Bedeque Notes

— Miss Eleanor Wheeler, Public Health Nurse, has left for Toronto where she will spend the winter with her sister and other relatives and friends.

Miss Ruth Nicholson, Sturgis, Sask., who is a student at U. N. B., Fredericton, N. B., spent her holidays on P. I. The last week was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harrison MacFarlane, Fernwood. She left on Jan. 2nd., to resume her studies.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Murray spent Christmas with Mrs. Murray's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Sherry, Fernwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Corbett and family, Alberton were guests New Year's at Mrs. Corbett's old home in Fernwood.

Miss Georgie MacFarlane, R.N., Summerside, spent New Year's with her brother, Mr. J. H. MacFarlane and Mrs. MacFarlane, Fernwood.

Mr. and Mrs. George Henderson, Fernwood, had as their Christmas guests their daughters, Miss Pauline, Charlottetown, and Miss Adele, Summerside.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Gillespie and daughter Anne, Souris, were in Bedeque last Thursday, Jan. 11th, and spent some time with Mrs. Gillespie's father, Mr. Albert J. Weeks.

The South Bedeque Evening Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Charles MacFarlane for the January meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 9th, with an excellent attendance. The President, Mrs. Clayton McLure, in the chair. As bad weather and other circumstances prevented the holding of the December meetings this was largely a business meeting, finishing up the old business at the year's end, and making plans for 1951. Reports of the year's work were filled out. A substantial increase in funds indicated the interest taken in the work by the members. The February meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. William Montgomery.

Week of Prayer services were held at three points in the Bedeque area. On Tuesday evening, Jan. 9th, the service was held in the North Bedeque United Church, with the pastor, Rev. J. K. Campbell in charge. He was assisted by Rev. W. B. Crowe and Rev. C. A. Britten, who delivered the sermon. On Wednesday evening there was good attendance at the service which was held in the Central Bedeque Baptist Church when the pastor, Rev. C. A. Britten conducted the devotional part of the service. He was assisted by Mr. Campbell and Mr. Crowe who was the preacher. The third service was in the Bedeque United Church with a large attendance. The pastor, Mr. Crowe, was assisted by Mr. Britten and Mr. Campbell, who preached the sermon. At all three services large choirs aided in the devotional part of the services, and several laymen offered prayers.

At the close of the Week of Prayer service in the Bedeque United Church on Thursday evening, the annual meeting of the Bedeque Sunday School was held. Mr. J. H. MacFarlane, superintendent was in the chair. The report of the school for 1950 was presented by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. E. J. Weeks. This report showed that the enrollment was 144. This is the largest for several years. There is a "Junior Congregation" in this school of which Mrs. Edison Wright is the superintendent. For the winter months there is a "Sunday school by mail", and Mrs. Arnold Henderson is in charge. The school has for several years sponsored a child in Europe, paying $50 per year for this purpose. For several years also the school has provided a truck to bring in children from outside sections during the summer months. Mrs. Weeks, after filling the office of secretary-treasurer, for four years, requested to be relieved of her office. She was succeeded by Mrs. Charles Henderson. Other officers and committees were re-elected for 1951. The oldest member of this school is Mr. William Callbeck. He is 86 and seldom absent. As a matter of fact he has attended the school since he was a boy. He was superintendent for a great many years.

Mr. and Mrs. John Toombs, Cape Traverse, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Toombs and their two daughters, Charlottetown, were Christmas guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Toombs, Bedeque.

Says Canadians Should Quit Copying Yanks

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. Jan. 15 (CP)—Resources Minister Winters said tonight that Canadians yield too often to the temptation to offer United States tourists copies of things American.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the Lethbridge Chamber of Commerce, he said Americans and other tourists "look in Canada for something not to be found in their countries—as we do in visiting theirs."

"Ideally, it seems to me, our tourists should be greeted by atmosphere and surroundings distinctively and attractively Canadian once they cross our border. There is, however, the temptation, to which we too often yield, to offer instead mere copies of things American.

"Thus, we tend to feature American news pictures and newsreels and to offer typical American products in the mistaken belief that their appeal must be paramount. What is too often a pointed overdisplay of the United States flag for the sole reason of currying the favor of the American tourist must be repugnant to our neighbors—we should fly our own flag much more than we do."

Mr. Winters, who has jurisdiction over the Canadian Travel Bureau, recalled that in his native Lunenburg, N.S., the people felt a "thrill of pride" when the deep-sea fishing schooners put out to sea and returned, each with a red ensign flying at the topmast.

"The sails have gone, but I believe those of us who are associated with the sea still show the flag more than elsewhere," he said.

"Doings in other countries often make news which Canadians are entitled to know about, but our newspapers and magazines too often pass up excellent domestic news pictures and interesting news items to carry instead foreign material which publicizes and glamorizes other countries.

"We have in Canada, in our history and in our great bounty of distinctive natural attractions, incomparable tourist assets. We do ourselves less than justice if we fail, as I fear we do fail, to emphasize them sufficiently.

"Our unique culture, as discovered for example in the old world charm of French Canada, is immensely appealing to our tourists. The last frontier represented by the Canadian north land exerts its own special fascination. Our Canadian place names, a mirror of our past are a treasured and fascinating part of our heritage."
