

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

AUGUST 15, 1887.

Hon. Colonel Gray.

THE HON. JOHN HAMILTON GRAY expired at Inkerman House on Saturday evening. The immediate cause of his death was paralysis, by which he was seized about ten days ago. He was, however, quite conscious until Friday morning. He then passed into a state of insensibility, from which he emerged into the spirit world.

Colonel Gray was born at Charlottetown in the year 1811. His father settled at first in Virginia; but at the conclusion of the revolutionary war took refuge in Prince Edward Island, where his grand-father had, in consideration of distinguished services to King George the Third, obtained a grant of land. At an early age, he went to England and entered the British Army. He served his King and country as an officer in the Seventh Dragoon Guards for the full term of twenty-one years. A large part of this long term was spent in India and in South Africa. His name was honorably mentioned for public services in the field, and he won a medal for special services at the Cape of Good Hope, besides being highly complimented by his official superiors on the prudence and good judgment he displayed as President of a Court of Enquiry organized for the purpose of granting compensation to sufferers in the border wars.

In 1852, he withdrew from the army, a captain on half pay, and returned to his native town. During the Crimean War he volunteered to join the staff of his father-in-law, Sir John Pennefather, at Malta, en route to the Crimea; but before he reached the scene of action, Sebastopol had capitulated and the war was over. Subsequently, he assisted Sir John as Aide-de-Camp, in the formation of a force of English militia. But soon after he returned to his Island home and entered the political arena. In 1859 he was elected a member of the House of Assembly, and took a leading part in the public discussions of the day. He became Leader of the Government in 1862, choosing as his colleagues Edward Palmer (Attorney-General), James Yeo, John Longworth, James C. Pope, David Kaye, James McLean, Daniel Davies and William Henry Pope, the Land Question being the most important with which he had to deal. He was chosen President of the Conference which was convened at Charlottetown, in 1864, for the purpose of discussing Maritime Union, and which developed into a Conference on the larger question of the Union of the British Colonies in North America, and resulted in the more important Conference at Quebec, of which, also, he was a prominent member.

Colonel Gray was for many years head of the militia force in this Province. He was strict disciplinarian, and punctual to a fault. He was three times married, and leaves a large and loving family. Throughout his life, he was an active member of St. James' Church in this city, and an elder in the Church since 1852. In his declining years, he lived in retirement at Inkerman House; and he passed quietly away to his rest, in a good old age, with Christian's hope.

The New York World is in a state of great excitement over the recent seizures at Souris. It says:—

"The Retaliation Act was passed by Congress to meet such emergencies as this. Why is it not put into force? Why are the intentions of Congress and the wishes of the people ignored? Admiral Luce says that the case of a seizure of an American vessel must be fought out in a Dominion court, not between a Dominion cruiser and a United States vessel of war. But what justice can an American owner expect in a Canadian court? Besides, the Retaliation Act is not a war measure, but a peace measure designed to bring an excited and prejudiced Government to reason and to prevent the danger of hostilities."

Is this American justice? Certain American fishermen have been caught in the act of stealing fish, and because they were seized, the World demands that the Retaliation Act be put in force!

Any one who takes the trouble to read in the Patriot of the 11th inst. the article headed "Midnight Seizure at Souris," will see at a glance that, notwithstanding the cooler weather which we are now enjoying, the midsummer madness is not over yet. It is true that a seizure did take place there, but that such prominence should be given to a false and idiotic account of it, only shows how anxious the Grit wire-pullers are to give a political turn to everything that occurs in connection with the protection of our fisheries. If Yankees are caught violating the law, the cry with them is "Oh, the poor yankees! They ought to have a chance to live." And if Yankees violate the law and are not caught, the cry is, "The Yankees are robbing us, and the Government is doing nothing to prevent it." Grits are hard to please. It cannot be done. It is simply impossible. We venture to say that if the facts relating to the seizure in question were fully ventilated, they would not prove a source of merriment to the Patriot's informants.

Centennial Services.

Services in commemoration of the completion of the centenary of the Colonial Episcopate will be held in St. Peter's Church on Tuesday. Holy Communion 6.45, a. m.; Celebrant, the Lord Bishop of Niagara. Festival Evensong will be sung by Rev. G. J. Magill, Rector of Trinity Church, Rhode Island, at 7.30 p. m., at which the Lord Bishop of Niagara will preach. The service will close with a solemn "Te Deum." A number of visiting clergy will take part in the proceedings.

Centennial Service.

The Bishop of Niagara will, to-morrow, conduct services in celebration of the hundredth anniversary of the jurisdiction of the foundation of the Diocese of Nova Scotia. A correspondent of the Halifax Herald furnishes the following historic facts:—

"Thomas B. Akins has recorded that,—"The bishopric of Nova Scotia had been reserved on in 1784, and Dr. Chandler, of New York, fixed upon to fill the see. He declined the dignity and recommended his friend Dr. Charles Inglis, formerly rector of Trinity Church, in that city, who had for many years taken an active part in the discussions relating to American Episcopacy."

"It was not until 1787 that the diocese was formed, and in that year, on August 12th, Rev. Charles Inglis, D. D. (above referred to) was consecrated—in England—as first bishop. His jurisdiction extended over Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Upper and Lower Canada and Newfoundland. He arrived at Halifax after his consecration, October 16. [It is remarkable that the prelate who became the first R. C. bishop and first archbishop of Halifax, Right Rev. Dr. Welsh, also arrived at Halifax on October 16, 1842.] Dr. Inglis died on February 24, 1816, in his 82nd year, the 38th of his ministry, and the 29th of his consecration.

Rev. Robert Stanser, D. D., connected with St. Paul's, was appointed successor to Dr. Inglis, consecrated in England, and returned to Halifax in September of the same year—1816. His wife died before he became bishop, and his health appears to have failed after her death. He tendered the resignation of his see, but it was not accepted until 1824.

In succession to Dr. Stanser, Rev. John Inglis, son of the first bishop, was appointed in October, 1824, and was consecrated in England in the following year. He returned to Halifax, Nov. 19, 1825. His death occurred in 1850.

Rev. Hilbert Binney, then in England, was appointed fourth bishop, consecrated in England, March 23 1851, and arrived at Halifax in that year (on July 21). He died April 30, 1857.

For the first time in the history of the diocese, its synod had the privilege of electing a bishop—the clergy and appointed lay delegates voting. On July 6th ult., the synod elected Rev. J. C. Edgill as fifth bishop; but in a lengthy letter, dated 13th July, 1857, he declined the position. As before stated, Bishop Berry was elected bishop on Thursday, the 11th inst.

So far as to the Church of England episcopal succession in the diocese of Nova Scotia. Instead of the extensive jurisdiction over which the first bishop was appointed, the new bishop's see (so was Dr. Binney's) is limited to Nova Scotia and P. E. Island. The diocese of Nova Scotia was gradually diminished in extent as follows:

The diocese of Quebec—including the provinces of Upper and Lower Canada—was organized in 1793, and Rev. Jacob Mountain appointed as the first bishop. He died in 1825, and Hon. Dr. Stewart—fifth son of John, seventh earl of Galloway, appointed as his successor. Owing to the illness of Dr. Stewart, Archdeacon George J. Mountain was appointed first bishop of Montreal, in 1836 to assist him in his duties. Dr. Stewart died in 1837, and Dr. Mountain had to assume charge of the whole jurisdiction to which Bishop Stewart was first appointed.

The diocese of Toronto was created in 1839. Rev. John Strachan, D. D., being the first bishop.

In the same year Newfoundland was erected into a diocese, with Rev. Aubrey G. Spencer as first bishop. Bermuda was included in this diocese. Bishop Spencer being removed to Jamaica, left St. John's in Sept. 1843. The see was then vacant until Rev. Edward Field, D. D., was consecrated Bishop on April 28, 1844. He arrived at St. John's, July 4, of same year.

The diocese of Fredericton was formed in 1845. Rev. John Medley, D. D., Exeter, England, being consecrated first bishop, on May 4, and arrived in St. John in June of that year. His lordship has now a coadjutor, and is metropolitan of the Dominion.

The creation of other dioceses is of more recent date, with which you are probably conversant. In commemoration of the centenary of the diocese, the corner stone of the proposed cathedral, to be known as All Saints, and to the erection of which Bishop Binney had looked forward with much interest and hope—was laid this afternoon by the Metropolitan of Canada, Dr. Medley. The first church in Halifax, St. Paul's, was erected in 1750. The first sermon preached in it was by Rev. Mr. Tutty, on September 2, of same year.

Laying the Corner Stone of "All Saints" Cathedral.

The corner stone of All Saints Cathedral Halifax was laid at 4.30. At that hour a large number of the leading Episcopals of the city had assembled on Coburg road and Robie street and in the enclosed site of the centennial cathedral. A staging had been erected for the accommodation of the members of synod and others taking part. The procession formed in St. Stephen's church and proceeded to the adjoining scene of the ceremony by way of Coburg road, in the following order:

- United Choirs in Surplices. Churchwardens of the city and Dartmouth. Lay Representatives to the Synod. Lay Secretary. Cathedral Committee. Architect and Builder. Choir. Clergy of this Diocese. Clerical Secretary. Chancellor. Rural Deans. Canons. Bishops of Canada (with their Chaplains. Bishops visiting (with their Chaplains.) Metropolitan (with Chaplains.)

The gorgeous robes of many of the clergy was the subject of much comment. The Bishops of Niagara and the Coadjutor Bishops of Fredericton wore their Scarlet Convocation robes, barettes, white stoles and pastoral crosses. Nearly all the clergy wore white stoles. The Metropolitan was preceded by a staff bearer carrying the Pastoral Staff, and was followed by two bishop's boys in violet cassocks and cottas, and two chaplains wearing barettes and white stoles. There were in all about 170 in surplices. The clergy and laity took up positions around the corner stone, the choir being among the people on the south side of the staging.

Archdeacon Gilpin presented the metropolitan with a handsome silver trowel, and, after some little time had been spent by Mr. Sheriff in making the massive corner stone perfectly plumb, the ceremony of laying the corner stone was proceeded with according to the ritual published in Friday's Herald.

In the cavity of the stone was placed the records of the synod, the calendar of King's college, the Herald and other daily papers, current Canadian coins, a cross of the American branch of the Guild of St. Luke, the Evangelist and Physician, a medal of the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament, a medal of the Church of England Temperance Society, etc., etc.

The stone was declared duly laid "in the faith of Jesus Christ, and in the name of God the Father, God the Son and God the Holy Ghost."

At the conclusion of the beautiful ceremony, Coadjutor Bishop Kingdom, of New Brunswick, delivered an impromptu and brief address, appropriate to the occasion, and expressing the hope that the great work commenced this day would be speedily prosecuted to successful conclusion. Just as Bishop Kingdom commenced to speak, a heavy shower began to fall, and had the effect of scattering a large part of the audience. The bishop turned the incident to good account by remarking that, as the clouds would soon roll away and the glorious sunshine again be visible, so he hoped the clouds which hung over this recently widowed diocese, would roll away, and that the Sun of Righteousness would soon again shine upon the church and its great enterprise here, in all His power and splendor.

Archdeacon Gilpin read a cablegram from members of the Bliss family in England contributing £250 stg. to the building fund of the cathedral. He also invited contributions from those present, to be laid on the corner stone. Nearly all the people had scattered by this time, but gifts aggregating about $150 was the response. It is understood that the total contribution of the day including the £250 stg., above mentioned, aggregated about $1,600.

Bitter Experiences.

THE YANKEE FLEET GOING HOME WITH SMALL FARES, BUT THEY WHISTLE TO KEEP UP THEIR COURAGE.

(Special despatch to the Halifax Herald.)

PORT HAWKESBURY, C. B., August 12.—Arrived, American seiners Addie F. Cole, Rich, with 13 barrels of mackerel; Charles F. Atwood, Burrows, 105 barrels, do; Willie Parkman, Banks, 75 barrels; Phoebe and Emma Small, Stone, 40 barrels; Charles C. Warren, Hudder, 150 barrels; Lottie D. West, Bears, 140 barrels, all bound home from North Bay. They report they have not seen any mackerel in the bay for a fortnight, but acknowledge if they had the privilege of fishing inside the limit they could have all been going with a full trip. Solomon Jacobs' vessels are all in the bay, the Mollie Adams with 126 barrels, E. E. Webster, 245 barrels and Warren J. Crosby 240 barrels. The Mollie Adams has not been into a harbor since she went to the bay, being afraid of being captured. Captain Jacobs will likely take charge of her when she goes home, as his health is much improved. Captain Evlin Lewis, who is high line on the American shore, arrived yesterday on his way to the North Bay. This is conclusive evidence that there are no prospects on their own shore. It is expected that there will be good fishing in North Bay this fall. Some of the "killers" say that the mackerel are feeding on the bottom, but as soon as we have a storm they will come to the surface with the feed and then they expect good fishing in the bay. They see now that the Canadians hold four aces and will stand up for their rights. The steamship Worcester, Captain Nickerson, sailed about 10.30 a. m., after taking in here 500 mackerel for Boston.

Says the North Sydney Herald: Mackerel have struck in on our coast in large schools. Even in the harbor local boatmen are making good hauls. A fleet of eleven American fishermen put into Ingonish on Monday morning for shelter. They quietly stole away from the North Bay fleet, but were soon followed by a cutter and prevented from poaching.

A SHARK was captured in the bay, off the beach, St. John, N. B., last week. It is about eight feet long, and is of a very dark gray color. It has teeth half an inch in length.

I HAD a dreadful cough, and raised a considerable amount of blood and matter, besides I was very thin, and so weak I could scarcely go about the house. This was the case of a man with consumption arising from liver complaint. He recovered his health completely by the use of Dr. Pierce's golden medical discovery. Thousands of others bear similar testimony.

THE Presbyterian and the Methodist Sunday schools at Souris had quite an enjoyable time on Thursday last, at their annual picnic, held this year on the beautiful grounds of Mr. Thomas Perkins, Souris West. The day was charming, and the two superintendents, Messrs. J. G. Sterns and C. C. Carlton, jun., with the teachers, did everything in their power to give the children a good time, and they succeeded. At the close, just before separating for their homes, the children were addressed by the Rev. A. Falconer, a clergyman favorably known in this Province. The day will be long remembered by all who had the pleasure of being present.

DR. HENRY ROGERS, Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians and Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, England, formerly Surgeon of H. M. 70th Regiment, and Principal Medical Officer to the Division of General Sir Sydney Cotton, K. C. Dr. Rogers can be found at Miss Finlay's, Kent Street, Charlottetown, daily. Hours, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m., and 2 p. m. to 6 p. m. Boston Markets.

Boston, Aug. 11.

Eggs—With cooler weather the market has been a little more steady this week, but there is no great improvement in the demand as yet. Eastern extras are scarce and wanted at 18c; other eastern rarely good enough to exceed 16c. P. E. Island, N. S. and N. B. are hard to place at anything over 16c, and most sales are at that price.

POTATOES—The market has been generally well supplied, and prices show but slight variation from day to day. The demand has been fully equal to the supply for the past day or two, however, and the market closes to-day quite firm, at $2.37 for choice stock.

FISH—The weather has been cooler for the past week, and demand for all kinds of fish has improved. Codfish have been in a very good demand, and close firm at quotations. Receipts of smoked herring are still light and meet with a ready sale at quotations. There is some call for Nova Scotia large fat herring at $5.50 to $6.00 per barrel. Receipts of mackerel continue light, and there is a steady good demand at full prices. Canned mackerel are wanted. Lobsters in fair demand.
