16 Rinks Still In Running For Island Championship

Sixteen rinks were still in the running for Prince Edward Island men's curling supremacy following the completion of two days competition at the Belvedere Golf and Winter Club last night.

Eight teams were still undefeated, the other eight having suffered one loss in the double knockout championship. A total of 12 rinks suffered two losses to drop out of the playoff picture.

Leading the pack with 2-0 records are L. Lawless (S), A. Burke (C), W. Moreside (B), T. Hea (R), Y. MacPherson, (R) and D. Saunders (B). Defending Island champion Doug Cameron (C) and and Dr. Giddings (C) won draws yesterday and have 1-0 records.

Four games were played in the late draw last night with the losers going to the sidelines. (See below for linescores.)

Dr. W. Moreside (B) won a 13-12 extra end game over F. Acorn (B) in yesterday's afternoon draw, one of the better contests so far in the competitions. Trailing 12-8 after the tenth end, Acorn came up with a big four end to tie the match only to see Moreside pick up a single in the extra end. In Monday's competition Dr. Moreside's rink was tied 5-5 with G. Stewart's Charlottetown rink at the end of nine but came through in the last three ends for a 9-5 win.

L. Lawless of Summerside remained undefeated by copping a 7-6 win over former Briers representative Dr. Wes MacDonald of Charlottetown. Lawless counted three in the 12th end to grab a come-from-behind win, his second without defeat.

A. Robertson, Montague, came up with a decisive 14-9 win over Myron Bell (C) in a morning draw and added a 9-8 victory over D. O'Rourke (C) as he attempts to make a clean sweep of Island curling laurels by the eastern town.

Teams from Montague captured the provincial boys schoolboy and the ladies championships in recent competitions.

Y. MacPherson of the RCAF Station defeated clubmate Hopper 8-7 in yesterday afternoon's draw to give him his first defeat. Hopper faced possible elimination in the late draw yesterday when he faced J. Squarebriggs of Charlottetown.

In today's 9:30 draw, G. Nicholson (M) plays H. MacFarlane (S), Y. MacPherson (R) plays D. Saunders (B), D. Cameron (C) plays Dr. Giddings (C) and last night's winner of Dr. Macdonald vs. F. Hansen (B) plays C. Ramsay (S).

Legion Topples N. River Squad

Charlottetown's classy Legion Juveniles walloped the North River Junior Hockey Club 14-7 in a regular league game of the Charlottetown and District Junior Hockey League game at the Forum last night.

The Legion lads jumped into an early lead and had fired a "hat trick" before the game had reached the five minute mark. The Juveniles skated of with a 5-1 lead at the end of the first stanza.

The second period saw the North River team come out with renewed vigor and threaten to take control of the game but legion boys were having none of it and at the end of the second the score was 9-6 still in favour of the Legion.

The third period saw the Buck Whitlock coached Legion outfit break the game wide open and repeat their first period performance of outscoring their opposition 5-1 and leave the ice with a convincing 14-7 victory over Norm Larter's team.

Allan Flood turned in a remarkable performance for the Legion as he fired five big markers and one assist for six points.

HOWIE YOUNG

Howie Young To Los Angeles

CHICAGO (AP) — Howie Young, Chicago Black Hawks' tempestuous defenceman, was sold Tuesday night to Los Angeles Blades of the Western Hockey League.

Young, reported to have had a $15,000-a-year contract with the Hawks, recently said he would not go to the minors.

The Hawks asked waivers on Young last week. By midnight last Saturday no National Hockey League club had claimed him for the $20,000 waiver price.

The announcement that Young had been bought by the Blades was brief. The Hawks said Young had been sold to the Blades for cash and players to be named later.

BAD BOY HISTORY

General manager Tommy Ivan was not available for comment and it could not be learned if Young, who has a bad boy history for such antics as missing practice and not showing up for games, had agreed to report to the Blades.

A little more than a week ago, Young was quoted as saying he was "fed up."

At that time Young said, "I won't go to the minors. I'm going to cool it for a year. I might become a cowhand. I like to wear dungarees and boots and I like to work with horses."

Young was not immediately available for comment.

TRADED FOR CROZIER

The Hawks traded goalie Roger Crozier to Detroit last summer for Young and at that time coach Billy Reay said the Hawks would make an attempt to reform hockey's "bad boy" who last season set a record of 273 minutes in the penalty box.

They not only failed to reform him but found his play far under par from his previous major league stints with Detroit.

Toronto's Big 'M' Possible Trade

TORONTO (CP) — The price has plunged on Frank Mahovlich.

A little more than a year ago Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League were reported to have turned down an offer of $1,000,000 for him.

Now bargain hunters around the league may be able to pick up the big left winger for a fraction of the 1962 price.

Although club officials deny that he's in the show window, sources close to management say the listless Leaf may be offered in exchange for two hustling left wingers.

The deal most often mentioned would send Mahovlich to Boston Bruins in exchange for goaltender Andy Hebenton and Dean Prentice, veteran former members of New York Rangers.

It's no secret that Toronto manager-coach Punch Imlach and president Stafford Smythe are unhappy, not only with Mahovlich's offensive record of only 30 goals, but also his defensive play.

BIG M GOAT

In last weekend's home-and-home series with Chicago Black Hawks, he was on the ice for three of the five Hawk goals, and on one of them he put the puck directly on the stick of defenceman Pierre Pilote while the Leafs had a man advantage. Pilote scored.

There have been some hints recently that a trade or sale involving "Big M" is not the farthest thing from the minds of Toronto executives.

Harold Ballard, executive vice-president of Maple Leaf Gardens, said Monday: "I'd trade or sell anybody if the bait is good enough."

Ballard was instrumental in October, 1962, in turning down the $1,000,000 offer from Jim Norris, owner of the Hawks.

Imlach, who has said he has more than one player on his team he would not sell for $1,000,000, also said Monday: "If you're asking me that way, there are no untouchables on our hockey club."

Although Mahovlich is still the highest scorer forthe defending Stanley Cup champions, he's only the best of an unproductive lot, and his output has dropped sharply.

JOB SHIFTED

Recently Imlach shifted him from the Red Kelly-Jim Pappin line to a unit with Dave Keon and George Armstrong, the team's most productive centre and right winger.

The move apparently was designed to force Mahovlich to dig harder to keep up with the play.

Pappin and Kelly had been in the habit of setting up Mahovlich with long passes in the centre ice zone, often with the result that the plays fizzled if Mahovlich was unable to get away a good shot on his first try.

Keon and Armstrong are both puck carriers who work in close and scrap in the corners. Imlach's thinking apparently was that Mahovlich would have to work harder to keep pace with their tenacious style of play.

In Toronto's last 13 games, Mahovlich has scored only three goals, not up to par for a million-dollar man.

Tonight in Montreal he will have an opportunity against the league - leading Canadiens to prove he's not yet ready for Toronto's bargain basement.

GALLANT WELCOME

Saints Edge Summerside

St. Dunstan's High School Hockey Team squeezed out a 2-1 victory over Summerside High School in an exciting Interscholastic Senior 'A' competition game played at the St. Dunstan's rink yesterday afternoon.

The fans who braved the coldness of the Saints rink saw a good close checking game with the St. Dunstan's team possessing just a little more finesse around the net then the Summerside boys.

The Saints now have two and two record with both their victories coming at home.

SPORTS FRONT

Saints Share Lead

ST. DUNSTAN'S University hockey squad own a share of first place in the Maritime Intercollegiate Hockey Conference and they have finished with their road trips. Occupying the top perch with the Red and Whiters are the Red Devils from the University of New Brunswick.

Jack Kane's boys started out the 1963-64 campaign with failures on the road. They fell victims to UNIB and St. Thomas in the first two outings. However since then the Kanemen have lost a contest. They won away-from-home games against Acadia, Dalhousie, Mount Allison and Nova Scotia Tech and captured decisions here at St. Dunstan's rink against St. Mary's and Mount Allison. There remains, however, a bit of unfinished business. Three home games face the students from Malpeque Road and Saints must capture all three to reign as champions of this intercollegiate competition.

THEIR first big test comes this very Saturday when the powerful Xaverians from Antigonish move in town in an effort to upset St. Dunstan's victory plans.

There has always been a tremendous rivalry between St. FX and St. Dunstan's and this year it should be greater than ever. The X-men are the defending champions and Jack Kane would like nothing better than throwing these Nova Scotians for a loss. Kane knows it's going to be a tough assignment and he has fired his boys up for this engagement. Every member of the team is just itching for Saturday's tussle and they are confident to a man that they can take the measure of the Antigonishers. Kane will not talk about UNB and St. Thomas at all. He will tell you his outfit plays St. FX in his Saturday and that's the business he's interested in right now. They'll play the games as they come and UNB and St. Thomas don't invade here until February 28 and 29.

Good Series Expected

SUMMERSIDE Combines, Johnny's Hawks and RCAF Eagles should have quite an interesting battle in their 'double double' round robin to decide a provincial intermediate 'A' winner.

Since they were all independent clubs, the Maritime Amateur Hockey Association felt that this rather lengthy playoff would serve a good purpose. It's quite a spell before the winner must be ready to meet the cream of New Brunswick.

Already we hear plenty of talk about this series. All teams appear to have loads of supporters who are proclaiming that their team is the one to beat. Each club will have four home games, two against each team, and provisions have been made in case of a deadlock.

We have the idea that this series is going to catch the fancy of the hockey public. All three clubs can play a pretty fair brand of hockey. However, in exhibition games they have been appearing with depleted lineups. This will not happen in this playoff because every game looms mighty big.

It could happen indeed that the rinks will be jammed before the Island has a conqueror ready to do battle with our neighbors in New Brunswick.

On NHL Front

MONTREAL Canadiens and Chicago Black Hawks are tied for the NHL lead but the Habs have those two big games in hand. If they could win one of them, they would have first place all to themselves.

Tonight both Chicago and Montreal see action and going on recent performances, they each appear to have a soft touch. New York Rangers who fell 8-2 victims to Canadiens in New York are in Chicago and the floundering Toronto Maple Leafs are visiting in Montreal. Of late, the Leafs haven't been able to hurt anybody and Canadiens are tearing the loop apart with their sensational play.

However, all good things must come to an end and it could be that the Habs will falter this one tonight. Maurice 'Rocket' Richard insisted that the Leafs are the team to beat and that they would start scoring goals in bunches one of these nights. Perhaps the Rangers haven't abandoned hope yet of that final playoff spot which looks like Detroit's right at the moment. They could come to life tonight and beat those Hawks who surely haven't shown to great advantage in their last month on the Hawks.

The results of these contests are important to all clubs. Even though Leafs trail by ten points, it's not as bad as it looks when you consider that they have three games in hand on the Hawks.

It's closer than you think.

Ex. NHL Referee Blames Scissors

TORONTO (CP)—Red Storey and Dalton McArthur, former National Hockey League referees, appeared on a CBC television program last month. The discussion was NHL refereeing —and it was hot.

The fire still is smouldering. But the case in point now is the television program itself.

Storey claims the program—taped in advance—"scissored" his arguments "and left them on the cutting room floor."

He said during an interview in his Montreal home:

"I went to Toronto hoping to contribute something worthwhile for the good of professional hockey, but the end product was a distorted caricature of the things that had gone through my mind before the taping of the show began.

CAME OUT SENSATIONAL

"The message that came out of this program—neatly edited —was sensational in every respect."

Storey and McArthur were interviewed on the Jan. 26 program Cold Stove League, by Scott Young, Toronto Globe and Mail columnist and former TV commentator on Toronto NHL games. The former referees said league officials dictated how they were to call penalties. McArthur said rule enforcement was for the benefit of the box office rather than for the good of the game.

Storey now complains the tape would leave a lot of people with the feeling "of rig and fix. Ugly words, to be sure, but words which never have crossed my mind at any time during my association with sport any time and anywhere."

DEFENDS EDITING

Young disagrees. "Both Dalton McArthur and I had no quarrel with the way the CBC edited out deleted parts of the filmed conversation between Red Storey, McArthur and myself," he said.

"We fell on the contrary that most of what was deleted was properly done for two reasons:

"One was to delete material that fell into the category of being more malicious than informative. This was particularly true of some passages that were cut out of Red Storey's remarks.

"The second reason for deleting material was when it seemed to contain comments or anecdotes describing minor incidents which were too complicated to cover in a few words and not interesting enough to carry at great length."

McArthur also said he was satisfied there was no distortion in the editing of the tape.

Quebec's Hicks Leads Scoring

CLEVELAND (AP) — Wayne Hicks of Quebec Aces scored three points last week to take the scoring lead in the American Hockey League.

Including games of Sunday night, Hicks had a total of 60 points on 30 goals and 30 assists.

Deadlocked for second place with 58 points each were Bronco Horvath of Rochester Americans, Willie Marshall of Providence Reds and Cleland Mortson of Quebec.

Mike Nykoluk of Hershey Bears, who collected nine points last week, was in sixth place and led in assists with 48.

Pittsburgh's Yves Locas remained the goals pacesetter, with 34.

Roger Crozier of Pittsburgh Hornets had the edge in the goaltending department, with a goals-average of 2.33. That put him well ahead of Cleveland's Les Binkley, who shared the shutout lead with Lorne Worsley of Quebec, each with three.

Albert Tees Has Mishap

MONTREAL (CP) — Linesman Albert Tees is recovering in hospital from loss of an eye, removed after he was struck by a thrown hockey stick.

The accident occurred Sunday night during a game at the arena in suburban St. Vincent de Paul between two teams made up of men between the ages of 28 and 40 who pay to play in weekly games.

Roger L'Heureux, president of in Ligue de Hockey des Francs-Copains, said the stick was thrown by Alex Mazurka who had been given a minor and a misconduct penalty. Mr. L'Heureux said he is sure Mazurka did not mean to strike anyone with the stick. It had caught Tees in the eye when the linesman skated into the area where Mazurka was because he feared an outbreak of fisticuffs.

L'Heureux said the incident will be thoroughly investigated.
