10 Major U.S. Industries See Outlook Good For '65

CHICAGO (AP)—Leaders of 10 major U.S. industries have taken a look at the first six months of the new year, end, and generally, find the outlook bright.

Their specialities are steel, merchandising, construction machinery, appliances, construction, food retailing, railroading, automobiles and trucks, oils and banking and credit.

Some foresaw record business, others held their predictions to approximations of 1964 and others saw continuing growth but at possibly a slower pace.

Their opinions were collected by the First National Bank of Chicago, a project the bank undertakes semi - annually. Excerpts from their comments were:

Joseph L. Block, chairman, Inland Steel Co., steel:

"The greatest demand should come from business spending for plant and equipment . . . assuming there will be neither an early labor settlement not a strike, we believe steel production will establish a new first half record in 1965 . . . profits will be improved this year as a result of greatly increased sales but they will still fall short of an adequate return on investment in comparison with other industries."

Austin T. Cushman, chairman, Sears, Roebuck and Co., merchandising:

"The most important consideration is the fact that more people are working than ever before, the majority with high and rising incomes . . . we retailers have another good season ahead of us."

Harmon S. Eberhard, chairman, Caterpillar Tractor Co., construction machinery:

"The rapid rise of industrial output in the United States, accompanied as it has been by a gradual quickening in business capital spending, has led to a very active market in the industrial uses of construction machinery . . . the demand is expected to remain strong, both at home and abroad, at least through the first half of 1965 . . . sales by the industry, however, are not likely to increase as rapidly as they have in recent years."

Robert P. Gwinn, president, Sunbeam Corp., appliances:

"The over-all outlook for the appliance industry . . . is also excellent. Production and sales are expected to surpass 1964 levels."

Peter Kiewit, president, Peter Kiewit Sons, Inc., construction:

"I look forward to a reduction in space, missile and military construction . . . to a slowdown in construction of office buildings, apartments and single family dwellings in many locations. On the plus side, I think there will be more industrial plant construction to satisfy expansion requirements to meet competitive pricing, both local and foreign. Commercial buildings will increase because of new suburban area development and modernization of core areas . . . anyone postponing construction in the hope of lower prices will, I think, be disappointed."

Franklin J. Ounding, chairman, Jewel Tea Co., retail food:

"Two factors . . . may affect some types of retail sales adversely in the first half. One is the under-withholding of taxes in 1964, which in the first half of 1965 will be reflected in fewer refunds and higher makeup payments on 1964 liabilities. The second factor is the possible holding back of purchases by consumers in anticipation of excise tax cuts in 1965 . . . we are inclined to believe that their effect on food store sales will not be significant. Based on past experience, if consumers should postpone durable goods purchases they may be disposed to splurge a little on food."

Harry C. Murphy, president, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Co., railroads:

". . . With continuing sympathetic public recognition of needed relief for the industry from discriminatory ad valorem taxes, more rate making freedom, the desirability of soundly conceived mergers, and the need for efficient and economic transportation, it seems not inappropriate to predict that the coming six months will see further increase in rail ton-mile volume from 3 to 5 per cent . . . financial results . . . should approximate earnings for the first six months of this year when the industry produced a net income of $341,000,000."

George Russell, executive vice president, General Motors Corp., automotive:

"There is reason to anticipate that 1965 will be another—the fourth consecutive—good year for the motor vehicle industry."

John E. Swearingen, president, Standard Oil Co. (Indiana,) petroleum:

"New records in operations should be set in the first half of 1965 with a rise in domestic product demand of approximately three per cent over the first half of 1964 and passing the 11,000,000 barrel-a-day mark . . . the greatest percentage increase forecast . . . is in the category of what are termed "all other" products.

Homer J. Livingston, chairman, First National Bank of Chicago, credit and interest rates:

"Although credit policy is less easy than it was a year ago, and the commercial banks are less liquid, reserves are available and some further credit expansion is possible . . ."

Whites Spray Negro Tavern In Hail Of Machine-Gun Fire

DEERFIELD BEACH, Fla., (AP)—Three white youths in a passing car sprayed a hail of machine-gun fire into a Negro tavern crowded with Christmas Eve merry makers.

Six Negro men were wounded, none seriously.

Within minutes after the apparently motiveless shooting, more than 100 police cars spread a wide net for the black sedan and its three occupants.

The search, with a reduced number of officers participating continued into Christmas Day. We're not going to write this thing off," one officer said.

Witnesses said a steady burst of machine-gun fire erupted from the rear seat of the car as it drove slowly past the circle tavern on the western outskirts of this community.

Slugs tore through the door and window of the tavern, sending terrified patrons diving for cover. Two of the wounded were reported sitting in a car parked outside of the tavern. The others were inside.

Lieut. James Cooper said an unidentified truck driver saw the car approach the tavern, with two youths in the front seat and the third holding the machine gun in the rear.

The lieutenant said officers found a .45-calibre shell casing in front of the tavern.

The wounded were taken to hospital.

COSTLY BUT A SLUM

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Even a $50,000 home can be a slum, says Paul Roer, this city's traffic engineer. Speaking to the Kiwanis Club he discussed "traffic slums," where children need constant protection from heavy and fast traffic, and even the most "exclusive" district would come in this category. He said traffic difficulties had become significant in ordinary slums, too. Leaving a car parked on a lawn, for lack of anywhere else to put it, contributed quickly to running down a neighborhood.

The bidding:

4♥	Pass	7NT

Opening lead — four of clubs.

I played in the Masters Pairs in 1941 and held the North hand. The bidding as my table went as shown. Certainly my partner could not be criticized for attempting a grand slam, considering the huge hand he held and the fact that I had opened the bidding.

Sad to relate, he went down one when he elected to cash the A-K of spades instead of attempting the finesse. However, he had lots of company on the hand, about half the field playing for the drop while the other half chose to finesse the jack.

Many other contracts were also reached, including six no-trump, seven hearts and seven spades.

As usual in cases like this, those declarers who had chosen successfully to finesse expounded virtuously and volubly on why they had done so. However, I am sure that if the finesse had failed, the other half of the field who had played for the drop would have provided equally cogent reasons for refusing the finesse.

One pair who arrived at seven hearts made the contract without "guessing" for the queen. A club was led. Declarer (Alphonse Moyse, editor of the Bridge World) won and promptly ruffed a club in dummy.

After playing the ace of spades, Moyse cashed the A-K of diamonds and ruffed a diamond. He then drew four rounds of trumps and cashed the king of clubs.

The location of the queen of spades now presented no problem. Moyse led a spade and finessed, fully confident that the finesse would succeed.

During the play, East had shown up with precisely five diamonds, four hearts and three clubs. Hence he could not have been dealt more than one spade and the finesse against the queen was bound to be successful.

Moyse had the best of all possible reasons to finesse. He simply took the precaution of counting to thirteen. He then had a sure thing going for him.

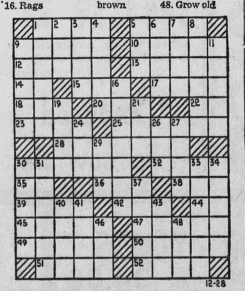
Saturday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X E is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
