the painting prior to presenting it to Confederation Centre Art Gallery. Joining in Mr. Bertrand's remarks was Dr. Frank MacKinnon, of the Memorial Trust, who accepted the gift of the bank.

Bank Donates Painting To Centre Art Gallery

A painting scheduled to hang with the same degree of pride which it was presented and accepted has been added to the Art Gallery at Confederation Centre.

Depicting what 100 years of change have meant to Canada, the beautiful work of art by local artist Barry Bugden shows the old Provincial Building in the foreground— as it was in Canadian history—with the splendid new Confederation Centre in the background.

The painting was unveiled last evening by Gaston Bertrand, public relations director of the Provincial Bank of Canada, donors of the painting. He recalled his bank had been here since 1919 contributing its bit to the Island economy and now it wished to contribute to the great memorial to Confederation which had its start in the 1864 meeting here.

HALEFAX (CP) — The weather office says the warm air which produced sunny weather for the last four days gave record breaking high temperatures at some inland locations Thursday. This warm air was being pushed out of the Maritimes by cooler air Thursday night.

A band of cloud and showers, marking the leading edge of the cool air, was over New Brunswick late Thursday. This will spread over the other two provinces today.

Showers will end over the Maritimes by mid-morning, with clearing in New Brunswick. Cloud is expected to linger over Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island until late afternoon.

Overcast conditions are expected over the Southern Maritimes Saturday with mainly sunny skies elsewhere. Temperatures will be a little warmer.

Regional forecasts:
Northern Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island: Cloudy with a morning shower, clearing late this morning. Much cooler. Winds northwesterly 15 increasing to north 25 this afternoon. Low-high at New Glasgow and Charlottetown 45 and 50. Outlook for Saturday, Mostly sunny and a little warmer.

High tide today at Charlottetown 9:33 a.m. and 10:18 p.m. At Rustico at 4:32 a.m. and 5:28 p.m. Summerside tide eighteen minutes later than Charlottetown. Sun rises today at 7:30 a.m. and sets at 6:24 p.m. All times ADT.

Liberal Gov't Policies Said Aiding Economy

SOURIS — The more than 600,000 new jobs that have been created in the two and one-half years since the Pearson administration took office is only one evidence of the tremendous change in the Canadian economy since April 1963, Defence Minister Paul Hellyer told a Souris audience last night.

Speaking on behalf of Liberal candidate John Mullally, he said "John is one of the outstanding young men to enter Parliament in the last election. He's been most active in his work there, and he played a particularly strong part in the fight to establish a 12-mile fishing limit. He has been fighting for a better return for the family farm, as he always fights in the interests of agriculture."

"Today unemployment is at the lowest level it has been since 1955. There's so much confidence now," he instanced, "that recently I had to grant special leave to certain Army personnel to help harvest the New Brunswick crop."

Incidentally Mr. Hellyer assured The Guardian he would have given the same consideration to an appeal from Island potato growers. "It's a thought for another year," he said. "In Toronto last week papers carried want ads for help in many of the stores and industries there."

"Our policies have contributed to the many improvements that have taken place, though no government would claim all of the credit," he said.

The co-operation between the governor of the bank of Canada and the minister of Finance is in sharp contrast to what happened the Conservatives—the municipal works plan injected hundreds of millions of dollars into the Canadian economy, extension of the winter works program, the $200 million for building houses in winter, the Atlantic Development Fund—the board had no funds under the PCs—all were listed as contributing factors by the minister: 29,000 homes were built under the bonus plan last year.

MEANS MORE JOBS
"The 20 percent trade increase and 40 percent hike in manufactures mean many more jobs across the country."

"The reorganization of Canadian armed forces is proceeding satisfactorily and the integration of the Canadian forces headquarters will be complete by the end of the year and we are months ahead with the reorganization of the functional commands."

It means that our mobile force will be able to go anywhere in the world on the most efficient basis, at a minute's notice should the need arise. Mr. Hellyer emphasized. "There have been great savings from the integration, as well as great improvement."

MULLALLY SPEAKS
Mr. Mullally dealt with farming, fishing and employment in the Centre an adequate yearly budget to enable the staff to program the centre in a manner that will enable local people and all visiting Canadians to take full advantage of the physical facilities in the manner intended in the original concept of this living memorial."

MR. HELLYER

his address to the people of his hometown and the surrounding areas.

"Our farmers have enjoyed better prices for farm products in the last couple of years under a Liberal government. And some of the government's policies have contributed to this significant movement in farm income," he said.

"But we must continue to improve our aid to farmers and earlier this month the Prime Minister announced a 10-point farm program. Starting next year the government proposes to have a system of Unemployment Insurance for farm workers, we'll increase the assistance available to crop insurance—we're raising it from 20 to 25 percent," he instanced.

"But I think this is the most important part of the farm program said Mr. Mullally: 'The government is going to develop a program to buy uneconomic farms, develop them and sell them back to farmers at reasonable cost. There will be money available from the Farm Credit Corporation to help finance the job,' Mr. Mullally stated.

These will enable farmers to expand their farms, to buy other farm land which may be available; and, of course it will be good farm land, he assured.

A Canadian Dairy Commission is envisioned, with the goal of raising the average price of manufactured milk across Canada to $4.00 per hundredweight.

"We proposed to enact similar marketing legislation for other farm products," he promised. "A livestock feed board will assure that feed grain will be available to our farmers in public storages in Eastern Canada, where and when the quantities are needed, so that this grain will be available to farmers at all times and at reasonable prices."

The government proposes to create a Canadian farm marketing service to assist farmers across the country. The idea in general is to make more readily available to farmers, in some measure at least, the idea of marketing conditions for their products.

ARDA FUND
"Under ARDA we are establishing a $50 million fund for rural development, and Kings is one of the 13 areas in the country that is eligible for assistance from this fund." I was pleased to have played a part in this development," he told the meeting.

A new mortgage program will help finance farm housing. City people now have the benefits of Central Mortgage and Housing. This proposal is to make the same benefit available to our farmers. It's not available now, he observed.

Turning to fisheries, the 34-year-old Liberal candidate recalled opposition forecasts several years ago that establishment of the 12-mile limit would seriously impair relations with the people and prices in the United States. "But," he said, "our prices for lobsters and other fish are the best in history."

"We extended the scope of low-cost insurance on fishing vessels, under the fisherman's indemnity plan to a top of $15,000—previously the limit was $10,000—he said. The subsidy to construct new fishing vessels has been raised from 35 to 40 percent of the total cost—it's available on wooden vessels over 100 tons. On 75-foot steel trawlers the subsidy is raised from 35 to 50 percent.

Driver Not To Blame, Coroner's Jury Finds

GEORGETOWN — A coroner's jury last night found that Roy H. Chapman, Murray Harbor, died as a result of injuries received Sept. 28 when the car he was driving was in collision with a car driven by Merrill Ross, Lower Montague, on the outskirts of Montague.

The jury attached no blame to Mr. Ross in the death but recommended that the provincial department of highways review the highway signs and markings in the area where the accident occurred.

The inquest was held at the court house with Dr. G. S. A. Inman, Montague, presiding as coroner.

It was brought out in testimony that there are apparently no highway speed signs on the road leading out of Montague where the accident occurred. For this reason, the jury recommended that the highways department review this situation.

Evidence presented showed that both the Chapman and Ross cars were proceeding out of Montague when the Ross car attempted to pass Chapman when the accident occurred. Witnesses said it appeared that Chapman attempted to make a left turn just as the Ross car was passing, and this resulted in collision.

Mr. Ross said he tried to pass the Chapman car after blowing his horn but Chapman apparently tried to make a left turn. According to police, there was no liquor in the Ross car and Ross appeared sober.

Jury members were foreman Gilbert Clements, Kenneth E. MacPhee, Kenneth S. Clements, Allan H. Nelson, Ernest G. MacDonald, Robert Ralph Beck, all of Montague, and Albert Garth Gillis, Brudenell.

Centre Budgets Given Approval

Full completion of "this national shrine" was accepted as its duty by the Fathers of Confederation Memorial Citizens Foundation and plans for immediate proceeding with the work were made at the meeting of the Fathers held in Montreal last Saturday, Frank Storey, Memorial Centre general manager, said yesterday.

He said this included the remedy of any existing defects and finishing touches, such as landscaping details, so the entire project "may truly befit the important historical event it commemorates."

Present at the function in the Gallery were Premier Walter R. Shaw and Hon. Lloyd MacPhail, minister of tourist development, Stan Warwick, executive assistant to the Premier; Frank J. Storey, general manager of the Centre; Alan H. Holman, of the Memorial Trust; Moncrieff Williamson, curator of the art gallery; and Jack MacAndrew, public relations director of the Centre.

Others there included A. Y. Melanson, superintendent of Maritime branches of the Provincial Bank; E. C. Black, local branch manager, and Mrs. Black; Ken Perry, manager of the Summerside branch, and Mrs. Perry; and a large number of invited guests including J. J. Morris, former branch manager here who is now retired.

MR. STOREY

"From an operational point of view, perhaps the most important decision made at the meetings was the approval of the 1966-67 operating budgets as submitted by the general manager. This means that the staff may now proceed with detailed planning of programs for the coming year."

"It should be noted, however, that the total financial picture of the Centre has not yet been completely resolved. Ways and means must still be found to assure the Centre an adequate yearly budget to enable the staff to program the centre in a manner that will enable local people and all visiting Canadians to take full advantage of the physical facilities in the manner intended in the original concept of this living memorial."

Parkdale Driver Gets $125 Fine

Wilfred Murray Kennedy, Parkdale, charged with impaired driving was fined $125 and costs or 30 days when he appeared before Magistrate A. James Haslam in City Police Court yesterday.

Sara Horton, Peter's Road, charged with false pretences had her case adjourned until Nov. 22.

A charge of illegal possession netted one man a fine of $20 and costs or 30 days. For being drunk and incapable one man was fined $30 and costs or 20 days and another accused was remanded until tomorrow.
