THE DAILY EXAMINER.

OCTOBER 4, 1889.

Thomas A. LePage.

It is with feelings of the deepest sorrow that we chronicle the death of one of our most gifted fellow-townsmen. Since the day that we were called upon to tell our readers that the Rev. G. W. Hodgson had finished his life's work among us, we have not had so sad a task to perform as now falls to our lot.

Yesterday morning in the prime of youth, Thomas A Lepage was cut off. The end came suddenly, although it was long known to be inevitable. It is but a few days since his familiar face and figure were seen in the street, and he intended, this week, to have joined his brother and sister in Toronto. We cannot but feel a melancholy satisfaction in the fact that he had not to bear the pain of parting with his friends, and that he ended his life among us.

There are few, if any, who were so warmly loved and so highly esteemed, both in the town, where he spent his life, and throughout the Province where, through the teachers, his influence has extended to almost every home. The influence of his conscientious work, of his earnest thought, has been felt by every one who has ever attended his classes. But even of those who knew him intimately, few realized of what unselfish heroism his nature was capable. Talented above most, he cheerfully, at the call of duty, laid aside ambition and did his work so well that he never dreamed it was not that which he would have chosen to devote himself. His death was as brave and quiet as his life.

The greater part of Mr. LePage's life was spent in the Prince of Wales College. He atended it as a boy, and left it for Dalhousie with the expectation of studying for the ministry. Circumstances obliged him to leave college before he had taken his degree. Subsequently, he went to Montreal for the purpose of learning to speak the French language; but he was called to teach in Prince of Wales College in the year 1879; and he taught there until March last, when failing health compelled him to give up work.

In the College and Normal School he held the position nominally of third Professor; really no one on the staff did more or better work. Every class in school came, at some time under his charge, and it is the universal testimony of the students that in no classes did they got so much profit as in those of Mr. LePage. A student, like themselves, he never went into the class-room till he made himself as familiar as possible with the subject in hand; and what, by careful research and patient thought, he had made his own, he had the gift, in a rare degree, of communicating to others. He possessed that most valuable of a teacher's powers—the ability to arouse and stimulate thought; and there are not a few young men and women who feel that, under his leadership, they first learned that most valuable of arts—the ability to think.

He was, besides, a writer of great ability. His lectures show a power of thought and expression, very rare in so young a man, while the poems that he has published give evidence that he possessed genius as well as talent, and that, had he lived, he might have obtained a high place in the world of literature.

But, after all, it is his moral character which excites our greatest admiration. As a young man, he wore the "white flower of a blameless life" among us. He has shown that it was possible to join with the keenest zest in all manly sports, and to enjoy life to the full, while preserving his manhood from the slightest stain.

If, for a moment, we turn to get such a glimpse at his home life, as we may, without intrusion, take, we see a son and brother cheerfully devoting his time and strength to the service of others; giving to those depending on him the most tender care and thoughtful assistance when every one would have considered that grief and failing health rendered it impossible for him to even help himself.

We may not pierce beyond the veil which now divides us; but we may hope that, in the life upon which he has entered before us, his conscientious discharge of every smallest duty has earned the Master's "Well done good and faithful servant," and that, freed from the body which could serve him here no louger, he has entered upon a higher service.

To his brothers and sister we tender our sincerest sympathy.

For Delicate, Sickly Children

Scott's Emulsion is unequalled. See what Dr. C. A. Black, of Amherst, N. S., says; "I have been acquainted with Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Hyphosphites, for years, and consider it one of the finest preparations now before the public. Its pleasant flavor makes it the great favorite for children, and I do highly recommend it for all wasting diseases of children and adults." Sold by druggists, 50 cts. and $1.00.

Shoemakers!—Received a lot of upper and sole leather, pegs, nails, awls, pincers, bristles, coloring, heel-shaves, cement, F. W. C. knives, tops, &c., selling lower than can be imported. Goff Bros.

We are still taking the lead in crockery with a good stock on hand, and more expected daily, so we can suit all in price and quality, at the Cheap Crockery Store.—W. P. Colwill.

A Tribute.

Not soon his native Island will forget
The teacher who so many others taught,
Not soon his native city will forget
The life that was with noble actions fraught.

No more will sound within the college walls
The voice of him so faithful, true and kind,
But teachers o'er our Island, east and west,
The memory of his life will keep in mind.

A life so full of true self-sacrifice,
So upright, manly, honest and sincere,
That all who knew him and his nobleness
Will to his memory drop a silent tear.

Teachers' Association.

The afternoon session, yesterday, was well occupied. Mr. McSwain read a paper on drawing, Mr. Duncan gave a lesson on the art, and Miss Lynch read a paper on the drawbacks of the school system.

A public meeting was held in the evening at which a number of musical selections were well rendered by the pupils of Upper Prince Street School, and addresses were delivered by the Rev. John Read, Dr. McLeod, Senator Howlan and Rev. Fred. E. J. Lloyd.

Rev. Mr. Reid enlarged upon the high importance of educating the moral nature of pupils, insisting that without it men would certainly suffer shipwreck in the voyage of life, however high their intellectual attainments.

Dr. McLeod referred to instruction in reading, writing, arithmetic and geography as of high educational value, as also algebra Euclid and music. Modern physiology has, he said, made great advance in the localization of brain function. It shows that the motory and sensory areas are well defined and distinct. For example: The motory centre of the right arm controls the movements of that arm and of no other part of the body: the more the arm is used and the more delicate and intricate the manipulations, the more its centre is developed. And so with every other centre,—as of speech, etc. He proceeded to show that memory pictures, impressed upon the different sensory centres, and connected with innumerable nerves, formed a complete mental image. Such a mental image is called a "concept," and concepts are the material of thought. Thought, again, is the play of consciousness among these concepts. So, also, with reason and action. The teacher, therefore, is a mental trainer—a brain trainer—and has to deal with the most subtle and complicated piece of mechanism known to exist. He condemned the system of percentage at examinations on theoretical grounds, as the brain capacities of children vary so largely; and said that the world contains more head cripples than all other cripples combined. He instanced the horse trainer, as being in sympathy with the horse, and, therefore, successful. So the teacher must have thorough sympathy with his pupil. A pupil should not be forced into receiving instruction. Secure his interest,—and you will not have to force him any more than you have to force him to take his food. Dr. McLeod concluded his excellent address by reminding the teachers of the following words of Epictetus:—

"You will do the greatest service to the State if you shall raise, not the roofs of the houses, but the souls of the citizens; for it is better that great souls should dwell in small houses rather than for mean slaves to lurk in great houses."

Senator Howlan enlarged on the great heritage of the rising generation in this Canada of Ours, and to the advantages and disadvantages possessed by the natives of Prince Edward Island. He quoted from Lord Bacon the opinion that there are three things necessary to the growth of any country in greatness, viz: Attention to agriculture, Manufactures and Means of Communication, and pointed out that the growth of manufactures in this Province is contingent upon the establishment of better communication with the mainland. He urged the teachers and the young people who were present to use their influence towards the advancement of the tunnel scheme.

Rev. Fred E. J. Lloyd referred briefly to the foregoing speeches, also to the true scope and meaning of the work in which teachers are engaged, viz: the drawing out and development of the powers of the human mind; and suggested the appointment of a teacher of music for the Normal School. He eloquently enforced this suggestion by reference to the power of music in refining and elevating human nature, and insisting upon the importance of developing, not one-sided men and women, but men and women of wide sympathies and refined sensibilities.

THIS FORENOON.

Miss Barr read a paper on "Our Girls." After some discussion,—

Donald Montgomery, Esq., Superintendent of Education, rose to move the following resolution:

Resolved, That we put on record our very deep sense of the loss sustained by this institution, and by the whole Province, in the death of Professor Thomas A. LePage, an honored and valued member of this Association,

Further Resolved, That the Secretary be requested to send a copy of this resolution to the brothers and sisters of the deceased, and to convey to them the deepest sympathies of this Association in their sorrow.

The resolution was passed by an unanimous standing vote. We regret that a summary report of the affecting sppeches delivered in respect to the subject of the resolution is crowded out of to-day's issue.

THE CIRCUIT RACES.

Second Day's Proceedings.

SOME LIVELY RACING.

A Large Attendance.

As intimated in our last issue the attendance at the races on the driving park yesterday was much larger than on the preceding day, and the track was in good condition notwithstanding the heavy rain of the previous afternoon. The weather was fine and clear throughout, and the different events were thoroughly enjoyed.

Below will be found a record of the races which came off after THE EXAMINER went to press yesterday:—

THREE-YEAR-OLD CLASS.

Third Heat—Lady Chief took the lead at the start and kept it to the finish, coming in the winner by three or four lengths. Chartreuse broke very badly several times during the heat. Lady Chief's trotting was much admired. She never lifted her nose once during the heat. Time, 2.45¼. The half was trotted in 1.22½.

Time, 2.47; 2.47; 2.45.¼

2.45 CLASS.

Second Heat—Kittie C. took the lead just after the start, with Whistler and Mistake close after her, and Maud M. at their wheels. Between the quarter and the half Whistler lessened Kittie's lead and Mistake hauled up to the latter, Maud M. falling far in the rear. At the three quarters Whistler was at the back of Kittie's sulky trotting well, with Mistake a good third and Maud M. fourth. They finished in this order. Time, 2.37; for the half, 1.18.

Third Heat—Kittie C. took the lead shortly after the start, with Whistler a good second and Mistake third. At the quarter Whistler was pushing Kittie C. a little and Mistake was still further in the rear. This processional order was maintained until the finish, Kittie C. winning by several lengths, with Whistler second and Mistake third. Time, 2.38½. The half was made in 1.58.

Time, 2.35; 2.37; 2.38½.

THE 2.28 CLASS

was next called. The starters were Maud C. and Bronze Chief, of St. John, and Melbourne King, of Truro.

First Heat.—Maud C. took the lead shortly after the start, with Melbourne King second and Bronze Chief third, the latter two well together. At the half Maud led by several lengths, with Melbourne King second and Bronze Chief, who broke slightly, in the rear. By the time the three quarter was reached Melbourne, by hard work, had reduced Maud's lead a good deal, and the race home was a pretty one. Bronze Chief pressed Melbourne hard for second place, and at the finish was just a nose ahead. Maud C. took first place, Bronze Chief second, and Melbourne King third. Time, 2.36½; for the half 1.18½.

Second Heat.—They got a good send off after a few scores. Maud C. took the lead at the first turn with Bronze Chief pressing her hard and Melbourne King a short distance behind. Between the quarter and half Bronze Chief lessened Maud C.'s lead considerably and Melbourne King, who broke badly, fell further in the rear. This order was maintained to the three quarters when both the leaders put on a magnificent burst of speed, and the race from that home was an exceedingly pretty one between them. Maud C. won only by four or five feet over Bronze Chief, with Melbourne King in the rear. The time was 2.32½. The half was trotted in 1.16.

Third Heat.—Shortly after the word "go" was given, Maud C. took the lead with Bronze Chief at her wheel, and Melbourne King, who did not get a very good send-off, in the rear. There was no material change in their position until the finish. Maud C. came in about a length ahead of Bronze Chief, with Melbourne King some little way in the rear. Time, 2.34½; for the half, 1.55

RUNNING RACE.

The starters were Tippoo and Ida Grey, owned by Mr. McMonagle, of Sussex, and Hopeful, owned by J. P. Delahunt, of Moncton. The first named was ridden by Frank Kyle, the second by John A. Nicholson (Charlottetown), and the third by Charles Delahunt. Ida Grey was very stiff in one of her hind legs, and was only started in the first heat.

First Heat—Tippoo took the lead at the start, with Hopeful a good second, and Ida Grey in the rear. This order was maintained till after the half was passed, when Tippoo turned the corner too wide, and Hopeful shot inside, taking the lead. The race home between these two was a pretty one. Hopeful won by about a neck. Tippoo was second, with Ida Gray several lengths in the rear. Time, 1.52.

Second Heat—Hopeful took the lead at the start, and kept it all through the heat, winning by about three lengths. Time, 1.55.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The order throughout the day was excellent.

There were more ladies present than on the first day.

The judges and other officers did their work well. There was no favoritism shown. Consequently, there were none of the disputes and arguments sometimes seen and heard on other tracks.

The trotting of Kittie C. and Maud C. was the subject of much favorable comment. Whistler's work was also highly spoken of, and Lady Chief did some splendid trotting in her class.

Jackson's exhibition mile with running mate, to beat 2.30, was not the success anticipated. He trotted well until after the half was passed, when he broke. He finished the heat in 2.37. The half was made in 1.17.

After the races, the stallion Westlawn, of the Woodside stables, Summerside, paced a half mile in 1.14 2-5, without a skip or a break. Mr. Winans, of Truro, sat behind him.

The Citizens' Band, as on the first day, furnished good music.

A fine day and well-contested races. All present were satisfied.

The running race would have been better appreciated had Ida Gray not been started. One of her feet was very stiff and sore; indeed, she ran all through on three legs. Many of the spectators were very much annoyed and disgusted with the display, and a prosecution for cruelty to animals is talked of.

TROTTING AT SUMMERVILLE.

A correspondent at Summerville reports that the races held on Union Park at that place recently were very successful.

The race between Minnie Morgan, (by Harry Morgan), owned by Dr. Barnes, and driven by L. Hayden, and Harry B., owned by H. Boswall, was won by the former. The race was mile heats, best two in three. Harry B. took the first heat and Minnie Morgan the other two.

The race between Lady Maiden (Dean Swift) owned and driven by Peter McKenna, and War Cry, owned by Peter Grant and driven by L. Hayden, was won by the first-named in three straight heats. Lady Maiden behaved grandly, never once going off her feet. She made a continuous extra round of the course in 2.14, the best time ever made on the track.

Medical Men in Council.

A meeting of the medical men of the province was held in the Law Library, Charlottetown, on Wednesday evening last. Dr. R. McNeill, of Stanley Bridge, was appointed chairman, and the undersigned secretary pro tem. There were present Dr. James McLeod, Dr. A. McNeill (Kensington), Dr. McIntosh (Murray Harbor), Dr. McKay (Summerside), Dr. Johnson (Ch'town), Dr. Johnson (Eldon), Dr. Conroy, Dr. McLaren (Brudenell), Dr. Dodd, Dr. Beer, Dr. Warburton, Dr. Taylor, Dr. Barnes (Georgetown), Dr. McLaughlin (O'Leary), Dr. Toombs (Mount Stewart), Dr. McNeill (Stanley), Dr. Brehaut, Dr. Dawson, Dr. Matheson (Harrington), Dr. S.
