Incinerator Arrival Scheduled For May 17

MONTAGUE — Preston D. MacLeod, deputy mayor for the town of Montague, presided over the regular monthly meeting of the town in the absence of Mayor B. H. Yeo who is away from the province on business.

Present for the meeting were councillors Frank Greene, Cameron Reid, John Hughes, Dr. A. E. Ings, Athol Robertson, Town Clerk G. Arnold Wightman and Town Policeman Ed Downe.

Following the regular routine business part of the meeting reports were made on the town dump with a decision of having the dumping period on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday afternoons for the next month with special consideration to be given to merchants who would be unable to take advantage of these afternoons.

The town clerk advised that the new incinerator would be here by April 26 and be installed immediately. However, a decision was reached to have it delayed due to the lateness of the season and it was suggested that May 17 would be more suitable as roads and mud conditions should be better at that time.

A short report on work being done of the clearing of Sutherlands Stream was given by the town clerk which indicated that about half the work had been completed as of yesterday. A new dam is to be erected on this stream early this year.

In the police report presented by the Town Policeman Ed Downe $85 was taken in fines and four cases had been taken before the court at Georgetown. The assistant policeman is to be engaged as of the first of May as in other years. It was also decided to send the town policemen on the annual three-day course at Charlottetown. This course among other things will deal with traffic regulations.

Reports were presented by the chairmen of the fire department Frank Greene, sanitation department by Dr. A. E. Ings, financial report John Hughes.

TB Control Director Praises Hosp. Visitors

Dr. E. M. Found, director of Tuberculosis control of the P.E.I. Department of Health, was the special speaker at a meeting of the Red Cross "Friendly Visitors" held recently at Red Cross Headquarters in Charlottetown, and chaired by Hilda Jenkins, vice-chairman of voluntary services for the P.E.I. Red Cross.

Dr. Found was introduced by Mrs. George Ives, chairman of Red Cross Friendly Visiting at the Sanatorium.

In his comprehensive address, Dr. Found described the various conditions which confine patients to hospitals and institutions for long periods of time, and the attributes of the ideal visitors. He dealt at length with the problems of the aging which he said now form 40 per cent of a doctor's practice.

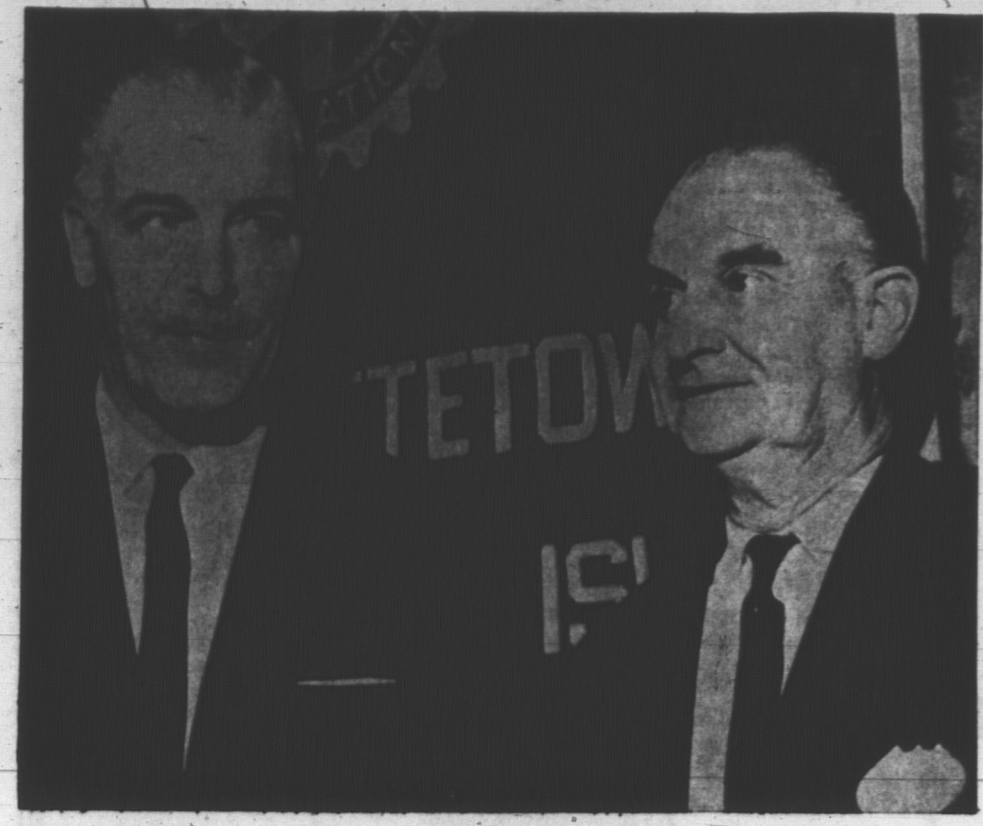

Using x-ray plates to tell the "before" and "after" story, Dr. Found told of the great strides towards improvement made in two instances where the patient's attitude was changed as the result of the keen interest shown by the Red Cross visitor who has become a firm friend through regular calls.

Dr. Found ranked the "Friendly Visitors" high on the list as morale boosters.

Mrs. Alex Wilson thanked Dr. Found on behalf of the Friendly Visitors and expressed appreciation for the encouragement he had given which will provide added incentive to carry on and expand this visiting project.

Some 30 of the 60 visitors involved in this fairly new Red Cross program attended the meeting, as well as several prospective visitors, who will shortly be taking on this personal type of visiting for those requiring it at Beach Grove and the Livingstone and McArthur Nursing Homes. A meeting of these new visitors is scheduled to be held at Red Cross headquarters today.

A. J. MacLEOD, left, Canada's commissioner of penitentiaries, is introduced by Mr. Justice R.R. Bell to members and guests of the Charlottetown Rotary Club. Mr. MacLeod addressed the club's weekly dinner meeting at the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday. He emphasized the need for rehabilitation of prisoners and the prevention of crime over the present practice of building more and more prisons.

Rotary Club Hears Explanation Of Penitentiary Aims, Methods

Canada's commissioner of penitentiaries said in Charlottetown yesterday he hopes that over the next 20 years Canada will get out of building more prisons and get into the business of investing in youth programs.

Commissioner A. J. MacLeod, who was guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Charlottetown Rotary Club, said "when our present program of penitentiary development is completed and we have adequate staffs and adequate training programs, the emphasis will be removed from penitentiary construction and operation and a good deal of money devoted to the prevention of crime."

Mr. MacLeod said "the penitentiary service is of some movement in the country today." He said a capital construction program of $40,000,000 is now underway and it costs $25,000,000 a year to operate the penitentiary system. "Seven years ago," he said, "we had about 5,500 inmates in the system; now we have about 7,500 and this is one reason why the taxpayer today has to produce institutions calculated to do more than provide space for inmates. Rehabilitation is involved."

The commissioner said that Canada now has eight penitentiaries and "up until about five years ago, they were all maximum security institutions." He said the program that has been developed over the past five years recognizes that each inmate is a different individual.

He said "the penitentiary program requires a personalized program if he is to be restored to society as a law-abiding citizen. The institutions we are building now are aimed to this end."

Mr. MacLeod said "between two and three per cent of inmates are difficult, vicious, hostile and borderline psychotics that have to be removed from the general penitentiary population." He said special detention units for this type have to be provided in different areas of Canada.

According to Mr. MacLeod, about 35 per cent of penitentiary inmates have to be contained in maximum security. He said this is the type that will take every opportunity to escape and could be classified as dangerous. "Medium security," he said, "is needed for about 50 per cent of the inmates. This group is not likely to try to escape, unless a door is left open for them."

Mr. Justice R. R. Bell introduced Mr. MacLeod who was thanked for his speech by Rotarian Gordon Tweedy.

Among the guests at yesterday's meeting were Loman MacAulay, Charlottetown; Hazen Smith, Sackville, N.B.; B. Earle MacDonald, Charlottetown; C. A. Orford, director of the John How-

P.E.I. GIFT TO COMEDIAN
A key chain with a maple leaf design was presented by Barry Davis, representing P.E.I., to comedian Bob Hope, star of Timmy's Easter Parade of Stars, as he visited 250 hand-capped boys and girls after the taping of the show. The accompanying card said the gift, though small, was the only one Mr. Hope would receive that day that could constantly be carried by him "as a reminder of the appreciation of the Island's crippled children."

ONE IN SIX PAROLED
He said one inmate out of five or six qualifies for a parole and for that reason will have some guidance when he returns to society. He said "that leaves four or five out of six who leave the penitentiary and disappear. They return to their communities, but what happens to them? They have no one to take an interest in them."

Mr. MacLeod said he would like to see groups such as the Rotary Club devote energy to aiding the prisoner who returns to the community and needs help. He said "my concern is the emotionally crippled person we send to the penitentiary from our courts and how we can get him back into society so that he will not be a hazard to our people."

Mr. Justice R. R. Bell introduced Mr. MacLeod who was thanked for his speech by Rotarian Gordon Tweedy.

Among the guests at yesterday's meeting were Loman MacAulay, Charlottetown; Hazen Smith, Sackville, N.B.; B. Earle MacDonald, Charlottetown; C. A. Orford, director of the John How-
