The next newsletter deadline is February 21,1993.

Illustrations: The Society extends a special thanks to Jacqueline Badcock who provided the illustrations of the dike building, Phragmites, American Kestrel, plaque, Piping Plover, tern and Great Black-backed Gull, hand and pen, Gray Partridge, and swallows. The Society also acknowledges the meadowlark illustrations by Jim Edsall.

The Natural History Society gratefully acknowledges support from the Department of Tourism and Parks and the Department of Education which enables distribution of newsletters to schools and libraries and to members.

The Natural History Society is an affiliate of the Canadian Nature Federation and has representation on the board of the Island Nature Trust. The Society is a registered, non-profit organization (Part 2, Companies Act). Tax receipts are issued for donations to the Society and these funds are used to further the work of the Society.

Reprinting: Editors of other newsletters and teachers wishing to copy classroom materials are welcome to reprint articles from the Island Naturalist (except when copyrighted). Due acknowledgement must be provided to the Island Naturalist, the author and illustrator.

THIS MONTHS COVER

Reed grass (Phragmites communis) often invades salt marshes that have been diked or otherwise altered. It spreads by rhizomes and is resistant to most kinds of disturbance. On the Mount Stewart marsh it grows up to eight or more feet in height.
