THE EXAMINER PUB. COMPANY.

RED HOUSE DAIRYING STATION. The annual meeting of the Red House Dairying Company, and branch of the Farmers' Dairying Association, held at the Company's Hall on Tuesday, the 11th of June, J. C. Underlay presiding.

The president congratulated the Company on the progress made during the past two years, and said that while he was first embarked in the enterprise a little over two years ago, he did so with many predictions of failure. It was said in the first place that we were unable to build a satisfactory factory, and that we would not have sufficient milk to support it after it was built. As a consequence we had not even the countenance or assistance of those men in the province, whose experience and judgment it is necessary to have in such matters.

Nevertheless we got our factory built and equipped, and the first season we did a large business, and with the aid of other King's County factories. Last summer we nearly doubled the business of the year before, and were ahead of all the other King's County factories, excepting New Perth, and looking forward hopefully to a considerable further increase the present season.

We regret that the Dairy Commission had found it necessary to reduce the rent paid for the factories from ten to five per cent. on the cost of building and furnishing, and said that although believing that the saving might have been made in other branches of the public service by the more advantage to the public, as well as to the politicians, we must not forget that the Government had materially helped the province by the aid they had given in establishing dairymen here, and still hoped that with a little good management this season we would be able to pay to the shareholders a dividend not far short of that of the two previous seasons.

Referring to the recent death of the Secretary he said we missed from amongst us a prominent member, one whom we all respected, and one whom we could not well afford to lose. Mr. Dingwall was a well-to-do, diligent, reliable and obliging official, but from his standing in the community, his readiness to give his time and his means towards the promotion of the object of the Association, caused him to be looked upon by all as one of our most prominent and useful members, and one whom we could ill afford to lose, especially in view of the new responsibilities we will have to assume in the coming year.

We also lost in him a good officer; courteous, attentive, reliable and unassuming—he was truly one of nature's noblemen. But he has passed away from us, and we cannot see how it was possible to only try to profit by the lesson his life and death has taught us, so that when we shall be called from this stage of activity some measure of the regret for his death will be lessened, and his memory so generally may fall to our lot.

Angus D. McDonald said that he fully concurred in all that had been said respecting the late Secretary, whom he knew and respected. He was kind and considerate to those about him; a good neighbor and a sincere friend, and during his last illness, when he felt that he would never meet with us here again, he desired him to convey to the Company an expression of his thankfulness for the confidence they had reposed in him, which diffidence alone had prevented him from giving expression to before, and proposed that the Association adopt a resolution concurring in the previous expressions of respect, which he knew were the sentiments of all present.

When proposed was unanimously resolved that the Association heartily concur in the sentiments of respect and esteem expressed for our late Secretary—Treasurer, Mr. William Dingwall.

After some further routine business the President said that the time had arrived for the officers of the past season to retire, and the duty now devolved upon the Company to appoint their successors, and suggested that the custom heretofore proposed of appointing a committee to preside during the election of officers be continued. Mr. John McKinnon was then called to the chair, and the following officers were elected:—

Secretary-Treas.—Angus D. McDonald, (Darell). Directors—J. C. Underlay, President, re-elected; Allen McDonald, Ronald T. McDonald, re-elected; Wm. Robt. Webster, do; Alex. McDonald, do; John Howlett, do; Archibald Fisher, do; Wm. D. Aitken, do; James W. Dingwall, do.

Charles McDonald, J. C. Underlay and John McKinnon were appointed representatives to the Annual Farmers and Dairymen's Association.

ANGUS D. McDONALD, Secy. WEST PRINCE LIBERAL CONSERVATIVES. Approve of Senator Ferguson's Efforts in the Interests of the Province.

The regular annual meeting of the West Prince Liberal-Conservative Association was held here to-day. A large gathering of the electors from the different parts of the riding were in attendance, and the utmost harmony prevailed. The officers were nearly all re-elected for the ensuing year, and the business was principally routine. The various reports set forth the good work being done by the Association in the interests of the Conservative cause, and the meeting showed its appreciation of the executive officers by passing hearty votes of thanks to them for their past services.

The new railway time-table came in for some high commendation, and, incidentally, Senator Ferguson was the subject of flattering references for his energy and ability in having justice meted out to his Province. The following resolution was moved by the undersigned and seconded by William Callaghan, Esq. M. P., and supported in spirited speeches by Messrs. James E. Birch, W. L. Strickland, and several other gentlemen, was unanimously and enthusiastically carried:—

Whereas, The western part of Prince County has long suffered from inadequate train and mail arrangements, and has at different times vainly striven under successive railway superintendents for some improvement in our position;

And, Whereas, owing to the efforts of our worthy representative in the Cabinet, Senator Ferguson, a time table has just been put in force upon the Railway in keeping with our requirements;

Therefore Resolved, That this annual meeting of the West Prince Liberal-Conservative Association records its high appreciation of the efforts of Senator Ferguson, not only in the matter of Rail and mail arrangements; but also in the line of securing justice for us in the proposed Railway branches, as well as in every interest affecting the province controlled by the Federal Government.

Meeting adjourned after what was considered a most successful three hour session.

P. C. MURPHY, Secretary. Alberton, June 23, 1895.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR. UP TO DATE TRAINS. Sir,—At last we have an up-to-date train arrangement; and I write, not to answer the silly attacks made upon our able and indefatigable representative in the Dominion Cabinet, Senator Ferguson, or those seconding his patriotic endeavors, but simply to express my own pleasure at the conveniences we now enjoy here, and that of the whole west on being at length supplied with a general system of communication from within and without the Province. The West is delighted, notwithstanding the contemptible effusions purporting to have originated here, but which in reality emanated from the general offices in Charlottetown, and are an indication of the empty-headedness, and at the same time the bitterness of spirit which aides and abets our unscrupulous politicians, who are so far from being ashamed of their practices as to send them to a characterless publication over a deceptive pseudonym. I am not surprised that an attempt was made to do so here, and that the editors were so far from being ashamed of their practices as to send them to a characterless publication over a deceptive pseudonym.

There are many questions which are raised by these observations on dust about, one of them being as to whether inhabited places have a warmer mean temperature than uninhabited places. The suggestion is that these dust particles, which are present in such large quantities in inhabited areas, serve as a covering to keep the earth's heat from radiating, and the bold speculation is made that possibly changes of climate in the earth's past history may be traced to the presence or absence of dust. Many are the interesting subjects for study therefore provided by the minute particles of aqueous vapor as they reveal themselves as dew, hoar frost, fog and mist.—English Mechanic.

Red State of Affairs. Rescuer (heartily)—There now, old fellow, you are safe on shore at last. It was a pretty close shave for you, but a miss is as good as a mile, you know. Rescued Man (in a jumble, out of the water)—I don't know about that. Rescuer—Oh, brace up, man. You're all right. Rescued Man—No, I'm not. My wife recently presented me with twins, and I didn't have any voice in naming them. My wife wanted me to perch in the tree, and she abhors tobacco smoke and is going to stay six months, likewise my wife's father. We differ in politics, and he often has fits, during which I am elected to hold him. Her sister is here, too. She is 37 years old and stage struck, and wants me to perch in the second story window and impersonate Juliet. The cellar is full of water, and—well, I fell into the river by accident, but, take it all in all, I guess you'd better fling me back again and let me drown.—Truth.

DUST PARTICLES COUNTED. A Mechanical Device That Registers the Atoms of the Air. A machine has been contrived by an expert for counting the number of dust particles present in the air, and this has been used at various places, and the atmosphere tested. The machine allows a known quantity of air to be passed into a chamber where the atoms of dust are moistened and precipitated onto a counting stage divided into convenient squares. All that is necessary is to count the spots on certain squares, multiply by a factor, and an estimate is obtained of the number of dust atoms present in the volume of air in question. A cigarette smoker is said to send out 4,000 million of these minute particles at every puff. One cubic centimetre of air is a convenient quantity to take as standard, and it has been found that the air at Battersea Park contains dust particles in amounts varying from 48,000 to 116,000 per cubic centimetre; the Eiffel Tower air varied between 104,000 to as low as 238.

There are many questions which are raised by these observations on dust about, one of them being as to whether inhabited places have a warmer mean temperature than uninhabited places. The suggestion is that these dust particles, which are present in such large quantities in inhabited areas, serve as a covering to keep the earth's heat from radiating, and the bold speculation is made that possibly changes of climate in the earth's past history may be traced to the presence or absence of dust. Many are the interesting subjects for study therefore provided by the minute particles of aqueous vapor as they reveal themselves as dew, hoar frost, fog and mist.—English Mechanic.

I shall send all my suffering neighbors to you. With gratitude yours, ROSE VALLEY, May 31, 1895.

Doctor McDonald, Dentist.—Dear Doctor,—For two years I have been a constant sufferer from toothache, always in dread of having them taken out. Hearing of your success I determined to try your method, and now, after having taken a box of your Ointment, which helped me wonderfully, while two boxes made a complete cure. I can recommend it to all others similarly afflicted. S. Side, Oct. 10, 1893. ALEX. McKAY, 1y—ap4

McKinnon's English Ointment. Mr. Neil McKinnon—Dear Sir,—For five years I was a sufferer from eczema. Physicians could not help me. At last I bought a box of your Ointment, which helped me wonderfully, while two boxes made a complete cure. I can recommend it to all others similarly afflicted. S. Side, Oct. 10, 1893. ALEX. McKAY, 1y—ap4
