THE ABDUCTION.

Peruvian women are extremely beautiful. Some of the handsomest women I have ever seen, were natives of Peru. One of these was Inez Xantecas, a very queen in appearance. She was scarcely sixteen when she married Juan Salano, a young merchant of Lima, a warm personal friend of my own, who had acquired an almost princely fortune while yet a young man. Like all handsome women, the Senorita Inez had many admirers. Among these was a first cousin of hers, Antonio Miguel, who had inherited wealth from his parents, but was fast squandering it in gaming and dissipation. He was exceedingly handsome, but a man of very bad character—which, however, is not thought much of here, where morals are more lax than in our own country.

I have already anticipated some by telling you that the lady preferred my friend Juan; but my story does not end with her marriage, which exasperated Miguel to such a degree that, but for the intervention of friends, he would have challenged his more successful rival. Having at last run through with his inheritance, he soon after left the city, and went, no one knew whither.

About six months after his marriage, Juan Salano purchased a silver mine in a remote district of Peru, away to the east, and having built a house such as would answer to live in, for the time being, went thither, accompanied by his wife, to superintend the working of the mine. He would rather have left Inez behind, for her own comfort's sake, but she would not listen to it; go with her husband she would, no matter at what sacrifice.

Juan took with him a number of miners, and one servant, an old negro woman. This last would be all the domestic assistance they needed, as little company need be expected in that out-of-the-way region. I presented him with a hound that I took with me from home, a noble dog, and well trained, one that I had since a pup. The dog soon became attached to his new master; so Juan wrote to me. The mine, he said, was doing well, and promised to be remunerative. This was some months after they had been settled there. His letter ended with an urgent appeal to me to pay them a visit, offering me such f... e as their humble dwelling might afford.

I promised to avail myself of this invitation; and in the month of June, having no business to detain me, started from Lima on my way towards the mountains. I was three days in reaching there, having performed the journey almost entirely on horseback. I found Juan and his wife enjoying excellent health, and delighted to see me. Carlo manifested much joy, so my reception was a welcome all round.

'You see,' said Juan to me, 'we are six-miles from the nearest town, so you may ... how little we see of anybody except ... During the day I am usually at ... hich is good seven miles from ... I have the society of the miners, ... he most cultivated in the ...

The moon had risen full and clear in the east when we bethought it was time to return. Besides, we had begun to feel an appetite for our suppers.

'Are you armed?' said Juan to me, as we began to mount.

'I have my revolver,' I replied, putting my hand behind me to see that it was safe.

'It is well to be prepared,' continued my friend, 'I seldom travel at night, and it is said there are some lawless people abroad, though I think there is little danger of our being molested between here and the house.'

'Perhaps I had better accompany you,' said the overseer, whose name was Besson, a Frenchman by birth.

'You might return with me in the morning,' returned Juan, who seemed pleased with the proposal.

In less than a quarter of an hour we were on the road. It was a lovely night; the moon shown with unsurpassed effulgence, ... 'There was not a cloud in the sky, which was thickly studded with stars; and the leaves on the trees shone like silver.

We had ridden a little over five miles when we heard through the stillness the panting of some animal coming towards us on the road.

'What can it be?' asked Besson.

'It sounds like a dog,' said Juan.

Just at this moment, as we reached the base of the mountain, and the road stretched out straight and level before us, we saw a black shadow moving rapidly along it. The distance lessened with each stride of the animal, and very soon it was plain to see that it was a dog.

'It must be Carlo,' said Juan; 'his mistress has probably sent him to hurry us on to our supper.'

In less time than it takes to tell it, the dog was close at our heels, panting, barking, and starting forward on a run; then returning, and barking still more, he would rush forward again as before, seeming almost frantic in his desire to convey to us something which the poor brute had no other way of communicating than by those dumb signs.

'We had better ride forward,' said Juan, somewhat agitated. 'We have a smooth road before us now. And there may be something wrong.'

We put spurs to our horses and started at a sharp gallop, closely followed by Carlo, breathing harder than ever, from the long run he had had. Fifteen minutes gave us a distant view of Juan's house. A shrill scream, that of a woman, greeted our ears as we caught sight of the roof shinning in the moonlight.

'Ah!' exclaimed my friend, 'it is Inez's voice; for the love of Heaven, press forward.'

Into our horses flanks went the spurs; away they bounded at a pace which distanced poor Carlo, who strove in vain to keep up with us. Juan had the fleetest horse—he was some lengths ahead; Besson and I kept neck and neck. So swift was our gait, we seemed to fly over the ground. As we neared the house, we saw two horses standing waiting in the road. At the instant I saw these, two men appeared upon the scene, dragging between them a woman, struggling in vain to free herself of their grasp, while another female clung beseechingly to one of them, holding on as if for dear life. The first of these was Inez; the last, the old negro servant, who, with Carlo, had been her only companion during our absence.

'Let go, you black devil!' exclaimed the man, with a terrible oath, dealing her at the same time a blow that felled her to the ground.

Then lifting her mistress into the saddle, where his companion was already seated, he vaulted into his own, and the two sped on their way like the wind.

The villians had the start of us, but our steeds, were as fleet if not fleeter than theirs. Soon this last proved to be the case, for we gained on them rapidly. As Juan approached, he drew a pistol from his holster and aimed it at the foremost, who had fast hold of Inez in his saddle; her long, streaming, black hair floated to one side, while her white arms were stretched imploringly towards us.

'Stand! you black-hearted scoundrel!' shouted Juan.

'Hold!' cried Besson; 'save your fire—you may wound her.'

He had drawn his revolver as well; he was a dead shot, as I afterwards learned. Crack went his pistol; the man reeled in his saddle; threw his arms wildly in the air, and dropped dead in the road. Juan sprang from his saddle and caught the form of the now insensible Inez in his arms.

The other rider kept on his way; we heard the clatter of his horse's hoof lessening in the distance as he made good his escape. I turned the form of his now prostrate companion over on his back. The face was hidden by a mask. I uncovered it; the moon shone full upon the face of Antonio Miguel.

I brought water in my hat, and we sprinkled the pale face of Inez. After a time she revived. We lifted her into the saddle, and bore her home, where we found the colored servant, recovering from the effects of the blow she had received, sitting in the place where she had fallen, wailing and lamenting the supposed fate of her mistress. Her joy was great in beholding her in our safe keeping. Carlo stood waiting for us at the gate; on seeing us approach, he came forward, still panting, to meet us. Brave, faithful Carlo! When the house was besieged by the two villians, his mistress let him out at a side door; and, appreciating her danger, he hastened to apprise us of it. Brave Carlo! by that act he won the life-long gratitude of both master and mistress.

The body of Antonio Miguel was delivered to the authorities of the nearest town. After a short inquiry, they were convinced of the justifiable nature of the homicide, and so ended the whole affair.

Certificate from a Physician 20 years ago.

Before the Medical College, Glasgow.

I do hereby certify, that by request of scores of my patients and others, I have analyzed what is known as old Dr. Judson's Worm Candy Sticks; on analysis, I find it to contain nothing that is the least injurious to the youngest infant. I find that the Medicine used, acts specifically on the Worms, and is a perfect regulator of the debilitated system—knowing this to be the fact, and the medicine so pleasantly disguised in a candy stick, I strongly recommend to this Board of Physicians to prescribe Dr. Judson's Dead Shot Worm Candy to all of their patients that are troubled with the common or Tape Worm.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION,

and acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be far the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public, sanctioned by the experience of over forty years; and when resorted to in season, seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of Coughs, Colds, Croup, Bronchitis, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness, Pains or Soreness in the Chest and Side, Bleeding at the Lungs, Liver Complaint, &c.

The unequalled success that has attended the application of this medicine in all cases of

PULMONARY COMPLAINTS

has induced many physicians of high standing to employ it in their practice, some of whom advise us of the fact over their own signatures. We have space only for the names of a few of these:—

Such testimony

CANNOT BE DISCREDITED.

From the mass of evidence in our possession we select the following:—

From L. J. RACINE, Esq.,

of La Minerve, Montreal. "Having experienced the most gratifying results from the use of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, I am induced to express the great confidence which I have in its efficacy. For nine months I was most cruelly afflicted with a severe and obstinate cough, accompanied with acute pain in the side, which did not leave me, summer or winter. The symptoms increased alarmingly, and so reduced was I that I could walk but a few steps without resting to recover from the pain and fatigue which so slight an exertion occasioned. At this juncture I commenced taking the Balsam, from which I found immediate relief, and after having used four bottles I was completely restored to health. I have used the Balsam in my family, and administered it to my children, with the happiest results. I am sure that such Canadians as use the Balsam can but speak in its favor. It is a preparation which has only to be tried to be acknowledged as the remedy par excellence."

A CURE FOR WHOOPING COUGH.

ST. HYACINTHE, C.E., Aug. 21, 1856.

Messrs. SETH W. FOWLE & SON.

Gentlemen:—Several months since a little daughter of mine, 1½ years of age, was taken with Whooping Cough in a very aggravated form, and nothing we could do for her seemed in any way to relieve her suffering. We at length decided to try a bottle of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. ... three hours after she had commenced using it, she was greatly relieved, and in less than three days was entirely cured, and is now well. I have since recommended the Balsam to many of my neighbors, who have used it, and in no case have I known it fail of effecting a speedy cure.

You are at liberty to make any use of the above you think proper. If it shall induce anybody to use your Balsam I shall be glad, for I have great confidence in it.

Yours, P. GUITTE,
Proprietor of the Courrier de St. Hyacinthe.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW,

An experienced Nurse and Female Physician, presents to the attention of mothers her

Soothing Syrup,
FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

which greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay all pain and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for over thirty years, and can say, in confidence and truth of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—never has it failed in a single instance, to effect a cure, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it; on the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "what we do know," after thirty years' experience, and pledge our reputation for the fulfilment of what we here declare. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most experienced and skilful nurses in New England, and has been used with never-failing success in

THOUSANDS OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve and overcomes convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it the best and surest remedy in the world, in all cases of Dysentery and Diarrhœa in Children, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be sure—yes, absolutely sure—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

GRIPING IN THE BOWELS, AND WIND COLIC,

☞ Sold by Druggists throughout the world.

DR. LA'MERT
ON SELF-PRESERVATION.

PRICE WITH ENGRAVINGS AND CASES, 1s. 6d, BY POST, 3s. CURRENCY.

SELF-PRESERVATION: A popular Essay on Nervous and Physical Debility, resulting from injurious habits contracted in youth, or excesses in maturity, which, by prematurely exhausting the functions of manhood, destroy the happiness of Married Life, or prevent the fulfilment of engagements that constitute the most cherished objects of existence, by DR. LA'MERT, 37 Bedford Square, London, Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians of Edinburgh; Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, England, &c.

The above work contains most useful and interesting information on the physiological changes which occur in the Reproductive System during the periods of youth, puberty, and manhood; and on the due attainment of that degree of functional vigour upon which the hopes of posterity depend. It also points out how all the attributes of manhood can be preserved to an advanced period of life, how they are lost, and how they can be recovered. It is free from the gross exaggerations, alarming descriptions and dangerous remedies so generally resorted to by persons, who, practising with false medical qualifications, inflict most serious injuries, and render judicious treatment frequently abortive.

The author is the only legally qualified practitioner whose name stands on the 'Medical Register,' (the sole test of medical qualification) who has been exclusively engaged for a series of years in the treatment of the various functional disorders of the nervous and reproductive system, which, owing to the great discoveries of modern science, are rendered subservient to a rational, simple and easy mode of treatment.

At home for consultation daily from ten till two, and from six till eight, either personally or by letter—37 Bedford Square, London, England.

Patients residing in the Colonies can be successfully treated by correspondence, and remedies can be forwarded in secresy and safety to any address.

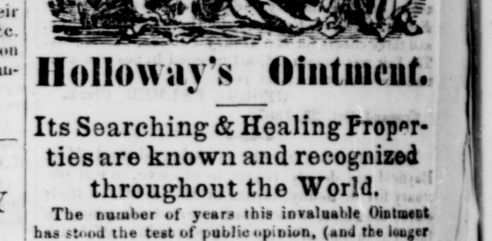
The Most Reliable Friend!



Holloway's Ointment.

Its Searching & Healing Properties are known and recognized throughout the World.

The number of years this invaluable Ointment has stood the test of public opinion, (and the longer known the better appreciated) is a testimony of itself more convincing than anything that could be written in praise of its truly wonderful healing properties. In the cure of bad legs, bad breasts, sores, wounds, and ulcers, its effect is marvellous. For ring-worm, scald-head, scrofula, and diseases of the skin generally, there is no remedy to be compared to it. When assiduously rubbed upon the skin (previously well bathed in warm water) this Ointment is quickly absorbed into the system, and cleanses, in its passage, every part to which it is applied.

Glandular Swellings, Mumps, Bronchitis, Quinsey, Sore Throats and Diptheria.

In any of the above diseases, immediate and permanent relief is obtained by effectually rubbing this detergent Ointment, twice a day, upon the neck, chest and back. Its acts upon the very mainsprings of life; for through the glands pass all new matter required for the body's reparation and all old particles detrimental to its preservation. The Ointment, used conjointly with Holloway's Pills, will act so searchingly and certainly as to effect cures in the most hopeless cases.

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Contracted and Stiff Joints.

Many thousands of martyrs from the above complaints have found life almost unsupportable; yet, if Holloway's Ointment be briskly and perseveringly rubbed upon the parts affected, ease may be safely guaranteed, especially if the pores of the skin be previously opened by fomentations with warm water. The gross humors require expulsion from the system; it is therefore necessary to have recourse to Holloway's admirable Pills, which, by purifying and strengthening the system, greatly assist the operation of the Ointment and facilitate and confirm the cure.

Bad Legs, Bad Breasts, and Ulcerations of all kinds.

There is no medicinal preparation in the world which may be so thoroughly relied upon, in the treatment of the above ailments, as Holloway's Ointment. Nothing can be so simple or safe as the manner in which it is applied, ... body, both locally and constitutionally. The Ointment, rubbed around the part affected, enters the pores just as salt enters meat. It quickly penetrates to the source of the evil and drives it from the system.

Erysipelas and Scrofulous Sores.

In all irritations of the skin, sores, ulcers, burns or scrofulous enlargements of any kind, Holloway's Ointment presents a ready and easy means of cure. It manifests a peculiar power in restraining inflammation, removing stagnation, cooling the heated blood, and checking all acrimonious and unhealthy discharge.

Diseases attendant on Childhood.

Diseases incident to early life fall more under the management of the mother than the medical man. Holloway's Ointment should therefore be regarded by her as a "Household Treasure," as it never fails in bringing out the rash in measles and scarlatina; and for the removal of all skin diseases its effect is miraculous. In cases of whooping cough and croup, this invaluable Ointment should be rubbed twice a day upon the throat and chest, and the youngest invalid will derive therefrom the most soothing relief. Two or three of Hollowsye's famous Pills, reduced to a powder, will augment the curative powers of the Unguent.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:

Bad Legs	Corns (soft)	Rheumatism
Bad Breasts	Cancers	Scald Heads
Burns	Contracted and	Sore Nipples
Bunions	Stiff Joints	Sore Throats
Bite of Moschetoes and Sand Flies	Elephantiasis	Skin Diseases
	Fistulas	Scurvy
Coco-bay	Gout	Sore Heads
Chiego-foot	Glandular Swellings	Tumours
Chilblains	Lumbago	Ulcers
Chapped Hands	Piles	Wounds
		Yaws
