Daily fitness classes

Fitness conscience women take note — now you can keep in shape (or get back into shape) with new Dancercise classes that are being offered to all women of all ages. Come at 12:00 on Tuesday and Thursday for a thirty minute work-out.

These work-outs will be done to the latest music and will provide an enjoyable combination of dance and aerobics to help keep all those "problem" areas well toned.

These classes are in addition to the already existing Fitness classes that will continue to go Monday, Wednesdays and Fridays at the same times as last semester (11:30 - 12:30 and 12:30 - 1:30).

Please, all those interested in continuing a fitness program, or just beginning one, come and try out this new session of aerobics and enjoy a half hour of fitness! There is no charge, and the first class began Tuesday, the 15th of January. See you there!

Female guard hired

Making the rounds

Gladys Kickham is the newest security officer at UPEI.

She began last Monday, but she is more than ready for whatever may come her way. Before getting a degree in Psychology and History from UPEI, Kickham graduated from the Atlantic Police Academy. She, like the other security officers here, have the same authority and legal powers as the RCMP and City Police.

Duties include patrolling campus, checking in with the residences and handling most security cases on campus.

Gladys is the second woman hired as an officer on a full-time basis by the department. The first worked at UPEI about four years ago.

Good-bye U.P.E.I.
 Good morning dear Registrar
 I have to confess,
 My financial state is in such a mess.
 Mulrooney is charming,
 He has all his hair.
 But with summer cutbacks,
 We're all in despair.
 Brian, with scholarships away you went.
 But I'm not so brilliant,
 And my resources are spent.
 To sit there in Parliament,
 Your footsteps I'd share,
 But I may join my peers
 In the welfare line next Year.
