Opening lead—jack of diamonds. South wasted no time getting to game. One chip from North was enough to convince him he belonged in game.

Two plays, both on the same trick, are of interest in this deal. Declarer allowed the jack of diamonds to hold the lead and won the diamond continuation.

There wasn't much to the rest of the hand. South made four spade tricks and five side winners to score three notrump.

SAILING FOR HALIFAX OTTAWA (CP)—The destroyer escort Soix, being transferred to the Atlantic command, will sail from Esquimaux, B.C. for Halifax July 2, naval headquarters said Tuesday. She is scheduled to reach her new base Aug. 6.

Eastern New Brunswick. The bodies were found Friday. Separate services were held Monday for pilot Lt. C. Russell and Howard Smith.

Rev. W. A. MacMillan, pastor of central United Church conducted the service Tuesday and Dr. W. T. Ross Flemington, president of Mount Allison University, delivered the eulogy.

U.S. Works On First Step In Disarmament

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is reported working for a "first step" disarmament treaty with Russia and other nations which could lead to pledges by non-atomic countries against acquiring nuclear weapons.

The plan also envisions a small cut in armaments by Russia and the Western powers, especially of heavy weapons, missiles and planes capable of delivering atomic-hydrogen bombs.

Countries would turn over weapons they agreed to cut from their armed forces to specified inspection depots which would be supervised by a United Nations organization.

The agreement initially would be concluded by the nations now represented at the London Disarmament talks: Russia, the United States, Britain, Canada and France. But it would be open to other nations which wished to join, provided they pledged not to further complicate the world arm. picture by seeking to manufacture or acquire atomic-hydrogen weapons.

BEDTIME STORIES

The Hair Hunters

Always keep the best in mind. But make the most of what you find. —Chippy the Sparrow. Chippy the Chipping Sparrow and Mrs. Chippy were having the same trouble that Skimmer the Swallow and Mrs. Skimmer and Cresty the Fly-catcher and Mrs. Cresty had had. They were looking for something they couldn't find and they were not satisfied with anything else. The Skimmers had wanted white feathers to line their nest. Why they had to be white, no one knew, not even themselves. The Crestys had wanted Snake Skin and simply couldn't be satisfied until they got it. Chippy and Mrs. Chippy didn't care anything about white feathers or Snake skin, but they wanted Horse hair to line their dainty little nest.

So Chippy went one way and Mrs. Chippy went another way. Once upon a time there had been no trouble in finding all the Horse hair that was needed. That was when Farmer Brown had Horses. But Farmer Brown no longer had a Horse and so there was no longer any horse hair to be found anywhere about the barnyard. What they wanted was the long hair from the tail or mane of a Horse. That made just the nicest kind of a lining for their nest of fine roots and the softest and finest of grasses. They even flew to neighboring farms, but nowhere could they find so much as a single hair from the tail or mane of a Horse. It was Chippy who found a few hairs from the tail of a Cow. He found them clinging to a bush where they had caught and pulled out when a Cow was swinging her tail. Chippy hesitated, then took one over to the nest where Mrs. Chippy was fussing about. He put it in the nest. Mrs. Chippy promptly threw it out. It wasn't the right kind of hair. She said so. "But there isn't any of the right kind. We haven't found so much as one hair of the right kind," protested Chippy. "We'll do some more looking," said Mrs. Chippy. So Chippy went one way and Mrs. Chippy went another way. They looked and they looked and they looked. Finally Chippy gave up and returned to the nest. He found Mrs. Chippy already there. She was very busy arranging something in that nest. Chippy pecked into the nest. There was that Cow hair he had brought before. "Can you find any more of these?" asked Mrs. Chippy, quite as if that hair was just what she wanted. Chippy said nothing but away he flew. Presently he was back and
