ENGINEERING SOCIETY NEWS

Cornboil

Last Friday the Engineering Society had our Annual Corn Boil. The Corn Boil is the first chance for all of the new society members to get to know each other. The lucky establishment chosen for the site of the Corn Boil was the Millstream Barn in Brackley. There was a good turnout of members, approximately sixty in all. The fun started at 4:00 when the first van arrived. Not long after, the pool table was busy and the music was loud. A full crowd was on hand by 5:00.

The Frosh were excited about being able to participate in a small ritual involving liquids... I shall say no more on the grounds that it might incriminate me. There was an added bonus this year as the society president was involved in this ritual. Afterwards he was quoted as saying "what did they put in my (Labatt's product)?" The night was a success and a good time was had by all ... even the few who had to go home early due to a self inflicted liquid sickness. The society would like to thank the people at the Millstream Barn for having us and we would also like to thank Labatt's for being our sponsor for the evening and for the rest of our events.

Hockey

The Engineering Society has put up a sign-up sheet for an intramural hockey team. There are sheets in the first and third year rooms. The membership is up this year in the society so we are expecting a good turn out.

Paintball Challenge

The Engineering Society would like to challenge anyone to a game of paintball. If you dare, contact Shane Ostridge or Don McAskill in the Engineering Department.

Notice Board

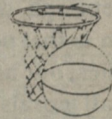

To the Mystery man, Please use the washroom on the bio-floor. Our washroom is off limits to you and the Palm Sisters.

Engineering Quote of the Week -He who dies with the most toys wins.

On a serious note, the Engineering Society would like to take this opportunity to give our full support to the victim and of the recent assault of campus and her family. We also support the CFS in their "No Means No" campaign. We feel that it is an important issue and it should be addressed.
