloch" CHAIN SAW "The Woodsman's Best Friend" Keith Carmichael 23 Brockley Pl. R. 4-642

FRIGHT BORING PASTS VANCOUVER (CP) Research scientists say they are confident that the battle against marine wood-borers which take an annual total of millions of dollars from the lumber industry is being won.

Weapons include poison, a compound that prevents the pests from boring, and a device for testing the soundness of wood pilings.

Reports indicate the foreign minister spoke of an ANF containing 10 Polaris missile-armed mixed-manned surface ships, rather than the 25 proposed by the U.S. plus six Polaris submarines.

Also included in this plan were the TSR-2 supersonic bombers now being developed here and the British V-bomber force already in production.

One German objection was that the TSR-2s and the V-bombers would be out of date within five years, and Britain's Polaris contribution would give the U.S. a preponderance among European contributions to the NATO force.

Urging our leaders to stop tip-toeing around the vital issues, he suggested — and this will appear in our initiative and self-reliance which we rightly boast about — that emphasis in our economic and social policy should be on opportunity rather than on security. But, he warned, we have to settle on a schedule of priorities.
