STAY ALIVE LONGER

Wife Uses Skillet To Kill Off Mate

By LELORD KORDEL
Installment Thirteen

"Woman confesses poisioning several husbands!"

This was the shocking headline of a few months ago. "I gave each one of them a real nice funeral," said the widow. "I don't think they minded it so much. You see, I fixed them all tasty dinners before they went. Just sort of let them gorge themselves to death on my good cooking.

Good cooking. . . spiced with poison- But how many women who expressed their disapproval of this woman's conduct are also killing off their husbands — more slowly, more insidiously perhaps — by stuffing their bodies with the wrong foods?

Any judge would have told this modern Lucrezia Borgia that ignorance of the law is no excuse. Yet what excuse can be given by the woman who kills off her husband by over-stuffing him with "good cooking?"

IGNORANCE NO EXCUSE

She has no valid excuse-

Is she ignorant of the laws of nutrition? If she values her husband, she must learn how to feed him—or she probably won't have him for long.

Today there are ten million widows in the United States, and by 1960 the excess of women over men in the nation will grow from 1,500,000 to 2,500,000. America has almost twice the number of widows that it should have.

Fifty-one is the average at which women begin their years of widowhood. That means about twenty-five years of living alone—and seldom liking it.

The older a man gets, the better quality food he needs to keep him trim and healthly. His metabolism rate slows down, and consequently he needs less of the fuel foods. Fats, sugars, and starches clog up his arteries and make him overweight. The overweights die off twice as fast as their thin brothers.

How much nutritional knowledge has the wife who feeds uer husbans tree-quarters of a cup of fat daily in the form of fried meats, fried eggs, French fried potatoes, doughnuts, rich deserts, and other fatty foods?

These wives are the Lucrezia Borgias of the skillet!

FOODS WIVES SHOULD AVOID

Some foods which your wife should never serve you are: cream soups, pork and other very fat meats, fat fish, fish eggs, oysters, excessive butter or butter substitutes, hot breads, pancakes, waffles, coffeecakes, muffins, doughnuts, creamy desserts, rich cakes or cookies, salad dressings, rich gravies, olives, nuts, or avocados. These are high-fat high-cholesterol foods.

THESE SHE SHOULD SERVE

She still can serve you a variety of foods which will trim your waistline and discourage atherosclerosis. These include—

Soups: Bouillon, fat-free vegetable soups, and vegetable broths.

Lean meats, fish and poultry: Broiled, roasted baked, or boiled.

Eggs: Limit these to two a day, including those used in cooking.

Milk and milk products: One pint or more of skimmed milk or buttermilk (don't use whole milk), dry cottage cheese.

Vegetables: All, cooked or raw, especially the green and yellow vegetables ric in vitamin A—beet greens, ch d, carrots, kale, and mustard gr ns.

Fruits: All ra cooked, dried, or canned. Use c rus fruits or tomatoes daily.

Salads: Any fr t or vegetable salad, raw or co ed, and gelatin salads. Serve ith boiled or low-fat dressings, for example, one of lemon juice, herb-vinegar, and spices. The juice from canned okra makes a satisfactory substitute for oils in salads.

Cereals: Millet seed porridge for a cooked cereal; new protein dry cereals.

Bread: Whole wheat, oatmeal, or rye (but only if you must).

Desserts: Fruits, junket puddings made with skimmed milk and without egg yolks (unless you have not had your limit of two eggs for this day), fruit whips made with skim milk powder, and gelatin desserts.

Beverages: Tea, coffee, powdered skim milk, tomato juice, fruit or vegetable juices.

You see, your wife can serve you a diet that will be a pleasure to eat. By serving these foods with their plentiful proteins, vitamins, and minerals, your wife can make your meals into an adventure in good eating.

Food-skimping wives are, of course, health-foolish wives. They increase the carbohydrates in your diet and deprive you of body-building protein.

You should eat a minimum of 70 grams of protein a day, more if you're working under stress. It isn't your pocketbook that limits your daily supply. It's your wife's lack of knowledge about ways of securing this valuable food inexpensively.

MORE FOOD VALUE FOR LESS

By using dried skim milk powder in food preparation and as a family beverage, she could add to your regular diet a third of the 100 grams of protein that I recommend for the maintenance of your health. She needn't stint on this powdered skim milk. It is inexpensive enough to be used lavishly.

What about the cheaper cuts of meat? It's all in the cooking. They can be made tender and palatable by cooking them slowly at low temperature. Or marinate them and make use of your barbecue.

"I do the best I can" you wives may protest. "But my husband won't eat what's good for him!"

Then, it's up to you to train him. Gently, persuasively, and with imagination. If he won't take care of himself, you'd better take care of him. It's part of your job! Are you women going to keep on shirking it?

"But I can't stand guard over my husband at noon" you complain 'just to see that he doesn't go on a ditchdigger's calorie spree! What do you expect me to do?"

I expect you to see that he gets a good breakfast full of protein, which will cut down on his noon hunger. And you can be sure that he gets a full quota of protective foods at his dinner table.

Company officials now make it a point to interview the wife of a prospective executive. Personnel managers are well aware of how much of an asset, or liability, a wife can be in her husband's development.

Which are you. . . . an asset. . . . or a liability?

"Money, says the proverb, makes money"
Wealth of Nations

Money invested in Canada Savings Bonds will return 4% for the first year, 4¼% for the 2nd, 4½% for the 3rd and 5% for the remaining 6 years. This interest, when invested, produces more interest and so the money accumulates.

Canada Savings Bonds are always worth what you pay for them, and you can get your money back any time plus earned interest.

To invest your money safely, buy
