An estimated 15,000,000 cubic yards of mud, rock and splintered timber choke this broad valley 110 miles east of Vancouver near Hope, B.C., Sunday after the slide of this unnamed mountain fell onto the Southern Trans-Provincial highway Saturday. Four persons were trapped in a car and two trucks on the highway which runs into the extreme end of the tongue of the slide at the lower centre of the picture. Wreckage of a truck and two bodies were found Sunday at the apex of the V formed by the tongue and the main portion of the slide. (CP Wirephoto)

Gen. Khanh Emerges Viet Nam Strong Man

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE SAIGON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, commander of the Vietnamese armed forces, won a diplomatic victory over the United States Saturday and emerged once again as the strong man of South Viet Nam. A communique signed jointly by Khanh, chief of state Phan Khanh Su and Premier Tran Van Huong purported to turn all power over to the civilian government—a point for which the United States had pressed.

It also provided for the release of all political prisoners—about 14, counting four members of the defunct high national council—locked up in the military purge of Dec. 20. This had been another American demand.

But the United States initially had called for two other important points.

The embassy here wanted the generals to back-track on the dissolution of the high national council, South Viet Nam's provisional legislature.

More important, the United States wanted guarantees that the military would not step in again, overturning more successive civilian governments.

Neither of these conditions was met in the communique. "MUCH TO BE DESIRED" An embassy spokesman grumbled that the communique left much to be desired, but seemed to be the basis for a Vietnamese government with which the United States could deal. In diplomatic language, this meant the United States would lift its implied threat of the last three weeks to cut aid to Viet Nam.

The communique did not specifically reassert civilian authority over the armed forces but merely said that the Aug. 27 communique by Khanh which first turned power over to the civilian government was still in effect.

Continued from page 1) action by the council, and last Sept. 17 the Soviet Union vetoed a Norwegian resolution deploring a drop of Indonesian paratroops into Malaysia and calling on both countries to refrain from the threat or use of force.

One explanation it gave was the resolution overlooked the "true cause" of tension in Southeast Asia, "the unceasing military and political intervention of colonial powers in the internal affairs" of countries there. Another was that Indonesia was against the resolution.

Some diplomats here told the Soviet Union would veto a resolution against any large-scale Indonesian offensive, just as it vetoed one against a small-scale incursion.

Canada Nips Czechs On Bourbonnais's Goal

TORONTO (CP)—Roger Bourbonnais's goal at 13:5 of the third period gave Canada a 3-2 win over Czechoslovakia in a Sunday international hockey exhibition contest. The win was the second for the Canadians in four meetings. Gary Dineen put Canada in front with one second remaining in the first period when he pelted a loose puck by Czech netminder Vlada Dzurilla during a scramble in front of the net. The Czechs showed 7,622 fans a tremendous display of skating and shooting, but were only able to dent Canadian goalie Ken Broderick's armor twice. Zdenek Kepak fired a screen shot that Broderick didn't even move on for the Czech's first goal at 14:57, and Stanislav Pryl's backhand caught the upper right corner to give the visitors a 2-1 lead. The Canadians came back strongly after the second period with Al Johnson netting the equalizer at 9:36. The Winnipeg-based Canadian team continued to pressure the Czechs until Bourbonnais scored the winner on Gary Aldcorn's passout from behind the net.

Longshoremen's

(Continued from page 1) national economy, and the nature of the stalemate seemed to promise consideration in Congress. The dock workers last previous contract dispute almost wound up there. The White House said President Johnson is keeping abreast of developments. The crisis came with the rejection by New York dock workers of the new contract, which traditionally is the master plan for longshoremen labor pacts along the two coasts. By custom in the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association, when one port strikes in a situation such as this, all strike.

Called Best Contract

Gleason viewed the New York pact as the best contract in the 72-year history of the union and was chagrined by its rejection, even by his own IILA local. The settlement proposal represented a breakthrough in the New York Shipping Association's efforts to ease some of the economies of automation. Union negotiators agreed to a gradual reduction in the size of dock gangs to 17 from 20 men during the four-year term of the contract.

In return, the shipping association, bargaining for 145 companies, agreed to guarantee the union 1,600 hours of work a year per member, thus assuring them a wage base of $5,860. Also included was a $32 weekly package of wage boosts and benefits in steps during the life of the contract. The present basic wage in New York harbor is $3.25 an hour.

The agreement was reached under the government supervision provided for in the Taft-Hartley Act after a court order halted the dock workers one-day strike of Oct. 1 for an 80-day cooling-off period.

Players Are Finally Playing As A Team

TORONTO (CP)—Gord Simpson, coach of Canada's national hockey team, says his team is finally playing together, but he would be a lot happier if he could get the players to train under one roof.

Simpson discussed the problem following Canada's 3-2 win over Czechoslovakia in an exhibition hockey game Sunday.

"Some of the guys were a little tired out there today," he said. "Dineen, Broderick and Barry MacKenzie just finished playing games the night before last with their home teams. Then they have to play again on a different team."

"If we could only get them practising under one roof at the University of Manitoba, it would certainly help our performance as a national team." Simpson thought his team played one of its best games Sunday against the Czechs. The Canadians have beaten the Czechs twice, tied once and lost once.

The Canadians scored the tying and winning goals within five minutes of each other in the third period.

You see, we need the money. Some of the revenue we earn comes from loans we make to people. So it's to our advantage to give every request for money much more thought. A little more understanding, too.

It could be money in The Bank, so to speak. Another consideration: If we approve your loan you'll probably feel more inclined to do all your banking with us. Then we can really show you how truly helpful our complete banking services can be!

So do us both this one big favour. Next time, see us for your money.
