

BOOKS PRESENTED TO HIGH SCHOOL

In the above picture, Mr. R. D. Donnelly is seen presenting a copy of the book, "Daylight Through the Mountain" by Frank Walker to Mrs. Charles MacKenzie. The picture was taken last night at the Queen Charlotte High School library where various books were presented to the library for reference purposes.

The novel is an engineering epic and tells about the life and letters of Walter and Francis Shanley. Mr. Donnelly made the presentation on behalf of the Prince Edward Island Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada. Other books were presented by Miss Iphigene Arsenault to the High School Library on behalf of the Girl Guide Association of Prince Edward Island.

38 Defeated M. P.'s In Line For $3,000 Pension

By DAVE MCINTOSH Canadian Press Staff Writer OTTAWA (CP) — Thirty-eight former Members of Parliament beaten in Monday's general election qualify for a full $3,000 annual pension for life.

A former MP must have served in at least three Parliaments to receive the full $3,000 pension. The pension fund is built up by $240 annual contributions by MPs with this amount being matched by the federal treasury.

The list of 38 comprises 26 Liberals, five members of the CCF, six members of the Social Credit party, including leader Solon Low, and one independent, Dr. Raoul Poulin of Beauce.

Full pensions also will be available to several other long-time MPs who retired before the election. These include Rebe Beaudoin, former Speaker, Rev. Dan McIvor, veteran Liberal from Fort William, and Victor Quelch, Social Credit from Acadia.

Members for full pensions included: Clarte Gillis, CCF, Cape Breton South; By provinces, here is the list of former MPs beaten Monday who qualify for full pensions: Nova Scotia—T. A. M. Kirk (L—Shelburne—Yarmouth-Clare).

New Brunswick — A. Wesley Stuart (L—Charlotte). Quebec — Raoul Poulin (Ind—Beauce) and 16 Liberals: Robert Cauchon, Beauharnois—Salaberry; Auguste Maltais, Charlevoix; J. A. Blanchette, Compton-Frontenac; Charles Cannon, Iles-de-la-Madeleine; Maurice Breton, Joliette—L'Assomption—Montcalm;

Andre Gauthier, Lac-St. Jean, Leopold Demers, Montreal—Laval; Marcel Monette, Montreal Mercier; Hector Dupuis, Montreal Ste. Marie; Hugh Proudfoot, Pontiac-Temisamingue; Dr. Pierre Gauthier, Portneuf; Wilfrid Lacroix, Quebec Montmorency; Ernest O. Gingras, Richmond-Wolfe; Lomer Brisson, Saguenay; Maurice Gingues, Sherbrooke; Louis Roberge, Stanstead.

Ontario—Three Liberals: Don Brown, Essex West; E. Blake Huffman, Kent; W. J. Henderson, Kingston.

Manitoba — Three CCF members: Fred Zapligny, Dauphin; Alistair Stewart, Winnipeg North; and Stanley Knowles, Winnipeg North Centre.

Saskatchewan — A. M. Nicholson (CCF — Mackenzie); J. H. Harrison (L — Meadow Lake); J. G. Gardiner (L — Melville); M. J. Coldwell (CCF—Rosetown-Biggar); Irvin Studer (L—Swift Current-Maple Creek).

Alberta — Six Social Crediters: C. E. Johnston, Bow River; John Blackmore, Lethbridge; R. E. E. G. Hansell, Macleod; Solon Low, Peace River; Fred Shaw, Red Deer; Ray Thomas, Wetaskiwin.

British Columbia — Two Liberals: James Sinclair, Coast-Capilano; James Byrne, Kootenay East.

toral system that is apt to translate their wishes into tremendous majorities. Having finally voted to humble a too-powerful Liberal government last June, they now have made a Conservative government far more powerful than its predecessor was. Our chief regret over Monday's election is that it puts Lester Pearson on the sidelines of the international scene, where statesmen of his calibre are always too few and were never so acutely needed as now.

Toronto Telegram (Ind.) — A massive majority brings with it new and greater responsibilities for the Diefenbaker government. In the annals of politics, the Diefenbaker triumph exceeds anything in Canadian history, and is perhaps closer to the sweeping victory of Dwight D. Eisenhower in U.S. politics in his first election of 1950 than any recent democratic election.

Winnipeg Free Press (Ind. Lib.) — The pendulum has taken an unusually long time to swing but it certainly has swung now with a vengeance. The predominant feeling was that the Conservatives so long, now deserved a fair chance. Liberalism in Canada has been stripped down to the point where the bone shows. Is there still, now that the rich attire and the fat of the days of power have gone, good hard bone?

Edmonton Journal (Ind.) — It was a tremendous personal triumph for Mr. Diefenbaker. It is proper to say that millions of the Canadians who marked ballots for a Conservative candidate knew little or nothing about the candidate; they were voting for Mr. Diefenbaker as the man they waited to lead them at a time that is filled with both great dangers and great opportunities.

Vancouver Sun (Ind.) — It is a tremendous vote of confidence. Some difficult years are ahead and they will be made more difficult in Parliament by the fact that an overwhelming majority such as Mr. Diefenbaker possesses — such as the Liberals too often possessed in the past 22 years — is not a healthy thing.

Victoria Times (Ind. — Lib): Apart from the clear expression of the general will the most important and most satisfactory result of the election is the end of the one-party system in Quebec. A political division based on race is ended. The ghost of Louis Riel has finally been laid.

Sydney Cape Breton Post (Ind.) — Even the most rabid supporters of an apparently inspired national leader could not have expected such an overwhelming mandate from the Canadian electorate.

Quebec L'Action Catholique (Ind.) — Quebec followed the general trend. Except in the last days of the campaign Mr. Diefenbaker did not try to seduce the province. He made commitments only of a vague and general nature. Quebecers will remember nevertheless that Mr. Diefenbaker has promised to respect the rights of the province as guaranteed by the constitution and declared himself in favor of Canada's two cultures.

Toronto Star (Ind. Lib.) — Canadians have a penchant for strong government, and an election consideration than she was accorded in the last cabinet.

Quebec Le Soleil (Ind. — Mr. Diefenbaker can interpret Quebec's vote as proof of its confidence, but he must not forget it is also a manner of strengthening the province's claims in favor of a return of its taxation rights, claims which Quebec has battled for on the provincial scene for years. The fight for provincial autonomy now moves to a second level, its true level, and the people will ask more than words, they will expect positive action.

Quebec Chronicle - Telegraph (Ind-PC) — Perhaps it is to be regretted that the response was so strong. One of the big complaints against former Liberal governments was that the large representation in Parliament tended to make the opposition of no effect. Where this situation was bad at the time, it is extended numerically. Yet this is what the people of Canada wanted, and it places on Mr. Diefenbaker and the Conservatives the responsibility to prevent the abuses of big-majority governments from returning to Parliament.

Quebec L'Action Catholique (Ind.) — Quebec followed the general trend. Except in the last days of the campaign Mr. Diefenbaker did not try to seduce the province. He made commitments only of a vague and general nature. Quebecers will remember nevertheless that Mr. Diefenbaker has promised to respect the rights of the province as guaranteed by the constitution and declared himself in favor of Canada's two cultures.

Toronto Star (Ind. Lib.) — Canadians have a penchant for strong government, and an election consideration than she was accorded in the last cabinet.

Quebec Le Soleil (Ind. — Mr. Diefenbaker can interpret Quebec's vote as proof of its confidence, but he must not forget it is also a manner of strengthening the province's claims in favor of a return of its taxation rights, claims which Quebec has battled for on the provincial scene for years. The fight for provincial autonomy now moves to a second level, its true level, and the people will ask more than words, they will expect positive action.

Quebec Chronicle - Telegraph (Ind-PC) — Perhaps it is to be regretted that the response was so strong. One of the big complaints against former Liberal governments was that the large representation in Parliament tended to make the opposition of no effect. Where this situation was bad at the time, it is extended numerically. Yet this is what the people of Canada wanted, and it places on Mr. Diefenbaker and the Conservatives the responsibility to prevent the abuses of big-majority governments from returning to Parliament.

Quebec L'Action Catholique (Ind.) — Quebec followed the general trend. Except in the last days of the campaign Mr. Diefenbaker did not try to seduce the province. He made commitments only of a vague and general nature. Quebecers will remember nevertheless that Mr. Diefenbaker has promised to respect the rights of the province as guaranteed by the constitution and declared himself in favor of Canada's two cultures.

Toronto Star (Ind. Lib.) — Canadians have a penchant for strong government, and an election consideration than she was accorded in the last cabinet.

Quebec Le Soleil (Ind. — Mr. Diefenbaker can interpret Quebec's vote as proof of its confidence, but he must not forget it is also a manner of strengthening the province's claims in favor of a return of its taxation rights, claims which Quebec has battled for on the provincial scene for years. The fight for provincial autonomy now moves to a second level, its true level, and the people will ask more than words, they will expect positive action.

Quebec Chronicle - Telegraph (Ind-PC) — Perhaps it is to be regretted that the response was so strong. One of the big complaints against former Liberal governments was that the large representation in Parliament tended to make the opposition of no effect. Where this situation was bad at the time, it is extended numerically. Yet this is what the people of Canada wanted, and it places on Mr. Diefenbaker and the Conservatives the responsibility to prevent the abuses of big-majority governments from returning to Parliament.

Quebec L'Action Catholique (Ind.) — Quebec followed the general trend. Except in the last days of the campaign Mr. Diefenbaker did not try to seduce the province. He made commitments only of a vague and general nature. Quebecers will remember nevertheless that Mr. Diefenbaker has promised to respect the rights of the province as guaranteed by the constitution and declared himself in favor of Canada's two cultures.

Toronto Star (Ind. Lib.) — Canadians have a penchant for strong government, and an election consideration than she was accorded in the last cabinet.

Quebec Le Soleil (Ind. — Mr. Diefenbaker can interpret Quebec's vote as proof of its confidence, but he must not forget it is also a manner of strengthening the province's claims in favor of a return of its taxation rights, claims which Quebec has battled for on the provincial scene for years. The fight for provincial autonomy now moves to a second level, its true level, and the people will ask more than words, they will expect positive action.

Editorial Comments On Conservative Landslide

Ottawa Citizen (Ind. Lib.) — The government, unless it exercises great restraint, will be able to ride roughshod over the Commons. It will be interesting to see how much the Conservatives under Mr. Diefenbaker cherish those rights of Parliament about which they were so solicitous in their own bleak days of opposition.

Prince Albert Herald (Ind.) — Prince Albert (is) jubilant today over the victory of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's Conservative party in Monday's election. And yet, there can be no doubt that the smashing victory, largely fashioned by the MP for this riding, raises problems of tremendous magnitude. We pray he may be guided with the wisdom of the days ahead will demand.

Saskatoon Star - Phoenix (Ind. Lib.) — What accounts for this dramatic surge of support for the Progressive Conservative? Many factors, undoubtedly. For one thing, the dynamic personality of Prime Minister Diefenbaker. . . finally, in our opinion, the nationwide contagious sentiment. "Let's give the Conservatives a chance" and its corollary, "After all, the Liberals had 22 years of power."

Medicine Hat News (Ind.) — The vote Monday was a tremendous testimony of faith in . . . John Diefenbaker, but an unanimous verdict. Liberal Leader Pearson must be still wondering what hit him (but) it is highly unlikely any other man could have done better. . . against the man of destiny. We are confident he (Pearson) will fill the role of opposition leader as well as it could be filled under the circumstances.

Winnipeg Tribune (Ind.) — The Conservative landslide is a personal triumph for Prime Minister Diefenbaker, and it presents him with the greatest challenge of his life. With such a following in Parliament he must watch his every move to prove constantly that he can remain "a great democrat" in the face of such power. With the defeat of the leaders of CCF and Social Credit whose two groups may wither on the branch and eventually vanish from the political scene.

Ottawa Journal (Ind. Con.) — For the third parties this, it would seem, is journey's end; complete extinction for Social Credit, a mortal blow for the CCF. . . the drama of the day, its real aspect of political revolution, was the result in Quebec.

Quebec L'Action Catholique (Ind.) — Quebec followed the general trend. Except in the last days of the campaign Mr. Diefenbaker did not try to seduce the province. He made commitments only of a vague and general nature. Quebecers will remember nevertheless that Mr. Diefenbaker has promised to respect the rights of the province as guaranteed by the constitution and declared himself in favor of Canada's two cultures.

Toronto Star (Ind. Lib.) — Canadians have a penchant for strong government, and an election consideration than she was accorded in the last cabinet.

Quebec Le Soleil (Ind. — Mr. Diefenbaker can interpret Quebec's vote as proof of its confidence, but he must not forget it is also a manner of strengthening the province's claims in favor of a return of its taxation rights, claims which Quebec has battled for on the provincial scene for years. The fight for provincial autonomy now moves to a second level, its true level, and the people will ask more than words, they will expect positive action.

Quebec Chronicle - Telegraph (Ind-PC) — Perhaps it is to be regretted that the response was so strong. One of the big complaints against former Liberal governments was that the large representation in Parliament tended to make the opposition of no effect. Where this situation was bad at the time, it is extended numerically. Yet this is what the people of Canada wanted, and it places on Mr. Diefenbaker and the Conservatives the responsibility to prevent the abuses of big-majority governments from returning to Parliament.

Quebec L'Action Catholique (Ind.) — Quebec followed the general trend. Except in the last days of the campaign Mr. Diefenbaker did not try to seduce the province. He made commitments only of a vague and general nature. Quebecers will remember nevertheless that Mr. Diefenbaker has promised to respect the rights of the province as guaranteed by the constitution and declared himself in favor of Canada's two cultures.

Toronto Star (Ind. Lib.) — Canadians have a penchant for strong government, and an election consideration than she was accorded in the last cabinet.

Quebec Le Soleil (Ind. — Mr. Diefenbaker can interpret Quebec's vote as proof of its confidence, but he must not forget it is also a manner of strengthening the province's claims in favor of a return of its taxation rights, claims which Quebec has battled for on the provincial scene for years. The fight for provincial autonomy now moves to a second level, its true level, and the people will ask more than words, they will expect positive action.

Quebec Chronicle - Telegraph (Ind-PC) — Perhaps it is to be regretted that the response was so strong. One of the big complaints against former Liberal governments was that the large representation in Parliament tended to make the opposition of no effect. Where this situation was bad at the time, it is extended numerically. Yet this is what the people of Canada wanted, and it places on Mr. Diefenbaker and the Conservatives the responsibility to prevent the abuses of big-majority governments from returning to Parliament.

Quebec L'Action Catholique (Ind.) — Quebec followed the general trend. Except in the last days of the campaign Mr. Diefenbaker did not try to seduce the province. He made commitments only of a vague and general nature. Quebecers will remember nevertheless that Mr. Diefenbaker has promised to respect the rights of the province as guaranteed by the constitution and declared himself in favor of Canada's two cultures.

Toronto Star (Ind. Lib.) — Canadians have a penchant for strong government, and an election consideration than she was accorded in the last cabinet.

Quebec Le Soleil (Ind. — Mr. Diefenbaker can interpret Quebec's vote as proof of its confidence, but he must not forget it is also a manner of strengthening the province's claims in favor of a return of its taxation rights, claims which Quebec has battled for on the provincial scene for years. The fight for provincial autonomy now moves to a second level, its true level, and the people will ask more than words, they will expect positive action.

Quebec Chronicle - Telegraph (Ind-PC) — Perhaps it is to be regretted that the response was so strong. One of the big complaints against former Liberal governments was that the large representation in Parliament tended to make the opposition of no effect. Where this situation was bad at the time, it is extended numerically. Yet this is what the people of Canada wanted, and it places on Mr. Diefenbaker and the Conservatives the responsibility to prevent the abuses of big-majority governments from returning to Parliament.

Quebec L'Action Catholique (Ind.) — Quebec followed the general trend. Except in the last days of the campaign Mr. Diefenbaker did not try to seduce the province. He made commitments only of a vague and general nature. Quebecers will remember nevertheless that Mr. Diefenbaker has promised to respect the rights of the province as guaranteed by the constitution and declared himself in favor of Canada's two cultures.

Toronto Star (Ind. Lib.) — Canadians have a penchant for strong government, and an election consideration than she was accorded in the last cabinet.

Quebec Le Soleil (Ind. — Mr. Diefenbaker can interpret Quebec's vote as proof of its confidence, but he must not forget it is also a manner of strengthening the province's claims in favor of a return of its taxation rights, claims which Quebec has battled for on the provincial scene for years. The fight for provincial autonomy now moves to a second level, its true level, and the people will ask more than words, they will expect positive action.

Quebec Chronicle - Telegraph (Ind-PC) — Perhaps it is to be regretted that the response was so strong. One of the big complaints against former Liberal governments was that the large representation in Parliament tended to make the opposition of no effect. Where this situation was bad at the time, it is extended numerically. Yet this is what the people of Canada wanted, and it places on Mr. Diefenbaker and the Conservatives the responsibility to prevent the abuses of big-majority governments from returning to Parliament.

Quebec L'Action Catholique (Ind.) — Quebec followed the general trend. Except in the last days of the campaign Mr. Diefenbaker did not try to seduce the province. He made commitments only of a vague and general nature. Quebecers will remember nevertheless that Mr. Diefenbaker has promised to respect the rights of the province as guaranteed by the constitution and declared himself in favor of Canada's two cultures.

Toronto Star (Ind. Lib.) — Canadians have a penchant for strong government, and an election consideration than she was accorded in the last cabinet.

Quebec Le Soleil (Ind. — Mr. Diefenbaker can interpret Quebec's vote as proof of its confidence, but he must not forget it is also a manner of strengthening the province's claims in favor of a return of its taxation rights, claims which Quebec has battled for on the provincial scene for years. The fight for provincial autonomy now moves to a second level, its true level, and the people will ask more than words, they will expect positive action.

Quebec Chronicle - Telegraph (Ind-PC) — Perhaps it is to be regretted that the response was so strong. One of the big complaints against former Liberal governments was that the large representation in Parliament tended to make the opposition of no effect. Where this situation was bad at the time, it is extended numerically. Yet this is what the people of Canada wanted, and it places on Mr. Diefenbaker and the Conservatives the responsibility to prevent the abuses of big-majority governments from returning to Parliament.

Quebec L'Action Catholique (Ind.) — Quebec followed the general trend. Except in the last days of the campaign Mr. Diefenbaker did not try to seduce the province. He made commitments only of a vague and general nature. Quebecers will remember nevertheless that Mr. Diefenbaker has promised to respect the rights of the province as guaranteed by the constitution and declared himself in favor of Canada's two cultures.

Toronto Star (Ind. Lib.) — Canadians have a penchant for strong government, and an election consideration than she was accorded in the last cabinet.

AGRICULTURAL NEWS

P.E.I. Department of Agriculture

LIVESTOCK

Output of livestock in Canada during the past few months has been about 25 per cent greater than a year earlier and imports of meat have increased, but a smaller supply of meat in the U. S. A. has resulted in a rapid expansion of Canada's export market and a rise in the general level of livestock and meat prices in both countries. Domestic disappearance of meat in Canada has barely kept pace with population increase and per capita consumption has, therefore, shown no change according to the Current Review of Agriculture conditions in Canada issued by the Economic Division of the Department of Agriculture in Ottawa.

CATTLE

Although the size of the national herd has declined for the first time since 1950, there is still no convincing indication that a cyclic downturn of beef cattle production has begun. The December 1 survey of livestock on farms, by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics shows that numbers of steers and yearling heifers are lower than a year earlier but that numbers of beef cows have increased by two per cent and calf numbers are slightly higher. Much of this depletion of steer and heifer numbers may be attributed to heavy exports to the United States last summer and fall in response to the strong demand for feeder cattle.

The expansion of the beef breeding herd was limited to Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Manitoba showed no change and all of the remaining provinces showed reductions of four to ten per cent.

Marketing of cattle continued heavy in January and February and, as in the last quarter of 1957, most of the increase over a year earlier was exported to the United States. While receipts at stockyards and packing plants averaged 47 thousand head per week during the first nine weeks of this year (up 20 per cent), inspected slaughter averaged only 36 thousand head per week (up three per cent). During the same period, exports of live beef cattle averaged 8.4 thousand per week compared with practically nine a year earlier.

PRICE RISE

The seasonal rise in cattle prices, which began in early November has been unusually pronounced and good quality cattle coming off Canadian feed-lots during January and February have brought higher prices than have been realized in any winter since 1953. The main reason for this price buoyancy is the short supply of beef in the United States brought on by (1) delayed movement of fed cattle from feed-lots in the Corn Belt and (2) the longer term cyclic decline in beef production.

Recent reports from the United States indicate that prices in that country will weaken during the spring months as the bulk of fed cattle are marketed but that annual per caput beef supplies are likely to continue light throughout the next three years unless consumer demand suffers a major decline.

Prices of good steers averaged $21.50 to $22.50 per cwt. alive at Toronto during the week ending March 7, i.e. about $5.00 above the seasonal low point at the beginning of November, and $3.50 higher than a year earlier.

Almost 14 thousand slaughter cattle, (mainly from the West) and 54 thousand feeder cattle (almost entirely from the West) were shipped to the United States during the first two months of this year compared with a total of none during same period of 1957. However, there are signs that this export surplus is growing smaller.

In January, prices of good slaughter steers at Chicago averaged $3.90 per hundredweight higher than at Toronto and $4.70 higher than at Winnipeg. By late February, these differentials had narrowed to $2.53 and $2.93 respectively. Price differentials on good feeder steers have shown a similar trend.

EXPORTS

Exports of beef have also been well above last year's level. Over 11 million pounds of product were reported during the first eight weeks of 1958 compared with less than two million during the corresponding period of 1957. As a result there has been less beef available for domestic consumption than a year earlier, prices have risen and domestic disappearance has fallen by roughly three per cent.

Wholesale prices of good steer carcasses (450-700 lb.) which have been slower to rise seasonally than the lower grades, averaged almost 40 cents per pound at Toronto in February, 5.1 cents per pound higher than in November and 11 per cent higher than in February 1957. Prices of good cow carcasses (500 to 700 lb.) averaged almost 32 cents per lb. at Toronto, 7.0 cents per pound higher than in November and 32 per cent higher than a year earlier. "SPRING IS HERE!"

Spring is officially here and with it we are experiencing the usual signs — warmer weather, muddy roads, new lambs and bare bran scaffolds. Farmers should be thinking of the great rush which accompanies the planting season and ways to help speed up the job.

One thing that can be done now which may save valuable time later is to check your machinery over and see if there are any parts which need repairing or replacing. Perhaps you remember from last season some lever, spring, or cog that was worn and causing trouble but which you neglected to repair then. Or at the end of last season before you put your machinery in storage you may have noted some loose nuts or worn parts and put off repairing them. And how about the tires on the tractor, wagon, manure spreader or lime sower? If some of them have slow leaks in them it is a good time now to repair it. It would be a good idea to carefully check every machine now and see that it is working properly. This might save precious time later.

Don't forget Some of the Little Things. . . . Treat your seed oats and barley with an organic mercury seed disinfectant for control of most smuts.

Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada. Other books were presented by Miss Iphigene Arsenault to the High School Library on behalf of the Girl Guide Association of Prince Edward Island.

Inoculate legume (alfalfa, clover) seeds with nitrogen forming bacteria for better crops.

So only clean seed. You already grow too many weeds.

CLUB NEWS

Travellers Rest and District 4-H Calf Club met on March 14th at the home of Garth Marchbank.

The meeting opened with the members repeating the 4-H club pledge.

Vivian Pillman reported on plans for playing Badminton in the Hall every Friday evening. It was decided to hold a social evening in the Hall on March 21st with Carl Montgomery, 21st with Carl Montgomery, 21st with Carl Montgomery.

Kensington Holstein - Guernsey Calf Club met with twelve members on Friday, March 14th at the home of Roland Profit. The meeting opened with the member repeating the 4-H club pledge and motto.

Plans are to have a card party in Clinton Hall on Friday, March 21st. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Molly Van Mayhew with Kenneth Thompson and Donald Pickering on program committee, and Garth Pickering, Betty Palmer and Kenneth Thompson on lunch committee. Roland Profit, Secretary.

O'Leary 4-H Calf Club met on March 20th at the home of Eric Phillips. The meeting was called to order with the club members repeating the club pledge in unison in the absence of the President, the Vice-President, Dana MacNeill presided.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Roll call was answered by 11 members. Roll call for next meeting is to be answered with a suggestion for the improvement of the club or individual member or paying five cents. The next meeting will be held at the home of Marlene and Willard Phillips on April 25th. Lunch committee will be Dana, Ellen, Donna and Willard. It was moved and second that Eric Phillips get a special speaker for the next meeting. Sheldon MacLean is to have a speech for next meeting.

The meeting adjourned, followed by entertainment and lunch. Elaine Palmer, Secretary.

CHICKS NEED ATTENTION: Poor baby chick management can result in stunted growth and unthrifty chicks. Avoid overcrowding. Baby chicks may be small when they arrive but in the first eight weeks their body weight is increased 25 times. Although it's normal to expect 2 per cent mortality, losses can run up to 20 per cent with overcrowding. Cannibalism can also develop.

For the first week the ideal temperature at the height of the chicks' backs is 95 degrees F. After that bring the temperature down 5 degrees weekly. Watch chicks for over or under heating. When two cold they huddle under the hover chirping constantly. When too hot they spread out a lot as possible.

Feed baby chicks commercial chick started continuously. Don't add eggs or skim milk as this may upset the nutritive balance of the ration. See that fresh, clean water and sufficient hoppers are available.

About an inch of litter is required but until the chicks are used to their feed, litter should be protected. Young chicks sometimes fill their crops with shavings and die of starvation as a result. Instead of using a litter protection of newspapers which they may slip on, use burlap for two or three days. Do use little though as it also acts as an insulator.

RENEW MEMBERSHIP

All Artificial Breeding Clubs on Prince Edward Island have commenced a new year. It is therefore necessary for those who hold annual membership to renew their membership when they breed their first cow on or after April 1st. The service fee in all Clubs still remains the same at four dollars which entitles the breeder to three services if necessary. Life memberships are only five dollars.

EASTERN KINGS

The Eastern Kings Artificial Breeding Club had a new Inseminator who commenced operation yesterday April 1st. Joseph Mallard of Souris River is the new man. Recently he underwent a period of training in New Brunswick, at the Central Artificial Cooperative Bull Battery and then with the Inseminator of the Eastern Prince Edward County Artificial Breeding Club, Ken Walker at Summerside.

In order to receive service simply phone Souris 100. The service of ten different breeds are available daily. These breeds are: Holstein, Yorkshire, Jersey, Guernsey, D. u. a. Purpose Shorthorn, Beef Shorthorn, Hereford, Red Poll, Angus and Charolais. In order to receive service during any one day calls should be placed no later than 10 o'clock in the morning. The Inseminator has available sire catalogues with pictures and the extended pedigrees of the various bulls available.

Albert Mills, Bay Fortune has been rendering the services to the Eastern Kings Artificial Breeding Club for the past two years. It has been through Albert's initiative and conscientious service that the Club has progressed so favourably.

The President, Major Reid, the Board of Directors and members of the Eastern Kings Artificial Breeding Club wish to extend to Albert, his wife and son Cecil their best wishes for success in his new line of endeavor.

Albert Mills, Bay Fortune has been rendering the services to the Eastern Kings Artificial Breeding Club for the past two years. It has been through Albert's initiative and conscientious service that the Club has progressed so favourably.

consideration than she was accorded in the last cabinet.

Quebec Le Soleil (Ind. — Mr. Diefenbaker can interpret Quebec's vote as proof of its confidence, but he must not forget it is also a manner of strengthening the province's claims in favor of a return of its taxation rights, claims which Quebec has battled for on the provincial scene for years. The fight for provincial autonomy now moves to a second level, its true level, and the people will ask more than words, they will expect positive action.

Quebec Chronicle - Telegraph (Ind-PC) — Perhaps it is to be regretted that the response was so strong. One of the big complaints against former Liberal governments was that the large representation in Parliament tended to make the opposition of no effect. Where this situation was bad at the time, it is extended numerically. Yet this is what the people of Canada wanted, and it places on Mr. Diefenbaker and the Conservatives the responsibility to prevent the abuses of big-majority governments from returning to Parliament.

Quebec L'Action Catholique (Ind.) — Quebec followed the general trend. Except in the last days of the campaign Mr. Diefenbaker did not try to seduce the province. He made commitments only of a vague and general nature. Quebecers will remember nevertheless that Mr. Diefenbaker has promised to respect the rights of the province as guaranteed by the constitution and declared himself in favor of Canada's two cultures.

Toronto Star (Ind. Lib.) — Canadians have a penchant for strong government, and an election consideration than she was accorded in the last cabinet.

Quebec Le Soleil (Ind. — Mr. Diefenbaker can interpret Quebec's vote as proof of its confidence, but he must not forget it is also a manner of strengthening the province's claims in favor of a return of its taxation rights, claims which Quebec has battled for on the provincial scene for years. The fight for provincial autonomy now moves to a second level, its true level, and the people will ask more than words, they will expect positive action.

Quebec Chronicle - Telegraph (Ind-PC) — Perhaps it is to be regretted that the response was so strong. One of the big complaints against former Liberal governments was that the large representation in Parliament tended to make the opposition of no effect. Where this situation was bad at the time, it is extended numerically. Yet this is what the people of Canada wanted, and it places on Mr. Diefenbaker and the Conservatives the responsibility to prevent the abuses of big-majority governments from returning to Parliament.

Quebec L'Action Catholique (Ind.) — Quebec followed the general trend. Except in the last days of the campaign Mr. Diefenbaker did not try to seduce the province. He made commitments only of a vague and general nature. Quebecers will remember nevertheless that Mr. Diefenbaker has promised to respect the rights of the province as guaranteed by the constitution and declared himself in favor of Canada's two cultures.

Toronto Star (Ind. Lib.) — Canadians have a penchant for strong government, and an election consideration than she was accorded in the last cabinet.

Quebec Le Soleil (Ind. — Mr. Diefenbaker can interpret Quebec's vote as proof of its confidence, but he must not forget it is also a manner of strengthening the province's claims in favor of a return of its taxation rights, claims which Quebec has battled for on the provincial scene for years. The fight for provincial autonomy now moves to a second level, its true level, and the people will ask more than words, they will expect positive action.

Quebec Chronicle - Telegraph (Ind-PC) — Perhaps it is to be regretted that the response was so strong. One of the big complaints against former Liberal governments was that the large representation in Parliament tended to make the opposition of no effect. Where this situation was bad at the time, it is extended numerically. Yet this is what the people of Canada wanted, and it places on Mr. Diefenbaker and the Conservatives the responsibility to prevent the abuses of big-majority governments from returning to Parliament.

Quebec L'Action Catholique (Ind.) — Quebec followed the general trend. Except in the last days of the campaign Mr. Diefenbaker did not try to seduce the province. He made commitments only of a vague and general nature. Quebecers will remember nevertheless that Mr. Diefenbaker has promised to respect the rights of the province as guaranteed by the constitution and declared himself in favor of Canada's two cultures.

Toronto Star (Ind. Lib.) — Canadians have a penchant for strong government, and an election consideration than she was accorded in the last cabinet.

Quebec Le Soleil (Ind. —