South Shore Variety Concert At Tryon Baptist Hall

The schools along the south shore, under the auspices of the South Shore Musical Festival, presented a most enjoyable variety concert to a large and enthusiastic audience, in the Tryon Baptist Hall, on Friday, February 19th. While the audience was gathering, Arthur Calbeck of North Tryon School played incidental music on the piano.

The programme was opened with the singing of "O Canada" by the audience. The curtain was then opened to reveal a rhythm band costumed in red and blue caps and red pill-box caps, composed of the primary pupils of Tryon and North Tryon schools. The rhythm band was directed in their numbers by Master Gerald Dixon.

Following this number, the chairman of the evening, Mr. George MacKay, made a few remarks. He thanked those participating in the programme for giving their time and talent, and he thanked the audience for their patronage. He congratulated the women of the South Shore Festival organization on the service the Festival is rendering, and has rendered, to the communities for instruction in music and education to rural districts, and wished the project continuing success.

The programme proceeded as follows: Duets: "There Were Two Swiss" and "Daisy, Daisy" - Barbara Smith and Arthur Large, Albany Rural. Solo: "Brahm's Lullaby" - Sandra Rayner, Central Bedeque. Polk Dance - Central Bedeque Senior Girls. Solo: "Sing Me To Sleep" - Elizabeth Green, Central Bedeque. Scottish Reel: Eleanor and Margery Hart, and Sylvia and Betty Boucher, Victoria.

Dialogue: "Buying Eggs" - Albany Rural; Helena Sherry, Winston Cameron, and Pearl Stewart. Piano Solos: "The Tennessee Waltz" and "Narcissus" - Arthur Calbeck. Reading - Carol Bradshaw, Searletown.

Duets: "Santa Lucia" and "Brahm's Lullaby" - Teresa Gaudet and Joyce Pollard, Bedeque. Dialogue: "Hoke and Poke" - Edith Sherrin and Joyce Canfield, Crapaud.

Chorus: "The Mermals" - Borden Senior Girls, accompanied by Mrs. J. Easton. Pageant: "The Glowworm" - Victoria School, directed by Mrs. Keith Boswell. Reading: "Double Trouble" - Catherine Murphy, Bedeque. Solo: "An Irish Lullaby" - Joan Howatt, Crapaud.

Duet: "The Little Toy Soldier and the Pretty French Doll" - Bonnie Heather MacLean and Kevin Rannah, Borden. Dialogue: "The Uplift Society" - Albany Village Senior Girls. Final Chorus: "Venice" - All the competitors who sang this selection at the Festival.

All the numbers were well done and heartily appreciated by the audience. The Scottish Reel and the Folk Dance were applauded for energy; the young vocalists, who sang the solos, duets, and choruses had sweet musical voices and good diction; the instrumental numbers were very enjoyable; the readings and dialogues amusing; and the pageant really a trip to fairy land; but the greatest ovation of the evening followed the duet sung by the two very young, very young people from Borden, Bonnie MacLean and Kevin Rannah. Their number was certainly the hit of the programme. Mrs. J. Easton accompanied them at the piano.

The South Shore Festival committee was very pleased at the door receipts for the concert. These funds will help to make next year's Festival possible.

The concert closed with the singing of "The Queen." The concert for the family by the Institute. The next place of meeting is to be at the home of Mrs. Roland Ramsey.
