The market for refined sugar has gained additional strength this week, an under and active demand, from all points, business has been animated with a strong spirit, yellows having advanced 1/2c. and granulated 3/4c. Local buyers have shown a marked degree of interest which, together with the out of town demand of a large volume, has practically exhausted the supply. The capacity of the refineries has been taxed to the utmost, but has failed to provide for the requirements of the demand indeed some of them are sold ahead. The St. Lawrence sugar refining company are making necessary alterations and improvements, which, when finished will enable them to increase their output thirty per cent.—Montreal Herald.
