Weeds.

The white weeds which cover the fields in the vicinity of Charlottetown are very disagreeable. Weeds are also gaining upon the farmers of other districts in the Province. The spread of weeds is partially due to the importation of wheat and other seeds grown by careless farmers in Ontario. But it is largely owing to the carelessness of some of our own farmers. One careless farmer can easily produce enough weeds to seed his neighborhood. So it happens that in many settlements the thrifty and tidy farmers have ceased their efforts to eradicate weeds, the seeds of which come, every autumn, over their slovenly neighbors' fences. In some parts of the Province the evil has now reached a point at which it materially affects the value of the crops. The soil which is compelled to support weeds in such quantities as appear in the vicinity of this city cannot, of course, produce a full crop of anything. Apart from this fact, the appearance of so many weeds reflects upon the character of the Province. A stranger coming among us is very apt to argue that the people of Prince Edward Island are a thriftless lot; for, if thrifty they would not let their fertile fields be covered by weeds. In any case, the evil should now, if possible, be abated. But to this end continued effort is required. It is useless for one man to attempt to eradicate the weeds upon his land, while his neighbors continue to let them grow upon theirs. We hope, therefore, that the owners of land in the vicinity of Charlottetown will at once unite to put down the white weed. It can be done—but not without intelligent, systematic, organized effort. When the landowners in and about the city have shown a good example, we may hope that the farmers in the country will be inspired to adopt similar measures for the abatement of the weed nuisance. As it is important, at times, for men to associate themselves together for the repression of disease, so it is important that our farmers should now unite in an effort to eradicate the disgraceful weeds.

Fires in King's County.

A GENTLEMAN, just returned from King's County, says that no idea can be formed by outsiders of the damage and loss sustained by the farmers of King's County, as a result of fires extending at intervals all the way from East Point to Murray Harbor. While driving from Cardigan to Souris, through Dundas, he counted no less than twenty-one of these disastrous fires. Large parts of the country in the vicinity of Dingwell's Mill, Bay Fortune, has been overrun by them. Thirty acres of hardwood at Dundas were burned. The Presbyterian Church at Dundas was in imminent danger, and would have been destroyed but for the efforts of the parishioners. Great damage was also done at Sturgeon. A house at New Harmony was destroyed by fire on the night of Thursday last. Altogether the damage has been incalculable. But the rain of last night has happily quenched the fires.

Notes and Comments.

—What is the meaning of this? The Toronto Globe's commercial columns recently contained the interesting statement that "granulated sugars are now cheaper in Toronto than in New York."
—Gladstone's great parliamentary experience will probably enable him to elude any snare set by the Conservatives. His purpose in the feeling of the new House on a simple vote of confidence avoids the necessity of revealing his own policy, and permits him to hold the diverse elements among his followers in a common attack. His real troubles will not begin until he has taken office.
—By sustaining Mr. Greenway a majority of the people of Manitoba have declared that they prefer a non-sectarian school system to that prescribed by the law as interpreted by the Supreme Court of Canada. If the Privy Council should declare that the separate school law of the Dominion Parliament is ultra vires, the wishes of the majority in the Province will be respected—but if not the matter will notwithstanding the result of the elections, remain as it is.
—The annual report of the Victoria, British Columbia, Board of Trade, states that the value of the various industries, inclusive of sealing, within the province approximates $4,000,000, and gives work to about 12,000 employees; in the fish canneries alone nearly one-half of this number is employed, but one-third of the capital is interested in sawmills and saw and door factories. British Columbia industrial establishments have increased nearly 300 per cent. since 1881, and in proportion to the population now takes first place as the manufacturing province of the Dominion. Although the sealing fleet has more than trebled in number since 1888, few of the schooners have been built in British Columbia, they have been principally purchased in Nova Scotia.
—A census bulletin just issued as to the growth of manufactures in Canadian cities, towns and villages during the past decade shows the following: In cities and towns of 5,000 inhabitants, the number of establishments has increased 77 per cent.; capital, 102 per cent.; number of employees, 49 per cent.; aggregate yearly wages, 75 per cent.; payments for raw material, 79 per cent.; value of products, 62 per cent. Among the towns showing remarkable progress is Yarmouth, where the population increased 75 per cent., and the manufacturing output now averages $200 per head. Montreal represents fifteen per cent. of the total manufacturing output. This is one point below its standing ten years ago. There is a great comparative increase of manufacturing in small villages. St. John where the population increased 49 per cent., has 773 establishments, capital invested $5,384,000, employees 5,878, wages $1,882,000, products $8,000,000. Halifax has 348 manufacturers, capital $5,337,000, employing hands 4,308, wages $1,215,000, products $7,500,000.

Fatal Shooting Accident.

MARY JANE MCCARTHY LOSES HER LIFE WHILE VISITING FRIENDS.

A very sad accident occurred at Albany, N. Y., on Saturday morning last, by which Mary Jane, the 16 year old daughter of Mr. Michael McCarthy of this city lost her life. On Saturday, 9th of July, Mary accompanied her cousin, who is a member of the militia and had been to the city attending the annual camp, to his father's, Mr. J. C. Perkins, to spend her holidays. Up to the time of the accident Mary had a very happy time. Last Saturday morning, it appears, Mary was brushing her hair before the bureau, when her little cousin came rushing into the room. In the corner near the door stood a loaded gun, and in front of it a trunk. Whether the opening of the door knocked the gun down, or whether the little girl did so, cannot be ascertained. The gun fell, however, and was discharged, the charge entering Mary's side, piercing her heart and causing immediate death. Mr. Perkins, on hearing the report of the gun, ran to the room where Mary was and found that as before stated, the charge had entered her side and killed her instantly. Dr. Dougherty was immediately summoned, who, in the afternoon called a jury, which, after hearing the evidence, returned a verdict of accidental death. The gun must have been cocked as it would be almost impossible for it to have been discharged otherwise. The carelessness of allowing loaded guns to lie about a house in prominent places cannot be too severely condemned. Her remains were taken to this city early yesterday morning. The funeral took place from her parents residence, Rockford Street, this city, yesterday, and was largely attended. The deceased was a young girl whose gentleness and goodness had won the love and respect of all with whom she came in contact and as her flower-laden coffin passed to its last resting place, it bore testimony of sincere sympathy from many kind hearts. Floral offerings were sent by the ladies of the Brick Convent, ladies of the Hospital, Mrs. J. D. Mason, Children of Mary, (of whose society she was a member) and from numerous friends. Her bereaved parents have the sympathy of the community in their sad trial.

Obituary.

Georgetown has lost another of its highly respected and best esteemed townspeople in the personage of Mrs. Alice Walker, wife of our popular harness maker. Mrs. Walker was suddenly taken ill on the evening of Friday, the 8th inst., and after lingering on the verge of death for some days, passed away from this life as one entering a quiet and peaceful sleep. Her remains were followed to the Presbyterian Cemetery by a large number of the inhabitants and friends from the neighboring districts, which showed the esteem in which she was held by all who knew her. Mrs. Walker was sixty-four years of age, a kind and loving mother and an affectionate wife. The people of Georgetown and surrounding vicinity sympathize greatly with Mr. Walker and his family in their sad bereavement.

Scottish Relics.

Sir,—I am informed on reliable authority that the "reel" referred to by a correspondent of this morning's Guardian as a "relic of ancient Scottish antiquity" is not "Lord Macdonald's reel," but a part of that novel and delectable musical instrument, the "Humstrum," which the Guardian some time ago announced to the world. That was a funny "reel," but not at all suitable for the occasion of the gathering of the Clans.

MUSICS.

The years rolled on; the priestly garb Bedecked a princely prelate now; The saintly voice a blessing speaks From underneath a mitred brow. In his rounds of zeal the Bishop seeks Once more fair Lennox sea-girt isle; When lo! from out the gathering shades, The brilliant lights of welcome smile.

In centre of a glittering throng The reverend Father stately stands; And, in the name of the Triune God, He uplifts his sacred hands. With eager joy His advent waits, Whose torches gleam on wave and shore, In his hoarse falsetto he answers; For the saved of many years before.

So we, in our rebel six nature, Fine under the chastening rod; And fly from our burden of evil From wrath of a just-dealing God, To hide in Christ's sheltering raiment Of righteousness, inwove with peace, To find, in a sinless substitute, The sin-fettered soul's release.

So we, when our Great High Priest shall come, Begirt of power, enrobed of state, And the peoples of ten thousand isles With eager joy His advent wait, Shall hail, with a heart-song of rapture, His step on our sin-furrowed strand; Shall march with the grand triumphal throng, In the glow of a God-lit land.

Crisp and Casual.

Idaho is the only state whose name has never been satisfactorily accounted for. The Homestead trouble costs the State of Pennsylvania about $21,000 a day. In the State of New York there are manufactured nearly 3,000,000,000 cigarettes per annum. The tallest man living to-day is said to be Chang-tu Ling, the Chinese giant. His height is 7 feet 3 inches. Richmond, Ind., has an organization known as the "1827 Society," composed entirely of persons born in 1827. A Philadelphia publisher contemplates bringing out an edition of Shakespeare in words of one syllable for use in the primary schools. The total sum contributed for charity in England last year was $15,000,000. Of that amount $10,000,000 was given by a Jew, Baron Hirsch. Athens, Ohio, has an eight-year-old boy who is the possessor of double jointed limbs—arms and legs—which have the singular advantage of bending with equal facility either way. In Kosuth's day, less than half a century ago, the combined population of Buda and Pesth, lying on the opposite sides of the Danube, was about 10,000. The consolidated municipality now has a population of fully 500,000.

CONFIRMED.—The favorable impression produced on the first appearance of the agreeable liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs a few years ago has been more than confirmed by the pleasant experience of all the proprietors and manufacturers of the California Fig Syrup Company.

FOR OVER FIFTY YEARS Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for their children while cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural sleep, soothes the inflamed child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best-known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Iyr

LONDON, July 22.—The Post this morning contained a leader headed "Why resign?" which is causing a sensation in view of that paper's close relation with the Government. The evening papers all reprint the leader as a semi-official tip. The article says: "Assuming that the opposition has a slender majority on the motion that the Government does not possess the confidence of the country, why should the ministers immediately resign in view of the fact that they have not to deal with a compact opposition, but only a disjointed horde of factions. How can Lord Salisbury and his colleagues conscientiously reconcile their duty to their sovereign and their party with an impudently abandonment of power in consequence of the transient action of the horde which now disfigures the character and degrades the traditions of Parliamentary opposition." "The ministry," the article concludes, "should not act beyond advising the sovereign to prorogue Parliament until the normal period of assemblage arrive."

Written for The Examiner. The Hiding Place. AN INCIDENT IN THE LIFE OF THE LATE BELOVED AND REVERED BISHOP MACINTYRE. The low, sweet voice of a summer's sea Floats far along the pebbly strand; Whistling melodies from greening grove, Resound in all the pleasant land. The streamlet, freed from icy band, Rings gaily on its seaward way; All nature, in responsive mood, Dith chime in springlike roundelay. What notes discordant dare to mar Those tender melodies of song? Can those shrill tones be tones of wrath On softest zephyrs borne along? Yea! over Ocean's peaceful hum A woman's wraithful voice soars high; And through the green-arched forest aisles Rings out young childhood's plaintive cry. Who cometh, arrayed in priestly guise, Full-charged with embassy divine? Of noble mien, of princely port, Of lofty brow and look benign. The milder rays the uplifted hand— The culprit turned, and quickly ran And refuge sought, and shelter found Beneath cloak of the holy man. Calm, clear and firm the warning fell "Forgive! if thou wouldst be forgiven? Whose heart doth harbor angry thoughts? Can he'er as penitent be shriven. Forgive thy son! this once forgive! His surety I shall gladly be; Or, if justice claimeth punishment, Then, visit his crimes on me."
