editorial

Time constraints make this week's editorial short, but we'd like to warn our readers that the November 29th SUN is the last issue this term. If you would like something published or publicized before Christmas then your time is running low. The SUN staff urges you to act quickly. The deadline for submissions is Monday, November 26th.

To Someone Help, It's Terrible (and you, too, know who you are):

You are absolutely right when you say it's terrible but you are referring to the wrong side of the coin. It's terrible when persons hired to do a job are made to feel as if they are "criminals" for following and enforcing the rules set by their superiors. It's terrible when people lash out at the dons when they are caught breaking a rule and have to pay the penalty. However, the dons are by no means the spies or jailers that some people seem to think. They are merely doing the job they are expected to do, and doing it well, I might add.

Like you say, "Nothing happens after 2:00 that can't happen before." So do whatever it is you are doing before and obey the rules, or keep it quiet and don't let anyone know what you're doing, because if you keep whatever you are doing quietly in your room, no one is going to come pounding on your door to see what's going on. Some of you may use the excuse that you don't want to have to hide whatever it is you are doing. All I can say is that there is a difference between hiding something and being private about something.

It is also terrible that people who consider themselves "adults" do not have the common decency to respect the rights of their fellow residents who do not wish to hear screaming, yelling, and door slamming - not to mention having those "adults" pounding on your door, stealing the pens off memo boards (but not before they leave assorted obscenities), and, last but not least, turning up the volume of their stereos from anywhere between 7 and 10 - all at 1:00 or so in the morning!!! You probably won't believe this, but all of the aforementioned noise wakes up those of us who are trying to sleep because we have classes in the morning. Yes, even on FRIDAY morning. I, for one, think the rules should be stricter concerning the totally unnecessary, excessive, and extremely aggravating noise and rabbleroxing which very frequently accompanies nighttime visitors and their hosts after Pigs, parties, pubs, and usually even plain, old, ordinary evenings.

I think that it's about time some of the resident students really begin acting like the adults they believe themselves to be and have some respect for others in this building. Sure you have a right to play your stereo (or make a little noise), but when I am in the privacy of my own room, and I hear your music (or any other noise) blasting through my walls, then you have just invaded my right and privacy and your rights end there! I do not like to hear Led Zeppelin, Aerosmith, or Black Sabbath blasting loud and clear through my walls at any time of the day or night, and you may not like to hear Arlo Guthrie, Mozart, or Scott Joplin. Solution: Learn to keep your noise down and I'll keep mine down, too.

P.S. Your use of obscenities was totally uncalled for. You are completely out of bounds when you claim that the conditions in which you are now living "could be made intolerable" - a paranoid statement to say the least (not to mention unfair). Also, your comment concerning Hitler was totally, completely, and unabashedly IGNORANT!

EDITOR'S NOTE

The Sun has received huge response to the writings of Kate O'Connell. We've received seven letters, all of them negative to Kate. Some of them downgraded her and her political beliefs so badly that we have withheld them from publication. This week's letter is one of the milder ones, and that is why it is in print.

In the editor's opinion the whole issue of Albania and its government has gotten entirely out of hand. With the appearance of the following letter, we consider the issue closed.

Open Letter to Kate O'Connell

I have read almost all of your letters and have come to the conclusion that you are trying to save us from a fate worse than life. You want us to see a new way of living, to cause a revolution in our minds, to change our patterns of thought. You need a lot of advice.
